Back Door KO's Curb In Garbage Slugfest

Arlington Heights residents overwhelmingly support the present mode of back door garbage pickup, according to a poll just concluded by a University of Illinois marketing professor.

In a report handed to Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson Wednesday, Prof. Carl M. Larson said 85 per cent of residents sampled favored the present collection system. Larson said of the 400 residents surveyed, 340 said they liked the present method, 47 said they didn't and 13 refused to answer the question. Lumping the 47 "no" votes and the 13 refusals to answer, he counted the sentiment against back door collection at 15 per cent.

NAMES FOR the survey were taken from the village's water billing list, using random sampling tables. The survey was designed and administered by Larson, using village clerical personnel.

Applied against the total of 10,213 homes in the village, Larson said the poll had a reliability of 95 per cent.

That means, "If all the households (10,213) were contacted for their opinion, the percentage of those favoring the present system would be between 81.53 and 88.47 per cent."

The professor was careful to point out the response was based on current garbage collection rates and the effect increased rates might have on residents' attitudes is unknown. The Laseke Disposal Co., which has Arlington Heights' disposal contract for most areas of the village, has reported it is losing money under the present contract and will request a rate increase.

MOST OF THE survey was done by phone; about 30 residents had to be contacted in person. The person conducting the survey talked with the head of household, and apartment dwellers and commercial establishments were eliminated from the sample because the method of collection did not apply to them.

The 13 residents who refused to commit themselves on the type of service also refused to answer two "control" questions in the survey. All 387 who would talk, however, said they were familiar with their present service.

Four reported, in apparent error, that they had curbside pickup service; 319 said they had back door service, and 64 gave another pickup point, like their garage.

The survey may have been the first time a municipality financed a random sampling of residents' opinion on a subject of current interest.

Deny Refund Of Donation For Parking

Arlington Heights' Village Board Monday refused to return $4,800 donated in 1960 to a special parking fund by a downtown property owner, despite an impassioned plea by the landowner's attorney.

Involved is money placed in the fund by Howard Faber in lieu of providing four required off-street parking spaces. Faber went to the zoning board of appeals last December and obtained a variation, relieving him of the need to build the parking spaces for which the money had been donated.

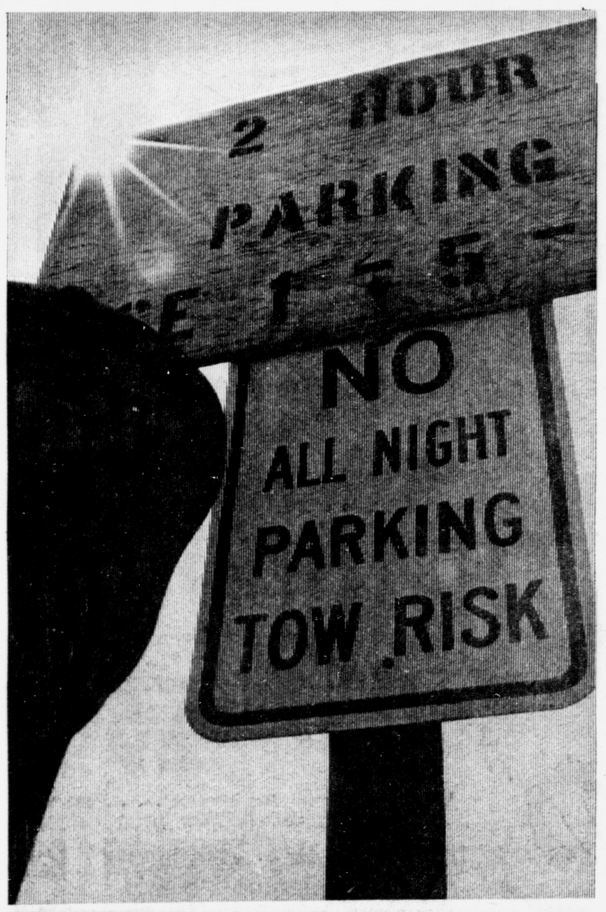
THE ATTORNEY, Robert Marx, argued that since the variation was granted the village had a moral and legal obligation to return the cash. But Village Atty. Jack M. Siegel disagreed; he said Faber waived any right to the money when he placed it in the fund and there was no legal obligation to return it. He declined to give an opinion on the moral responsibility of the village.

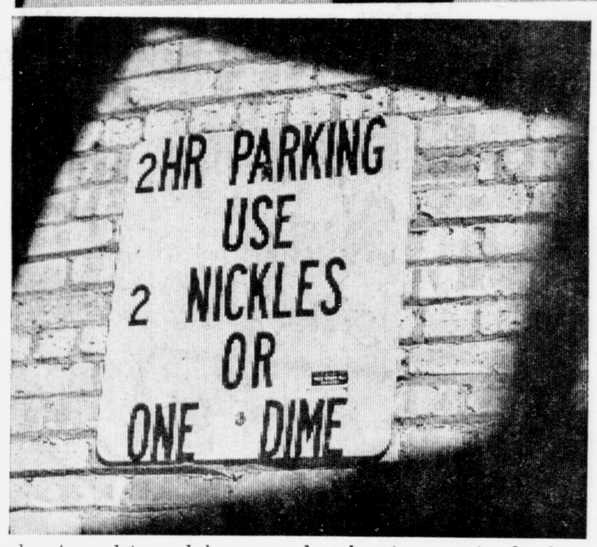
Faber's attorney failed to substantiate a charge made a month ago that held up board action on the request: that since Faber donated the money a series of parking variations were granted to other downtown property owners. Marx detailed four cases in a memo to the board; only one, however, was in the downtown area affected by the contribution ordinance.

After lengthy debate, the board voted 6 to 1 to keep the money. Only Trustee Carl F. Mees opposed the action.

2 Appointments

Permanent appointment of Arlington Heights fireman Ronald Hirth, with the approval of the fire and police commission, was made by the village board Monday. The board also approved appointment of Rodney L. Kath as a probationary police officer.





HEINZ 57? Wide variety of signs clutters village parking lot south of Campbell Street, between Dunton and Vail Avenues. To Design Village Car Lots

A prominent landscape architect has been named to beautify Arlington Heights' existing downtown parking lots and to develop esthetic plans for new lots as they are developed.

He is Harold O. Klopp of 379 Briarwood Lane, Palatine, whose store is in Arlington Heights.

Klopp has been responsible for the over-all design of the Chicago Horticultural Society's flower shows at McCormick Place, has taught evening landscape courses for District 214 and has designed landscaping at a number of new industrial plants.

THE VILLAGE has set aside $6,000 for beautification of its downtown facilities this year.

In addition, it will develop two new shopper parking lots on the north side of Davis Street. Landscape design for those lots will be Klopp's first major assignment. Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson indicated.

At the same time, Klopp will develop plans for landscaping the Arlington Heights National Bank lot. Under an agreement providing for its expansion, the bank will pay $2,500 to beautify the lot.

Hanson said the bank has agreed to immediate payment of the sum so its landscaping will coordinate with the two new village lots.

THE MANAGER assured tree lovers on the village board that plans for the new lots will not destroy old trees south of the railroad, between Arlington Heights Road and Evergreen Avenue. The trees will be preserved, Hanson said, even though it may reduce parkers' convenience to some degree.

Klopp apparently will be hired for future parking developments in the downtown area as well. The village has set aside $92,600 for lease - purchase of land in the next year, most of it downtown.

Malaria Fells Viet Soldier

Lt. Kenneth M. Molkup of 1025 S. Vail Ave., Arlington Heights, was flown from Viet Nam to Great Lakes Naval Hospital last week after contracting malaria.

The 24-year-old Molkup was stricken with the disease while serving on combat duty with the Army's airmobile 1st Cavalry Division based at An Khe. He was with the first units of the division to arrive in Viet Nam last August. Molkup is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Kenneth Molkup.

He had to be packed in ice and alcohol-soaked cloths to combat his high fever on the trip back to the United States, according to Mrs. Molkup. She said he had suffered a similar attack of malaria from which he spent most of last December recovering in Japan. After that bout, he returned to Viet Nam to take over command of his platoon.

LT. MOLKUP

MRS. MOLKUP expressed hope her son would be released from the hospital in three weeks when he is expected to be reassigned to duty in this country.

Molkup took part in several major field operations in Viet Nam and is eligible for combat decoration.

Mrs. Molkup said she and her husband were relieved, but surprised, to hear of their son's return. They didn't know he was coming home because Army doctors rushed him to Great Lakes on only 24 hours notice. All of Molkup's personal belongings had to be left in Viet Nam because of the haste of his return flight, according to Mrs. Molkup.

"EVERYTHING IS in Viet Nam — his money, his wallet, his clothes — just everything," she explained.

Molkup graduated from Notre Dame High School in 1960 and then attended the University of Illinois where he entered the Army ROTC program. He received his degree and Army commission in February, 1965.

Junior High Pupils Put Light In The Life of Greek Girl, 5

by DAVE CRIPPEN
Staff Writer

A 5-year-old Greek girl's grim life on the island of Chicos is a little brighter because the Thomas Junior High School Student Council wanted a better world.

The 40 pupils on the council learned last week they are the "proud parents" of Calliope Bellou, who lives with her impoverished family in a tiny village on the Mediterranean island off the Turkish coast.

The pupils decided last fall they didn't want to wait until they were adults to make some contribution to the world. So they voted unanimously to help a child less fortunate than themselves.

BUT THERE are so many needy children in the world, who could they help? Council members debated this question for some time and finally decided the child should be Greek because Greece was the cornerstone of democracy.

The council then applied to Foster Parents Plan, Inc., and set out to raise the $180 needed each year to support the child. Three months and several bake sales later, the funds were raised. Last week, after what seemed to the pupils like an age, word came from Foster Parents that they had adopted Calliope.

Calliope's father is confined to his bed with a heart condition complicated by a liver ailment. Her mother, untrained in any skill, couldn't work even if she wanted because Calliope and her 3-year-old brother, Anastasios, are too young to be left alone.

A KINDLY neighbor allows the family to live rent-free in a one-room home, furnished only with a bed, two cots and a battered dresser. Other villagers, themselves struggling in the grip of poverty, spare the family a meager food supply.

With the $180 a year, Calliope will receive a monthly $8 allowance, food, clothing and special medical care.

The pupils are proud of Calliope.

"THE KIDS all are demanding pocket-size pictures of her," explained Alan Swanson, assistant principal of Thomas. "I was very pleased about it all. I think this is the kind of thing kids need to further the idea of giving."

Eighth-grader Craig Sjogren, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Sjogren of 1405 N. Harvard, first suggested adopting the child to the student council. The elder Sjogren is a member of the Elementary District 25 school board.

Asked what prompted him to make the proposal, Craig explained, "I thought it was something the school and the student council could do to be remembered." They no doubt will be.

Ask Signals at Kennicott and Palatine Road

A resolution asking the state to install traffic lights at the intersection of Kennicott Avenue and Palatine Road "at the earliest possible date" was approved Monday by the Arlington Heights Village Board.

The Kennicott intersection is the only entrance to Greenbrier subdivision. It has neither signals nor lighting. Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson said the state informed him it would take traffic counts at the intersection in June.

What's Your Problem? See Village Manager

by DAN BAUMANN
News Editor

(This is the first in a series of stories about the role of boards and commissions in governing Arlington Heights.)

You've just bought a beautiful new home in Arlington Heights and want to enjoy the privacy of a brick-walled garden in your back yard.

Or you've just eaten in a restaurant and felt ill afterward.

Or you're troubled by vandalism in your neighborhood and want to share your idea for giving kids more constructive activity.

OR YOU'VE READ that an oil company wants to build a service station down the block.

Where do you go?

Chances are, your first thought will be to take your problem to village hall—meaning the village's paid administrative staff. Most likely, that is where you'll get the information you seek or where your problem will be settled.

But, chances are, if your suggestion is going to cost the village money or is against existing village ordinance, or if you do not get satisfaction from the appropriate village department, you may find yourself involved with one of the 12 boards and commissions which, with the administration, govern Arlington Heights.

IF YOUR SOJOURN to village hall has taken you to the village manager's office, you'll discover that office, itself, has some of the characteristics of boards and commissions in many surrounding villages.

The village manager in Arlington has unusual authority, granted him by voters in a referendum creating the position. He shares with the village board ultimate responsibility for law enforcement.

He has authority to appoint and remove all department heads, with the approval of elected officials. His hiring and firing authority extends to most classes of village employes. The exceptions are firemen and policemen, who are appointed by special commissions, and the deputy village clerk, who is appointed by the elected clerk with the advice and consent of the village board.

THE MANAGER IS responsible for the operation of all village departments, and he is obligated to prepare an annual administration budget for action by the board of trustees. By ordinance, he is directed to attend village board meetings and participate in the discussion, though he may not vote.

He may spend up to $500 on any item without prior approval of elected officials and takes other specific assignments from the board of trustees. He has sole power to appoint members of one of Arlingon's most important boards—the board of local improvements.

The manager is the only official appointed directly by the village board and president. His term is indefinite. He may be removed at any time.

Currently in the job of manager is Leonard A. (Rudy) Hanson. He came to Arlington in November 1958 from Cadillac, Mich., where he was city manager.

WHILE HANSON'S chief responsibility is administration of the village, the chief policy-making body is the board of trustees. Composed of six trustees and the village president, its members are elected for four-year terms with an election for part of the board coming every two years.

Chances are, it was the board of trustees that originally set village policy on brick-walled courts, on restaurant inspection, on youth programs and on zoning for service stations. It is, in most cases, the ultimate determiner of general policy in the village.

(Next—How the village board operates, who its members are, how other boards and commissions assist it.)

Sees Need for 2 New Fire Stations

New fire stations on the far north and south sides of Arlington Heights, a new well or "an alternate water source" and new courtroom facilities are on the village's agenda in the next few years.

Trustee Carl F. Mees, chairman of the village board finance committee, advised the board Monday financing for those facilities will have to be incorporated into future budgets. He said his committee discussed the projects in reviewing the current year's $3.5 million budget, approved without dissent Monday.

ADDING his own look into the future, Trustee Thomas Hanlon said the board will have to add more men to the police force to bring it up to nationally recommended standards. And he suggested traffic congestion around the railroad station will require stationing of officers at intersections there several hours a day.

The new budget projects a total tax rate next year of 55.99 cents per $100 of assessed valuation, compared with 55.60 this year. The projection does not include the cost of library construction bonds which will be sold this year.

No citizens appeared to speak for or against the budget. (A

Discuss Annexation Of Southeast Area

An "information only" session on annexation was held Tuesday night among members of the Pinehurst Property Owners Association and Arlington Heights officials.

Property owners Pres. Roy E. Lundin said he did not expect an early decision would result from the session on whether the association should support or oppose annexation to Arlington Heights.

Area covered by the Pinehurst association is from Mount Prospect on the east to Arlington Heights Road on the west, from Central Road on the north to Lincoln Street on the south. One ingredient often present in a subdivision's decision to annex — sanitary sewers — is lacking. The bulk of the area has sewerage. However, some flooding has been reported in Pinehurst. Residents are served by private wells.

LUNDIN SAID the meeting, held in the Dunton School, originated in a suggestion by members of the plan commission when Pinehurst residents appeared to protest a rezoning request in their area.

Acting on the plan group's suggestion, Lundin wrote Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson, who arranged the session. (A

The dinner was held in the winner's circle room, with dancing in the twilight room. At the party, it was announced that Alberg Berg had been elected president of the association.

OTHER NEW officers announced Saturday were: Walter Donahue, vice president; Mrs. Judy Cormack, recording secretary; Mrs. Mildred Gore, corresponding secretary; and Wendell Giles, treasurer.

Mrs. Phyllis Bishop was elected to a three-year term as a trustee of the association. And a five-member village activities committee was named, including Mrs. Allice Allen, Daniel Roig, Fred Prchal, Harry Curtis and Jack Specht. (A

The Arlington Heights Board of Local Improvements (BOLI) Thursday continued hearings on the Kaspar Avenue paving project until 9:15 p.m. May 12.

BOLI plans to have most of the street between Northwest Highway and Oakton Street put in by a private contract agreement to include those property owners along the street who have made deposits to cover paving costs. But hearings on the project are being kept alive until bids for the private contract have been received and opened.

In the meantime, Charles McBride, BOLI consulting engineer, has been asked to prepare plans for a new and separate Kaspar Avenue project to be done by special assessment and to encompass those parts of the street between Northwest Highway and Oakton Street not included in the private contract arrangement.

16-Lot Fio Rita Subdivision Okayed

The preliminary plat of the 16-lot Fio Rita subdivision located south of Thomas Street between Belmont and Douglas Avenues was approved by the Arlington Heights Plan Commission last Wednesday.

The plat as recommended by the plan commission will go before the village board May 16.

To its recommendation the plan commission attached the contingency that the developer make a contribution to the village in lieu of providing 10 per cent of his raw land for public use.

BUT THE commission suggested that instead of making a cash contribution and paving half of Belmont Avenue, the developer pave the whole street along his property.

Normally, the developer would pave half of the street where it abuts his property.

The commission also accepted a 33-foot width for the south half of Thomas Street where it abuts the Fio Rita subdivision. It had been suggested that a 40-feet half width for Thomas Street be provided along that section. (A Like Faceless Statue . . .

Elevator Silo Is Silent Symbol of a Proud Past

by DAVE CRIPPEN
Staff Writer

It stands ingloriously on a skinny strip of land squeezed between the Northwest Highway and the Chicago and North Western Railway tracks. Like a faceless statue it silently proclaims a prouder past — a past lost with the coming of suburbia.

The existing elevator, owned by Arlington Elevator and Material Co., at 215 W. Northwest Highway, dates back to 1928 when its owners boasted it was the fastest-loading coal-silo in Illinois. It shared the land with seven other coal and gravel silos constructed between 1920 and 1924.

BUT THE structure's historical roots go deeper into the village's past when in 1873 two early settlers, David Peter and A. P. Tewksbury, built a feed store on a parcel of land on the southeast corner of Vail Avenue and the railroad tracks. It was the second such enterprise for Peter, who had formerly owned an elevator near the present site of Hill-Behan Lumber Co.

It was the beginning of a series of ownerships and of an expanding business which, at times, would be the target of public controversy.

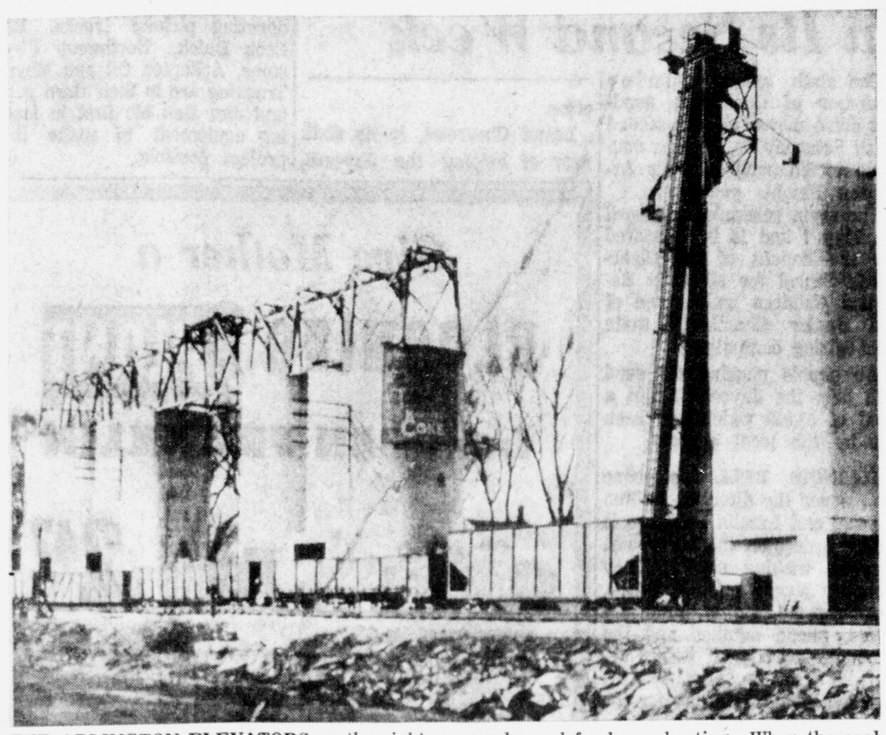
Peter and Tewsbury ran the business until 1879, when they sold it to Fred Pfeifer, an early resident. In 1888, the store changed hands again. Two men, A. P. Miller and Fred Steunkel, formed a short-lived partnership and ran the business until 1890, when Miller apparently withdrew.

STEUNKEL maintained the store for four more years and then sold it to Sherman E. Pate. Pate foresaw an increased market and wisely added coal and fuel oils to his list of commodities. For 22 years Pate, constantly fighting a dust allergy inflamed by ever-present coal and flour particles, cultivated his prosperous business. But in 1916 allergy got the best of Pate, and he was forced to sell.

The buyer was Gottlieb Schneberger, who with his son George began a family enterprise that would continue until 1963. It was under this management that the business climbed to the height of prosperity. But with prosperity came occasional controversy.

In 1920, the owners leased a 960-by 62-foot plot (the present site) north of the tracks from the railroad and erected three silos to store sand and gravel, which had replaced flour and feed as the business' top commodities. Coal also was stored in the elevators. Prosperity enabled the Schnebergers to build six more silos; two in 1922, two in 1924 and two in 1928.

THROUGHOUT this expansion period, the company office remained on the old site south of the tracks. But it seems that even in 1928 residents had an eye on downtown improvement. The village asked that the old feed store and coal bins west of Vail be removed to make way for a park. The owners complied and moved their offices over next to the silos.



THE ARLINGTON ELEVATORS on the right stand alone now on a skinny strip of land at 215 W. Northwest Highway, Arlington Heights. They once shared with seven silos used to supply coal for home heating. When the coal market dwindled, the silos were demolished. The remaining elevators store sand and gravel for building material.

At that time, there was no Northwest Highway. The property access was a short stretch of road running from Vail to Euclid and known as Hobart Street. But when the highway was built, the state narrowed Schneberger's property by 28 feet, making the property width a mere 34 feet.

When his father died in 1941, George Schneberger continued the business. By 1953 coal seldom was used to heat homes and Schneberger decided to abandon the dwindling market. Shortly thereafter, seven older silos were demolished and part of the property was leased to Consumers Co. for construction of a ready-mix plant.

THE MOVE sparked a legal tussle between the village and Consumers Co. that ended in 1963 when ready-mix equipment was dismantled and moved outside Arlington Heights.

Other problems plagued business. The size of the plot did not comply with village zoning ordinances. Schneberger, Arlington Roller Mills (which had a grain elevator on the eastern portion of the site) and the railroad sought a variation in 1961. After two lengthy hearings, the zoning board of appeals granted the variation.

In 1963 Walter and David Heinemann, former employes of Schneberger, purchased the business. Fuel oil and building materials only are sold now. The business survives, but the unusual character of the property makes access difficult for the company's five trucks, according to Walter Heinemann.

Arrest Two Men Wanted In Rosemont, Des Plaines

Arlington Heights police Thursday apprehended two men wanted by Des Plaines and Rosemont authorities.

The two were identified as Ronald A. Lones, 27, of Des Plaines, and Richard E. Qualman, 20, who gave no address.

THEY WERE driving on Northwest Highway when their auto was recognized by officer Ron Siebold as one described in an earlier police bulletin. He followed it to the Arlingon Motel and then radioed for assistance in making the arrest.

The two were brought to the Arlington Heights station and held for Des Plaines police.

POLICE SAID Lones was wanted by Des Plaines police on warrents charging deceptive practices, by Rosemont police on auto theft charges and by the Federal Bureau of Investigation for questioning.

According to police, Qualman is being investigated for possible involvement in deceptive practices and for nonappearance on charges of violating liquor laws.

Shadel Named To School Bus Study Group

Leslie G. Shadel, assistant business manager of the Arlington Heights Elementary District 25, was appointed this week to the transportation management research committee of the Association of Schools Business Officials for a term of three years.

Major goals of the committee in the coming year include a nation-wide study of school bus accidents, a study of diesel versus gas powered buses and a study of student discipline on buses.

Shadel joined the staff of school District 25 three years ago and has administered the schools' transportation program as a part of his job as assistant business manager.

Two Teens Injured In Car-Cycle Crash

Two Arlington Heights teenagers suffered cuts and bruises in a motorcycle-auto accident at Davis St. and Arlington Heights Road Thursday.

They were identified as Joseph D. Moos, 18, of 39 S. Mitchell and his 15-year-old brother James, a passenger on the motorcycle.

ACCORDING TO police, the motorcycle driven by the elder Moos was northbound on Vail Ave. when it collided with an auto driven by Mrs. Sarina Rudy, 122 N. Harvard, Arlington Heights. Police said the Rudy auto pulled out of the Jewel Food parking lot north of Wing Street into the path of the motorcycle.

Mrs. Rudy was ticketed for failure to yield from a private drive. (A

THOMAS MYERS, 23, of Barrington was acquitted of both burglary and speeding charges.

David R. Wood, 25, of Roselle was acquitted of the burglary charge but found guilty of resisting arrest and sentenced to

Planners Approve Rezoning

The Arlington Heights Plan Commission at a public hearing last Wednesday voted to recommend rezoning from residential to B-3 general service business classification for a 4½-acre parcel along South Arlington Heights Road.

Their recommendation for rezoning will be heard by the village board May 16.

The 4½ acres are on the west side of Arlington Heights Road, 400 feet south of Algonquin Road and north of the Elk Grove Tonship Hall.

THE REZONING IS requested by owner Joseph Schavilje, Chicago, who said that half the property would be used for a retail appliance outlet of Ace Washer and Dryer Co., Inc., and that the other half would be developed in a similar manner.

Before voting, plan commission members studied the problem of providing access to a triangular piece of property immediately west of Schavilje's parcel.

They feared that the triangular parcel, which is bounded on the southwest by the Northwest Tollway, would become land-locked unless provisions for an access road were made before Schavilje's property is developed.

But it was pointed out by commission member O. V. Anderson that the owner of the triangular piece now has access to it from Algonquin Road across another strip of land which he also owns. (A

Youths Are Not Fitted for Work

The Herald, May 4, 1901

The trouble with many young men is that they are not fitted for anything. They want to spend the first 30 years of their life being funny and having a good time, then drop into a good position with a fat salary. Because old businessmen will not put them at once in these good positions, they settle down to dry goods box growling, criticizing the government and condemning the rich. Scrounges Thrive On Spring Cleanup

by DAN BAUMANN
News Editor

Scrounge watching was great this year.

An unbelievable array of people drove up and down our street last Sunday through Tuesday, poking, prying and scrounging their way through immense piles of junk. It was our quarter-of-town's annual stint for spring cleanup.

BAUMANN

Peeking out our window (so as not to disturb the animal in his natural habitat), we watched dilapidated trucks, sparkling new pickups, microbuses and even shiny roadsters cruise our street slowly, stopping when the scrounger saw something that looked "appealing." (It all looked like junk to me.)

The occupants were almost as motley as the piles at curbside. One truck contained migrant workers or ex-migrants (I'm not sure of their exact status nor of the currently fashionable sociological term for Americans of Latin descent).

But there were many others, young and old, dressed for work and dressed to kill. One platinum-crowned dame stepped out of a Caddy to eye a badly beaten old chair down the street. A teenager rode on the back of a panel truck which traveled about 5 miles an hour; occasionally he jumped off and the driver waited while he searched for treasure.

We put out an old water heater (not old enough to be sturdy, just cheap), two old wooden wash posts, a pile of papers, an old, leaky pot and some brush. The paper was first to go.

Early Monday, a man drove by and removed the fittings from the water heater; they were rusted and I doubt it was worth his effort. Later, two men hoisted the heater itself into a truck. Someone discarded a pillow which had started out on someone else's pile up the street. After a few hours, it was gone again, probably on someone else's pile.

Even the pot went.

By the time the paid village scroungers got around to us, all that was left for them to pick up were the two weathered posts and the brush. I felt kinda cheap for their sake.

Most of the Arlington gypsy parade probably looks upon itself as antique collectors, reclaimers or at least salvagers. Webster meets them only half-way. The dictionary uses such terms as forage, round up, find, salvage, borrow, steal, acquire, cadge, wheedle, search, poke around, hunt and pick up to describe the activity of scrounging.

None of the terms, of course, fits me. I didn't scrounge anything. Now if I'd found a workbench . . .

LWV Delegates at Denver Convention

Mrs. Frank Moore, president of the local League of Women Voters, is delegate at the five-day national convention of the League in Denver, Colo., this week.

She left Monday from O'Hare with a group of 50 Chicago-area delegates including Mrs. Harold A. Brown, president of the Palatine League, and Mrs. Jack Duwe, incoming president of the Des Plaines League.

Main item of the convention is the proposed program of study and action which covers both domestic and foreign issues.

Drawn up from hundreds of suggestions which local and state Leagues submitted last year and originally announced to the membership in February, this proposed 1966-68 program adds the study of a new issue — an evaluation of U. S. relations with the People's Republic of China — to the foreign policy section of the league's existing program.

OTHERWISE THE proposals contain no changes in the existing program which touches on seven other (and sometimes broad) issues.

This current program consists of one item still in its League "study phase" — an evaluation of equal opportunities for education and employment.

It includes four supportive positions which favor long-range planning for conservation and development of water resources and improvement of water quality; apportionment of state legislatures substantially on populations; home rule for the District of Columbia, and the greatest possible protection for the individual under federal loyalty-security programs.

This present program also opposes constitutional limitations on tax rates and changes which would limit the treaty-making powers of the President and Congress.

The proposed program will be thoroughly debated before it is adopted by majority vote—very possibly with additions and/or modifications. (A

It's a Queen-Sized Mother's Day in O'Malley Home

by BARBARA MacEACHRON
Staff Writer

Thirteen is a lucky number in the Donald O'Malley home, for Anna O'Malley will receive 13 Mother's Day greetings from 13 children this Sunday.

With such a large household, she can't hope that it will be a day of rest, but she may expect help with the meals, chores done without reminders, and a little extra consideration.

Anna and her husband Donald can probably claim the largest family in Hoffman Estates, from 16-year-old Patrick to 21-month-old Laurie. In between are Mike, 14, John, 13, Dennis, 12, Jerry, 11, Mary, 10, Maureen, 8, Eddie, 7, Danny, 6, Joey, 5, Donna, 3, and Elizabeth, 2.

Mrs. O'Malley is often asked how she manages such a large family. Her answer is that their whole way of living must revolve around the children and their needs.

She freely admits it is not easy and that at times her patience is worn thin.

"BUT WE HAVE BEEN fortunate in always having enough to eat and in having good health," she said. Baby Laurie is scheduled for minor eye surgery this week, but there have been only two other occasions when any of the children have been hospitalized for a short time.

In searching for the advantages of a large family, she pointed out it was impossible to spoil a child, that there was always a playmate, and that the children learn very young how to get along with one another.

Birthdays are celebrated with brothers and sisters, and with cake and ice cream offered to "whoever is in the backyard at the time." The younger children often have small parties with neighborhood friends.

Although there are no written charts designating chores, each of the older children is expected to do certain jobs, and receives his weekly allowance only when the work has been completed. Discipline is carried out by spanking only "when really necessary."

THE BIGGEST AND MOST constant problem facing the mother of 13 children is preparing meals. Lunch time is usually in shifts, with the younger children fed and put down for naps before the school children arrive.

Dinner is a family affair, with everyone except the baby accommodated at a long table in the kitchen-dinette.

Mrs. O'Malley regrets sometimes refusing a request for a snack of cookies and milk, but "there would be 12 more asking." Daily milk consumption varies from two to three and a half gallons, depending on whether all of the children are home for lunch.

She shops almost daily for breads and produce, which supplement the items in the freezer.

The six-room ranch home that the O'Malleys moved into at 137 Bradley Lane almost 10 years ago has been expanded to provide additional bedroom and recreation space.

The former garage has become a dormitory for the older boys, and space was taken from a former dining area to make a bedroom for Mary and Maureen.

The utility room off the kitchen was used in expanding the kitchen-dinette area.

OFF LIMITS TO THE CHILDREN is the living room, a rule established after the furniture was replaced several times. The children's recreation area is the whole basement, which the O'Malleys had put under their home about five years ago.

Here the children may bring their friends to watch television, play ping pong and pool, or to view the tropical fish tanks. The boys recently began another project, that of building and landscaping an oversize layout for HO road racing.

For four of the boys, the baseball season has begun, and there is hardly a seasoned Little Leaguer in Hoffman Estates who has not faced an O'Malley on one team or another.

Don O'Malley tries to follow all the games, which is often a problem when three or four teams are involved.

LAST SUMMER, for the first time in five years, the O'Malleys had a brief family vacation, a three-day trip to Wisconsin. It was necessary to take both the family station wagon and the bus-type truck that O'Malley uses for business.

They stayed with relatives in a "very large home" and Mrs. O'Malley took over the cooking chores.

It is not often that Anna and Don O'Malley go out together, but they manage an occasional dinner out or movie, and enjoy the children's sports banquets and Scout activities.

Mrs. O'Malley tries to find time for reading and keeping up with current events, but admits she rarely has a quiet moment to herself.

And so, a happy Mother's Day to Anna O'Malley, mother of 13.

Area News Roundup

PALATINE—The county zoning board Monday heard a petition seeking zoning to permit 964 apartment units at Rand Road and Baldwin Road, just one-quarter mile north of Palatine's border. The apartments proposed would be contained in two-three- and 12-story apartment buildings. Also, the project calls for 134 single family homes, a small shopping center and a recreation center. The county took the petition under advisement and granted Palatine 40 days to review it and make a recommendation. The proposal is contrary to the Palatine master plan, which calls for only single family homes in the Rand-Baldwin area.

ADDISON—Police Detective William Craig, 39, faces hearing next Thursday in Circuit Court on a 21-count indictment handed down last week by the DuPage County grand jury. The charges include theft, perjury, subordination of perjury.

HANOVER PARK—A move by the village board last week to fire Police Chief Sam Polotto was blocked by a 1964 amendment to the civil service ordinance which brought his office under the jurisdiction of the community's police and fire commission. Village officials claimed Polotto's performance in his job wasn't satisfactory, but the commission secretary, Arthur Abrahamson, said this week village officials would have to submit written charges and sufficient proof before a formal hearing would be called—now a highly unlikely possibility. The village board is expected to rescind the motion for the chief's dismissal, along with another to name Charles Specht, a junior sergeant in the department, as acting police chief, at its regular meeting tonight (Thursday). Village Pres. Eugene Domingue denied the unsuccessful action was a political move.

BENSENVILLE—The Bensenville Community Library District will move to a new location, kitty-corner from where the library building now is located. Trustees have voted to take over the Branigar offcie building, Church and Irving Park Road, on a rental basis with option to buy.

ITASCA—Itasca's efforts to annex about 100 acres of land fell to defeat Saturday in a special election. The vote was 35 to 19. The land is bounded roughly by the north village limits, Prospect Road on the east, Arlington Heights Road on the west and Devon Avenue on the north.

WHEELING—Wheeling okayed the first water rate increase in nine years. The village board also adjusted the tap-on fees in the village so that more industry will be attracted to the community.

New Petitions Hit Euclid Widening

Another set of petitions opposing the widening of Euclid Street is expected to be presented to the plan commission when it resumes hearings on the proposed new Arlington Heights thoroughfare plan next Wednesday.

At the opening hearing in March, petitions signed by virtually every resident of Euclid along the stretch proposed for widening to four lanes were submitted. Spokesman for the Euclid residents, O. H. Thelander of 14 W. Euclid, said Tuesday new petitions are being collected.

THEY ARE BEING circulated by and among people who do not live on Euclid but who support the Euclid residents. Thelander said he received calls from about a dozen village residents after the March hearing, asking for copies of the petition to circulate in their neighborhoods.

"This is strictly on a volunteer basis. I haven't asked anyone who doesn't live on Euclid to circulate or sign the petitions."

According to Thelander, residents living on and near Euclid are as concerned with traffic hazards they feel would be created by the widening as they are by the ioss of Euclid's old trees.

"There are a number of school crossings on Euclid, and we have the library and a major park nearby. We feel traffic going between communities should be routed to the fringes of Arlington Heights rather than through it."

BESIDES THE Euclid street designation as a major arterial, which has proved most controversial, the thoroughfare plan is an attempt to update the village's 1959 master traffic plan and tie it in to the redevelopment of downtown.

A second aspect of the plan protested vigorously by residents at the long opening hearing was a grade crossing at Arthur Avenue. Stonegate residents protested the crossing, saying it would encourage north-south traffic in the eastern part of the village to use streets in their subdivision.

Apartment Plat OKd by Planners

The final plat of the one-lot Greta Lederer subdivision — an apartment complex with a planned 230 units — was approved last Wednesday by the Arlington Heights Plan Commission.

The subdivision plat recommended by the plan commission will go before the village board May 16.

The subdivision is located west of Goebbert Road between Forest View High School and Algonquin Road. (A Belmont Ave., Russell H. Colvin, 605 S. Bristol, and Ellwood Huff, 1022 N. Patton.

Extend Hearing On Lillian St.

Public hearings on the proposed extension of Lillian Street from the planned Arlington Highlands subdivision east to Arlington Heights Road in Arlington Heights were continued to 8:15 p.m., May 26 by the board of local improvements Thursday.

Hearings were continued at the request of the Pure Oil Co. and Nicholas Prassas who control the property along Arlington Heights Road through which the proposed extension would run.

Travel Firm To Continue In Business

The Griffin Travel Agency, 104 N. Evergreen, Arlington Heights, will continue operation despite the death of its owner, 50-year-old Wayne Griffin.

Griffin, noted radio and television sports announcer, died last week following surgery at St. Francis Hospital in Evanston. Travel agency personnel said Tuesday that Griffin's death would not force closing of the firm.

FUNERAL services for Mr. Griffin were conducted Saturday in Woodville, Wis., and burial was at Lone Pine Cemetery. He is survived by his wife, Frances, two daughters, Mrs. Donald (Catherine) Kildal and Deborah, a grandson, Shawn Kildal, and his mother, Mrs. Dora M. Griffin.

Mr. Griffin was best known for his announcing of wrestling matches at Rainbow Gardens.

Lag in Sales Disturbs Alft

Retail sales in Arlington Heights lagged far behind Mount Prospect sales last year despite Arlington's larger population, according to official 1965 retailers occupational tax figures compiled in the Chamber of Commerce newsletter.

The index figures showed Arlington Heights retailers paid only $2,301,038 in occupational taxes last year, whereas Mount Prospect merchants paid $3,494,295. The tax amounts to 4 per cent of a merchants' total annual retail sales.

A COMPARISON of the totals placed Arlington Heights more than 20 per cent behind Mount Prospect. Village retailing has lost ground, according to the newsletter, since 1962 when Randhurst shopping center opened.

E. C. Alft, executive manager of the chamber, directly attributed the trend to competition from Randhurst and claimed downtown merchants in Mount Prospect also "are suffering."

Arlington Heights retail taxes led Mount Prospect in only four marketing categories: (1) groceries — Mount Prospect, $512,978, Arlington Heights, $527,747; (2) automotive and filling stations — Mount Prospect, $376,012, Arlington Heights, $952,567; (3) miscellaneous — Mount Prospect, $48,084; Arlington Heights, $79,998.

ALFT SAID local retail sales are suffering from Randhurst competition because merchants failed to recognize and effectively meet the challenge.

"What we need here is more business people who are merchants," Alft said. He criticized local officials for not taking steps to "dress up the community" to invite shopping downtown.

He also called on merchants to "personalize" their businesses by providing courteous service and a pleasant shopping environment.

Comas Tag Days Set For Friday, Saturday

TAG DAY PREPARATIONS are made by friends of the Inter American Friendship Program, which sponsors the Arlington Heights-Comas, Peru, sister city program. At left is Mrs. Emil Ernst, representing the Arlington Heights Newcomers Club, with Mrs. Robert Novy, tag day chairman. Tag days will be held Friday (tomorrow) and Saturday.

Friday and Saturday are Comas Days in Arlington Heights.

On Friday, women from the St. James Women's Guild, Christian Family Movement, Jaycee Wives, Newcomers Club, Junior Woman's Club, V.F.W. Auxiliary as well as members of the Inter American Friendship Program, will be at the morning trains and throughout the day at shopping centers and in downtown Arlington Heights selling tags so residents may give something for their Sister City of Comas, Peru.

Saturday will find the boys of the Arlington High School "A Club" in various places around town also helping with tag days.

MONEY COLLECTED will pay the small remaining Fiesta debt and the newly elected board can begin anew the job of helping the many poor residents of Comas who wish to remain free people and desire to work for themselves.

Presently the people are hoping to build a library and tuberculosis center. If the library is built there is a $10,000 grant waiting from the Ford Foundation to supply books. The Inter American Friendship Program, whose aim is to help the people of Comas help themselves, is presently discussing ways to help the hopes of these people. For information concerning these people and how you can help, contact Tag Day Chairman Mrs. R. J. Novy, 392-4679. (A

Data Processing Explanation Slated

Use of data processing equipment for better, faster handling of school records will be explained to High School District 214 board members Monday during their 7:30 p.m. meeting in Slichenmyer Administration Center, 799 Kensington Road, Mount Prospect.

Members of the central office staff and high schools' assistant principals will assist Bill Reid, director of data processing, with the presentation.

At that same meeting, board members will also hear representatives of the architectural firm of Berger, Kelley, Unteed and Associates report on progress made toward completing work at Elk Grove High School.

THE ARCHITECTS will also seek approval for soil borings on the sixth high school site on Willow Road near Rand. The borings will guide the firm in determining foundation needs for the new school.

Approval for summer employment of staff, primarily at Elk Grove High School where equipment must be checked in and made ready for fall classes, will also be sought.

An added item on the agenda is school bus service, discussed at some length at special and regular board meetings during the past month. (ACME

Saving Seen With 'Haulaway' Lunches

A satellite food service, by which food cooked at Wheeling High would be carted to the new sixth high school in time for lunch, will save the district as much as $93,000 in capital investment.

So Don Hall, representative of Lincoln Manufacturing Co. estimated last Thursday to a citizens committee charged with recommending the type food service for the sixth high school.

Hall, whose company manufactures equipment to be used in transporting and storing the prepared foods, said it would cost the district $31,000, not counting $1,600 in extra pots and pans, to set up the satellite food operations.

HE ESTIMATED that $124,160 would be saved by District 214 in capital investment not needed for kitchen equipment and the space itself—a dish room, a kitchen and Wheeling storage space.

He set the value of square footage for that space at $34,160 and the kitchen equipment at $90,000, citing that amount as budgeted for Elk Grove and Wheeling High School kitchen contracts.

Representatives of the architectural firm of Berger, Kelley, Unteed and Associates have been asked to attend the committee's next meeting to comment on Hall's estimates of building value.

That meeting has been called by chairman John Auld for 8 p.m. next Thursday in Prospect High School. (ACME

3 Families Share Holidays For 40 Years

Three Presbyterian ministers, whose friendship began while they were students at Princeton University, enjoyed an April vacation with their wives in the Great Smoky Mountains of western North Carolina.

In the group were the Rev. and Mrs. Paul L. Stumpf of 702 S. Evergreen Ave., Arlington Heights.

THE THREE families have been vacationing together for 40 years, except on occasions when illness prevented a family from joining the others. In 1965 they toured Europe, to which they plan to return in the future.

The three ministers were at Princeton Theological Seminary together from 1927 to 1930, and have been friends ever since. (A

Weigh Stand on Closing Schoenbeck

The Village of Arlington Heights is considering opposition to the possible closing of the Schoenbeck Road crossing at Palatine Road.

Question of the street closing was referred to the public safety committee of the village board Monday. The Palatine-Schoenbeck intersection is near the village limits of Arlington Heights.

The committee was asked to invite members of the Prospect Heights Improvement Association and the board of Elementary District 23 to attend its session.

THE SCHOOL district has favored closing Schoenbeck Road at Palatine, with a pedestrian bridge to carry students to nearby schools. The homeowners group has opposed closing the street.

Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson told trustees he met with the District 23 superintendent several weeks ago and their views were opposing. Village Pres. John G. Woods said the village, in meeting with the county to discuss Palatine Road development several years ago, had "worked hard to keep that (Schoenbeck Road) open. The school board at that time wanted to keep it open." (A

Unique Luncheon

Village Toasts Builders For Quality Construction

A village salute to the men who have built Arlington Heights has been termed a "first in the country" by a representative of the home building industry.

Patrick Bracken, public relations director for the Home Builders Association of Chicagoland, said the luncheon program hosted by the village Monday at Old Orchard Country Club was unique.

MORE THAN 50 builders and developers attended the luncheon, which was called to thank builders for "high quality construction" used in the village and to remind them the village wants to cooperate with them and receive their cooperation in turn.

Setting the tone for the luncheon, Building Com. H. C. Best said Arlington Heights gets "the cream of the crop" in home and apartment building. And Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson told the builders, "Your success helps build a greater Arlington Heights."

Citing $26 million in home and apartment building in the village last year, Village Pres. John G. Woods thanked builders for their help in maintaining village standards and reminded them that "the houses you build become the homes of our families."

BUILDERS WHO received citations from the village included:

Merlin Markiewicz, Miller Builders, Morwell Construction Co., Meister-Neiberg Co., Ben Pekin Corp., Peter Peterson Co., Realcoa, Sellergren Construction Co., Sextans Builders Co., Edward J. Smith, Stoltzner Building Organization, Stoltzner Construction Co. and Stoltzner & Associates, Town Builders, United Development Co., Walter J. Wissert, Wallach Corp., Zale Construction, Arthur Zamost, Ar-Lin Builders, Anthony Lemanski.

Edward Albright, Berkley Square Co., Thomas A. Catino, Edward P. Clarke, Harold Eberhardy, Green Bros., Arthur J. Greene, I. Simon & Son, Jem Construction Co., Charles V. Locascio, James McHugh Construction Co., William Trude, Harold Freidman, Albert Riley and Mrs. Greta Lederer. (A

To Resume Belmont Hearings

Public hearings on the paving of Belmont Avenue North of Oakton Street were continued until 9 p.m. May 5 by the Arlington Heights Board of Local Improvements (BOLI) Thursday.

The hearing was continued to allow BOLI consulting engineers time to prepare plats of dedication for the required right-of-way dedications and because property owners along the north end of the improvement are having difficulty establishing a cost figure to use as a basis for cash deposits.

Property owners along the north half of the improvement prefer to have their part of the street paved by private contract rather than by special assessment.

A cul-de-sac to be located where the street ends at the south boundary of Olive School is planned, and it complicates the establishment of cost estimates. (A

Cash Is Stolen

An undetermined amount of money was taken from the Arlington Theatre in a burglary Saturday night.

It was reported early Sunday morning by the theater janitor, Edward Hestrup.

Police said the intruder apparently climbed onto the mall roof to get into the enclosed patio, and then pried open the patio doors to get into the theater lobby.

The money was taken from a petty cash box used by the theater's refreshment stand. Police said the box was opened with tools taken from the projection booth. (A

Straight answers and full truths about electric heat

(for the people who plan to buy or build this year)

Frank answers about electric heat for those of you who are planning to spend 20 thousand dollars, or more, for a new home that you'll probably live in for the next 10 or 20 years. You owe it to yourself to investigate the many advantages of electric heat.

As a background, you should know there are 8 million people in the United States now living in electrically heated homes. Estimates indicate that this year 27% of homes being built will have electric heat. And, by 1970, over half of all new homes will be heated electrically.

Let's look into the why's and wherefore's.

Just how happily can you live with electric heat?

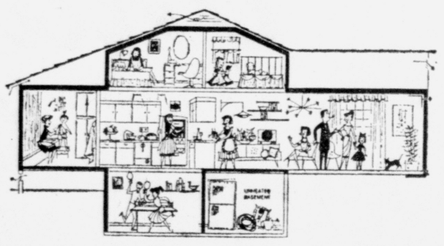
Properly installed, the comfort and convenience of electric heat far surpasses anything you've ever experienced before.

For example: you can step from your shower in the dead of winter and still feel warm. Baby can play on the floor when it's 20 below outside, and not be chilled. You'll even discover yourself cleaning less because electric heat is so dirt-free.

Proper installation assures comfort

Commonwealth Edison will be pleased to consult with your architect or contractor to assure that your electric heating system is designed for your house and installed in accordance with approved engineering standards.

Insulation should also be installed according to recommended standards: When an average six-room house is properly insulated at the time of construction, it will add less than 1% to the total cost. Good insulation will not only repay this investment in less than 4 years by cutting heat loss, but will add greatly to your comfort. And in the summer your home will be cooler, too.



Heavy black line indicates proper insulation.

With electric heat, you can pick the type of heat you want for your new home.

There are 5 basic types of flameless electric heating equipment. Depending on your heating requirements, one system can be used separately, or several may be teamed together.

If space is at a premium, or you want room-by-room temperature control, electric baseboard units or ceiling cable probably will work best.

The electric heat pump either heats or cools, depending on the outside temperature.

Electric central heating systems which use electrically-heated warm air or electrically-heated hot water are available in a variety of types to fit any need. They can be combined with electric central air-conditioning systems to provide year-round comfort.

Electric wall panel heaters provide radiant heat and are best suited for bath and dressing rooms or other areas where space is limited.

What about the cost of electric heat?

All things considered, electric heat will probably cost you somewhat more than gas heat. For example, you should expect to spend about $200 per year for electric heat in a properly insulated six-room house—or about $60 more than gas heat. This does not take into account maintenance and decorating savings with electric heat.

However, electric heat rates have steadily declined. Since 1958, Commonwealth Edison has reduced electric heat rates more than 50% and still further reductions are expected for the future.

Electric Heat is designed to outlast your mortgage (even if it's for 30 years).

After 15 years of operation, during which you would have little, if any, maintenance, look what has happened to your friend with gas heat. During this same 15 years, chances are he will have replaced his furnace (at $300)—paid out another $40 to run the pilot light 15 summers, and paid an additional $225 for furnace cleaning, maintenance, and a big supply of filters.

Electric heat's great for growing families, too.

How many of your friends have outgrown their homes a few short years after they bought them? They plan to add a room or two, and come face-to-face with the old bugaboo—heating the new area.

With gas, frequently they must buy a new and bigger furnace or settle for less-than-satisfactory space heaters. Not so with electric heat. You add as much heating capacity as you need to your new wing almost as simply and inexpensively as adding new wiring.

That's the story!

Anyone about to spend the money a house costs these days ought to know he's spending his money wisely.

We happen to think that your heating dollar will be far better invested in modern electric heat, and we've tried to show you why.

If you'd like more information about electric heat, please call our nearest office.

Many Distinguished Guests Expected at Hospital Ball

Officials a-plenty will be on hand for the Northwest Community Hospital Benefit Ball Saturday night, May 14, at Arlington Park Race Track.

Eight mayors, two representatives, one senator, two judges, a county sheriff and a county commissioner are all included among the "probables." Others invited to attend, but not certain, include the governor, two senators, one would-be governor, and several other political figures.

OVER 700 persons have already purchased tickets for the gala affair, including 60 patrons, each of whom will be donating an extra $50 for benefit of the hospital. Total cash in the till as of Tuesday of this week is $12,000.

Requests for tickets have been steadily arriving, with party chairmen hoping to still hit an attendance of over 1,000 persons.

GOVERNOR KERNER has not indicated definite attendance as yet, because of previous commitments. Same goes for Senators Douglas and Dirksen. State Sen. John Graham has indicated he will definitely be present, however. Governor-hopeful Charles Percy is also on the doubtful list.

County Sheriff Dick Ogilvie will be present, as will Cook County Commissioner Floyd Fulle. State Reps. Eugenia Chapman and Eugene Schlickman have also accepted. U. S. Rep. Don Rumsfeld has not indicated his attendance to date. Judges Walter P. Dahl and Robert C. Buckley will be on hand.

MAYORS A-PLENTY expected to be on hand include John Woods of Arlington Heights, Jack Paul of Elk Grove, Roy Jenkins of Hoffman Estates, Daniel Congreve of Mount Prospect, Dave Yates of Palatine, Albin Piekarski of Rolling Meadows, Bob Atcher of Schaumburg and Ted Scanlon of Wheeling.

Arlington's John Woods, and John Woods of Rolling Meadows, the ex-mayor of that community, have both been working on committees sponsoring the ball. Many entertainment personalities are also expected to be present.

"DRESS OPTIONAL" is the order of the evening for the ball, with the hospitality hour slated to start at 6:30. First band will be playing for three hours during both the cocktail hour and the buffet dinner hour. Lou Breese and band will start the dancing at 9:30 for an additional three hours of music.

Phil Georgeff, that familiar voice always heard at Arlington and Washington Parks, will give the running commentary for the "races" between dances as patrons back their hunches with play money. Purpose of the affair is to raise money for Northwest Community Hospital.

A PROUD FAMILY admires its latest addition born last week at Holy Family Hospital in Des Plaines. The baby girl, Jennifer, born to Mr. and Mrs. Daniel R. Chase, 634 E. Clarendon Ave., Arlington Heights, was couple's seventh child and the fifth born at Holy Family. The admiring children are (left to right): Barbara, 4; Karen, 6; Daniel, 3; Margaret 2; and Alan, 5. One-year-old Edward is being held by his father, while Mrs. Lavina McGonegle, head nurse of Holy Family's maternity section, looks on.

SUMMER TELEVISION

by ED LANDWEHR

Because television broadcasters think that summer viewing lessens, there isn't much effort to run good shows. Many re-runs from the winter series are put on the air and general planning is poor.

If this area is any criterion, I would say that the networks are wrong about their view. Our business at LANDWEHR TV, 218 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights has constantly increased from winter to summer. Many vacationers visiting our area bring in portable TV sets for service, and motels say that the demand for TV is high.

Winter or summer, TV watchers have found that the phone number CLearbrook 5-0700 brings them prompt and efficient electronic service — TV, radio, hi-fi or anything with sound passing through it.

Would-Be Drivers Tested for Permits

Students who plan to take behind-the-wheel training during High School District 214 summer school were given tests for their learner's permits beginning Tuesday and Wednesday.

Approximately 100 students took the written examination on Tuesday at Prospect High School and came back on Wednesday for their eye examination.

The testing program will continue this week and next at the other three high schools in the district.

STUDENTS ARE being tested today and tomorrow at Wheeling High School at 3:45 p.m. in the school cafeteria. Monday and Tuesday of next week the testing program will be held at Arlington High School at 3:45 p.m. in study hall 44 and on Wednesday and Thursday of next week, May 11 and 12, the team of driver education teachers will give the tests at the Forest View High School cafeteria at the same time during the day.

Driver training laws for the state of Illinois provide that students must take and pass an examination on the rules of the road, must be able to recognize road signs and identify them and submit to an eye examination before they are issued a learner's permit. Without a valid learner's permit they are not eligible to take behind-the-wheel training.

ACCORDING TO W. L. (Pat) Randle, director of the District 214 summer school, it is expected that over 700 students will be given six hours of behind-the-wheel training in connection with the summer school program. Approximately that same number will take advantage of the testing program in the schools in preference to making a trip to the testing station in Libertyville or on Elston Avenue in Chicago.

Information concerning the driver education program or any other phase of summer school may be received by calling Randle at CL 3-1700.

Interest Rate Jumps On High School Bonds

The high cost of borrowing caught up with High School District 214 Monday.

The district accepted First National Bank of Chicago's low interest bid of 3.852 per cent on sale of $3.4 million of school building bonds for the sixth high school.

Interest rate on the last building bond issue, for Elk Grove High School, was 3.197 per cent. First National Bank was also low bidder at that time.

THE HIGHER interest rate, which will cost $1,989,235 over the 20-year life of the $3.4 million bond issue, was expected.

It might have been even more, board attorney Allyn Franke explained, if the bonds had been sold four weeks earlier when rates were running 4.2 per cent, or if there had been a change—and one had been suggested—in the school district's Moody Investment Service rating.

Moody is currently re-evaluating its ratings and in doing so was, a couple weeks ago, considering dropping District 214 to a "BAA" rating from the "A" rating it has held for almost 10 years.

Franke said the board should give credit to Frank Coleman, director of business services for the school system, for stepping in promptly with additional information for Moody evaluators.

MOODY, FRANKE told Monday's meeting was concerned for two reasons:

—A request by Elk Grove elementary District 59 to have its "BAA" rating upped had pointed up Elk Grove Township as a "BAA" area.

—Tax collections on property levies have been "off" in the district, with the lower collections reported primarily in Elk Grove.

Coleman told Paddock Publications Tuesday that he was also able to reassure the Moody representatives who wondered about the ability of the district to keep its financial commitments stable over the continued period of growth which will require the district to have as many as 10 high schools.

RETENTION OF the "A" rating is important not only in determining cost of the present bond issue, but also future issues. The $3.4 million sold Monday is only half of the $6.8 authorized by voters in February for use in constructing the sixth high school and purchasing an additional school site.

Other bidders on the District 214 bond issue were Glore Forgan, William R. Staats, Inc., with a net interest rate of 3.8559 per cent; Drexel Harriman Ripley Securities Corp, with a net interest rate of 3.87 per cent; Halsey Stuart & Co., with an effective interest rate of 3.87 per cent; John Nuveen & Co., with a net interest rate of 3.882 per cent, and Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Co., with a net interest rate of 3.984, per cent. River Trails Group Adopts Constitution

A constitution and by-laws were recently approved by the River Trails Education Assn. of River Trails School District 26, which serves parts of Mount Prospect, Prospect Heights and Des Plaines.

The first official election of the newly formed association will be held sometime this month. The nominating committee met last week to draw up two slates of officers for presentation at the next regular meeting.

Early last month the association conducted its first project, a clothing drive for the Save the Children Federation. (AEM

Available Cash Almost All Gone

by Howard Harmening
Staff Writer

The North Suburban Library System (Region 5) may be figuratively a dollar short because it's a day late in applying for state funds to begin operations.

The system, which includes 22 public libraries in the northwest and north suburban area, officially accepted a plan for its operation late last month.

The plan involves an estimated budget of between $250,000 and $350,000 for its first year of operation, according to Arthur Curley, system planning coordinator and Palatine Public Library director.

The state's $4.7-million public library development program, however, has allocated nearly all of its initial two-year appropriation since signed into law last August.

IN ADDITION TO creating on paper the outlines of 21 regional systems, the state plan also grants $100,000 to each of four reference centers in already established libraries.

Haste doesn't always make waste, though, and eight regional systems were given state blessing in March to get a total allocation of $4,166,300, claiming the bulk of the initial appropriation.

Where this leaves the North Suburban system financially remains questionable, said Paul F. Corby, system board president.

"No one really knows what is left of the appropriation," he added.

Corby, also a member of the Evanston Library Board, went on to explain, however, that he didn't expect the system to get its funds until the state makes a new appropriation, anticipated after the end of the biennium in June 1967.

THE SYSTEM presently includes public libraries in the northwest suburban communities of Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Prospect Heights, Wheeling, Schaumburg Township, Rolling Meadows, Elk Grove Village, Palatine, Des Plaines and Barrington.

Other libraries now in the system are Niles, Evanston, Skokie, Glenview, Wilmette, Park Ridge, Lake Forest, Northbrook, Winnetka, Glencoe, Morton Grove and Deerfield.

The status of a $40,000 establishment grant authorized under the state plan originally also remains questionable if the system wins approval on its not-yet-submitted application and plans.

Curley has pointed out the establishment grant, if awarded, would allow the system to at least employ a director and clerical staff to partially begin the program and complete further aspects of planning.

BASICALLY, this would allow members of the system to start developing an inter-library loan program after state approval with requests from member libraries channeled through a temporary center in Evanston, Curley said.

The requests for specific books would be met by member libraries and the Chicago Public Library with a system "of checks and balances to be developed" so that larger libraries in the system aren't handicapped, he explained.

When and if more state funds are available, plans call for the establishment of a strong central collection of books and related materials and a telephone-reference service.

Other services that may be developed later by the system, Curley pointed out, or may be secured through contracts with other systems or institutions include centralized cataloging and processing and consultants in special areas.

CORBY SAID he hoped to send the application and plans to the state next week, if possible.

The contract with Evanston's library to serve as the temporary center also still has to be worked out, but the president said he anticipated no problems on that.

Corby, however, went on to say that "eventually the system headquarters will have to be in a more central region than Evanston" and housed in a building of its own.

What happened to the first wave of enthusiasm in the North Suburban System after some officials expected it would be in operation by the first of this year?

The first delay apparently was encountered when members of this system and others throughout the state underestimated the response with which some would greet the state program.

"NO ONE REALLY expected that the eight systems that have been approved would move so fast," explained Curley.

The eight approved systems moved so fast, in fact, that they had won the recommendation from the Illinois State Library Advisory Committee and had their applications submitted to Secretary of State Paul Powell before District 5 elected its board officers.

(The officers of the North Suburban System Board weren't elected until March 21, according to Curley. In addition to Corby, they include Rachel Campbell, vice president, Barrington; Arlene G. Brendt, secretary, Niles; and Franklin Friday, treasurer, Mount Prospect.)

The biggest delay, however, has apparently resulted from a controversy over the inter-library loan program, with the larger libraries concerned their resources would be depleted by requests for books from smaller libraries in the system that spend less on book purchases.

"WHAT ACTUALLY has been the worry," explained Corby, "has been that a free use of library cards throughout the system would deprive the larger libraries of books and materials with referrals by certain small libraries with limited resources to their cardholders."

He added he believed the arrangement of channeling all requests through a central location as presently planned would work out satisfactory to the needs of both the larger and smaller libraries in the system.

Curley, meanwhile, said he believes the larger-versus-smaller-library problem will be even more diminished after the system develops a centralized collection of books and materials of its own.

Present plans call for the system to spend more than 38 per cent of its total budget on the purchase of books and other library materials when state funds are available.

This would allow development of a strong collection that would ease pressures on member liraries as a result possibly of the inter-library loan program.

MORE THAN THAT, however, Curley sees a strong centralized collection as the system's answer to the large city library.

"We're doing one thing that the city library does and that is to meet the day-to-day needs of our cardholders, but the second thing we can't do and that is to meet the reference demands. No local library can afford to develop research materials in-depth, but 22 libraries could in the system."

Corby pointed out that the system's collection of books and materials would be distributed to every library in the system as requested and wouldn't "belong to any single library."(A15

State's Share of College Building Costs Uncertain

William Rainey Harper College officials still are being kept in the dark on how much state money they will receive for construction of their district's two-year college.

Dr. Robert P. Lahti, Harper College president, told the District 512 (formerly 301) board Tuesday that the six class I junior colleges in Illinois are seeking state funds amounting current fiscal appropriations of $20,500,000.

Lahti gave his report after attending conferences this week with administrators from the six other institutions and state junior college board officials.

ILLINOIS LAW provides that the state will provide 75 per cent of the total campus construction and land acquisition costs if residents approve paying the remaining 25 per cent. The district is seeking from Districy 512 voters approval of a $7,375,000 bond issue June 4 as their share of a $29,500,000 campus. The proposed campus would be constructed in two or more phases with completion by 1980.

The first phase of construction is estimated by architects to cost $18,888,000, but it is a foregone conclusion that the state will be unable to provide 75 per cent of this amount from funds currently available.

The $20,500,000 will be divided among the six class I districts after the state board draws up a set of criteria to determine who gets what. Funds will then be issued on the basis of a priority list.

"THE STATE board has not yet adopted a set of criteria," Lahti told the board. He said the priority list will probably be disclosed by Aug. 1.

Board member Richard Johnson recommended a special committee made up of representatives from the six institutions be set up to study proposed state criteria.

Lahti gave his report after the board passed a resolution designating June 4 as the date for the referendum on the bond issue. Voting precincts will be the same as those drawn up for the college board elections last month. (B10

GOP Backs Save Regner

David J. Regner of Mount Prospect, one of five Republicans seeking two nominations in the June 14 primary to run for seats in the Illinois House of Representatives, was last week endorsed by the Northfield Township Regular Republican Organization.

The organization failed to endorse a second candidate or one for the nomination to the senate.

Regner has also received the endorsement of the Regular Republican Organization of Elk Grove Township and the Republican Women of Elk Grove Township.

HE LIVES at 910 S. SeeGwun in Mount Prospect and said, "Northfield has long been considered one of the key townships in the 3rd district with a heavy Republican primary vote and its support will mean a great deal in the June 14 primary.

"I am indeed honored and appreciate the vote of confidence," Regner continued. "I pledge to work hard to assure the faith they have shown by my endorsement." (B-10

New GOP Strength Predicted by Woods

A broader party base and strengthening of Republicanism in Wheeling Township will stem from appointment of a citizens advisory committee to committeeman candidate Eugene Schlickman.

That's the forecast of Arlington Heights Village Pres. John G. Woods, whose appointment to head the advisory committee was announced April 23.

Woods said the committee "will include civic, educational, professional, social and governmental leaders from the entire township. The men and women who have agreed to serve represent virtually every phase of our community activity. Each person is a recognized Republican who has made a contribution to this township in one important aspect or another.

"THE MOST encouraging aspect of this advisory committee is that it draws upon the talents, energies and abilities of a wide range of people. This is important in terms of Gene's election as committeeman, important in terms of his leadership of our party in Wheeling Township and even more important in planning and looking to the future. By drawing more people into active participation with the party, we will continue to broaden our base, further our effectiveness and increase our margins of victory." (ACM

College Board Welcomes Barrington Bid to Annex

A drive by the Barrington High School District (224) for annexation to the William Rainey Harper College district received formal endorsement by the college board Tuesday night.

The board unanimously passed a resolution backing the proposed annexation after hearing a report from board member Milton Hansen, who had conducted a feasibility study.

Members of a Barrington citizens committee began circulating petitions a month ago to be presented to the Illinois Junior College Board for approval. State board approval entitles the district to hold a referendum on the issue. Under state law, annexation can be completed without approval of the junior college district.

Hansen told the board the Barrington district's assessed valuation per student — set at $57,000 — is slightly higher than the current valuation in the area.

"THERE WOULD be a slight gain in our per student assessed valuation rate if this annexation was successful," he explained. He added that the proposed annexation would place the campus site at Roselle and Algonquin Roads more in the center of the junior college district.

The Barrington district maintains one building and is divided among four counties — Cook, Lake, McHenry and Kane. Annexation is being sought in the wake of a drive to establish a Lake County junior college.

Residents and school officials seek to have that portion of their district in Lake County withdrawn from the proposed college district because it would split up the high school area.

A copy of the college board's resolution will be sent to the Illinois Junior College Board for review. (B10

CAMPAIGN STRATEGY is discussed by State Rep. Eugenia Chapman, D-Arlington Heights, and State Rep. Paul F. Elward, D-Chicago, majority whip of the Illinois General Assembly. Elward addressed more than 100 area residents attending fund-raising dinner in behalf of Mrs. Chapman's bid for re-election. (Staff photo)

Rep. Chapman Praised For Legislative Work

More than 100 supporters from the third representative district turned out last Thursday night to honor State Representative Eugenia S. Chapman, D-Arlington Heights, at a $25 a plate campaign fund-raising dinner.

The audience heard guest speaker State Representative Paul F. Elward, D-Chicago, praise Mrs. Chapman's role in the sponsorship and passage of several key educational bills in the 1965 session of the legislature.

Elward, majority whip of the General Assembly, pointed particularly to the local representative's sponsorship of the Junior College Act in urging her re-election.

"It is extremely important that we get quality people back in Springfield," he said, "especially those with special knowledge and expertise in areas such as education. There are continuing problems in implementing these bills, which her experience can help solve."

OTHER PLAUDITS for Mrs. Chapman came from the master of ceremonies Dr. Frank Smith, member of the Board of Education for High School District 214; Assistant to the Superintendent Jack Martin; Wheeling Township Democratic Committeeman James Stavros; and Congressional Candidate James McCabe of Arlington Heights.

Stavros challenged the audience to make the June 14 primary the greatest in history for the Democratic Party in northwest suburbs.

"All the battles are won in the primaries," he said. "We need votes and volunteers in June, and we don't care where they come from. We have never been divided in this township. We'll welcome the egghead or the regular to send our lady lion back to Springfield."

Other candidates present at the dinner, held in Wheeling's Union Hotel, were Norman Nelson of Elk Grove Village, who is running for the state senate, and Herman Koeneman of Arlington Heights, who is seeking a post on the Cook County Board of Commissioners.

THOSE ATTENDING the dinner included Supt. Harold Slichenmyer, Supt.-elect Edward Gilbert, and Board Member Arthur Aronson of High School District 214; Board Members Bud Bernstein and Paul O'Dea of Junior College District 301; Principal Stephen Caruso of Lincoln School, Mount Prospect; President Alex Kruzel of the Illinois Adult Education Association; president Charles Payne of the Mount Prospect Park District; Judge Walter P. Dahl of the Cook County Juvenile Court; and Mrs. Catherine Anagnost, past president of the National Association of Women Lawyers.

Shepard School Class of 1946 Plans Reunion

A 20-year class reunion is being planned for the June, 1946, class of Shepard School, located on the west side of Chicago in the area of California, Roosevelt, Kedzie and Arthington Streets.

The planning committee still needs the addresses of 42 of the 62 alumni before it can send out invitations to the dinner-dance scheduled for Sept. 17 at Montana's Restaurant and Lounge, 5907 W. North Ave., Chicago, from 7 p.m. to midnight.

Anyone who is either a member of the Class of 1946, or who knows the address of a member, is requested to contact Virginia Petrone Knack at 366-0227 or Theresa Brogno Losurdo at 369-5417. (A15

Seabee Volunteers Wanted for Navy

The war in Viet Nam has prompted the Navy to resort to a volunteer program which has not been used since World War II.

In a high priority drive to attract skilled construction workers to serve in the famed Seabees, or, construction battalions, the Navy will permit qualified workers, 17 to 40 years of age, to enlist at the petty officer level and bypass the normal nine week's basic recruit training.

Enlistments will be for a minimum of two years — half the normal length of other Navy enlistments.

On April 22, Captain T. E. Barnett, CEC, USN, the director of the Navy's Midwest Division, Bureau of Yards and Docks at Great Lakes, Ill., sent out an urgent appeal for volunteers to 135 building and construction trades councils in as many cities throughout the Ninth Naval District, which comprises 13 midwestern states.

HE REQUESTED that the union officials inform their members of the volunteer program and the advantages it offers to young men who have military obligations.

Under the plan a construction man will be rated directly as petty officer third class if he has 32 months of building training or experience; second class petty officer for four years; and first class petty officer for seven years, one of which was employed as sub-foreman.

The new Seabees will take a quick petty officer indocrination course and then will be assigned to battalions, where they will be employed in their building specialties. Families of enlistees will be entitled to the same privilgees granted to other military dependents.

More detailed information may be obtained from Carl I. Montoya, PC1 USN, located at 19 N. Brockway, Palatine, Ill., phone 358-6210.

Seven major ratings are opened to the Seabees — builder, construction mechanic, steelworker, construction electrician, engineering aide, construction equipment operator, and utilityman. These ratings are divided in subspecialities which include virtually all building and construction trades. (B10

"You can't tell me Paddock is a local paper, it's printed in Arlington Heights."

Weekly Ritual

Monday, or any day of the week, Paddock Publications proves its merit as a local newspaper, telling the inside of the news about your town, your schools, your parks and villages. Covering this beat has been its job ever since the turn of the century when 'old H. C.' first pulled his buggy into town.

The press has changed since then. The old flatbed became a Miehle, then a Duplex, then a Rotary that grew from 16 to 32 to 40 to 48 pages. But it's always been mounted in Arlington Heights, as 15 additional editions sprang from the granddaddy Cook County Herald. It's cheaper that way, printing 17 suburban newspapers from one plant.

It's our responsibility to serve all of our communities in the best way possible — local news presented in interesting manner, written by editors who understand the local scene. And it takes a lot of pages to do the job, as well as determination to read it all.

Thanks for trying.

Harsh Detergents Can Harm Carpets

When doing your spring cleaning avoid spilling or spot cleaning your carpeting with the harsh detergents used for washing walls, hardwood floors, and woodwork, cautions Cecil E. Treadway, vice president of General/Boushelle Corp.

While these household cleaners may be excellent for cutting dirt and grease that have accumulated throughout the winter, they may have a disastrous effect upon carpeting, he warns.

Although these harsh detergents may remove a stain on the carpeting, they may also cause an adverse effect on the dye or fiber producing a permanent stain of their own.

IF SUCH A solution is spilled on the carpeting, it should be blotted immediately, he advises. Small amounts of plain water should then be applied to the area followed by blotting.

A vinegar solution (1/3 cup white vinegar to 2/3 cup lukewarm water) should then be used to moisten the area lightly, and then absorbed with tissues. Lastly, place a layer of tissues ½ inch thick over the area and weight down with books for six hours.

While these detergents are excellent household cleaners, they were not meant to and should not be used on soft floor coverings, Treadway points out.

A neutral synthetic detergent is the only type which should be used for spot cleaning carpeting. (O

Want Relaxation? Try a 'Tree House'

Since everyone is entitled to solitude and quiet comfort once in a while, every family should have a get-away-from-it-all room.

"Like a youngster's tree house, such a room affords opportunity for relaxation, contemplation or concentrated effort on a hobby," suggests John Concord, home improvement director for Masonite Corp.

The room may be in some isolated location such as a back porch, an attic or basement. A large bedroom could readily be divided for the purpose, he said.

TO PROVIDE the essential comfortable atmosphere, the home owner wanting to install a "quiet" room should consider adequate lighting, ventilation, comfortable furniture, good looking curtains or draperies, facilities for a hobby or other restful activity, and walls that are nice appearing and require little care.

If an attic is chosen, rafters and floor need attention.

Concord recommends Masonite Royalcote woodgrained hardboard panels for covering the insulated rafters and open studs. These factory-finished decorator panels come in teak, cherry, walnut, oak, pecan and birch, giving the home owner a wide choice of colors and grains.

Advantages of the hardboard factory-finished panels are their low cost, fine appearance, easy installation and simple maintenance through damp wiping, Concord siad.

IF THERE'S floor, rough flooring should be installed and covered with hardboard underlayment. Over that may be laid an inexpensive flexible floor covering. Purpose of the underlayment is to minimize war on the top floor surface. It has a sound deadening effect, too.

Simple, inexpensive shelves can be bracketed on Peg-Board panels. The popular perforated hardboard panels now are available prefinished. Of course, the plain ones can be painted with a roller.

A get-away-from-it-all room may be furnished to meet various tastes of family members, Concord added. It might include a record player, slide projection equipment, an easy chair for reading, a desk for hobbies or letter writing, and a cot for snoozers. (O

Natural Drainage Law Is Toughened

Our surface water laws are based on the law of gravity and what is called the rule of "natural" flow. That is, a lower landowner must accept surface water in natural channels, and he may not dam or obstruct the flow, causing the water to back up on his neighbor, says Norm Krausz, Department of Agricultural Economics, University of Illinois.

Now a new Illinois law passed in 1965 makes the restraint even tougher. It states that a landowner shall not wilfully or intentionally interfere with any ditches or natural drains in any way that causes them to become so obstructed as to materially impede the flow of water.

THERE ARE two exceptions—a landowner can do as he wishes with ditches and drains that are entirely on his own land, and he may construct artificial impoundments, even to the extent of temporarily interrupting the flow of water.

With a gentle slope, this could mean that only the kind of soil and water conservation measures that are generally approved would meet the test. Ponding the water excessively by artificial means or raising the level of the channel by filling in or plowing into it, may be a violation. Such activity could be construed as intentional interference with a ditch or drain.

With steeper slopes, this legal restriction is not generally so serious because the water usually flows away from an upper owner at a rapid rate. At least, any impedance or interference with water flow would usually not be "material," or sustained over a long period of time.

THE LAW PUTS teeth into this new provision with criminal penalties. A violator is subject to a fine of $50 to $500 for each day that he wilfully and intentionally interferes with such drains in any way that materially impedes the flow of water. This fine is in addition to any civil damages that may be assessed for damages to crops, buildings, animals or other property.

These penalties are pretty rough. Therefore, be sure that your water gets over your dam.

Climate Control Becomes Simple

Obtaining the proper climate for the interior of your home is almost as simple as buying the groceries. Given a few facts about the size of your home, an appliance dealer can help you select the room cooler that will suit your needs perfectly.

Commonwealth Edison Company reports that over 121,000 of its customers in Chicago and northern Illinois followed this advice last year and made their homes delightfully comfortable during the hot summer months.

ROOM COOLERS are manufactured in sizes from 5,000 BTU capacities to about 24,000 BTU. A BTU is a unit of heat measurement. It indicates the heat your furnace produces to combat cold and the amount of heat an air conditioner must remove to provide proper cooling. The various models will cool room areas from 135 square feet to about 1,100 square feet.

The three most popular sizes of room coolers are the 8,000, 12,000- and 18,000-BTU units. These will cool rooms of approximately 400, 650 and 900 square feet respectively.

A 115-volt air conditioner with a name plate rating of not over seven - and - one - half amperes may be connected to a 120-volt outlet, even though the circuit also supplies as many as nine 60-watt lamps or equivalent. Usually this applies only to units of 8,000-BTU capacity or less.

WIRING authorities advise that 12,000-BTU units should be placed on separate 240-volt circuits. This avoids blowing fuses and interference with the operation of other appliances. An appliance dealer's advice on this point is generally reliable.

By promoting natural evaporation of moisture from the skin, room coolers greatly reduce the discomfort of excess humidity. Filters in the unit help keep the house clean. They also reduce the pollen intake and provide relief for hay fever sufferers.

Time for Remodeling? Pick Builder with Care

Remodeling can be a rewarding experience for a homeowner—if he feels he has received a good job at a fair price.

There are more good remodelers today than ever before, with inventive ideas, skilled workmen and exciting new materials. But to guard against the few questionable firms, The Aluminum Association offers these tips:

THE REMODELING contractor should be chosen with the same care as a family physician. Look through the phone book for names that are well known, or check with your local Better Business Bureau or Chamber of Commerce.

In the case of aluminum siding, as an example, you should ask friends who have had good jobs done for the name of their contractor.

Ask the contractor to show you recent jobs. Talk with these homeowners. Make certain that the applicator you are considering is the same who actually did their work.

Get a total of two or more bids on your job, specifying what is wanted and spelling out exactly how much siding is to be installed. Be certain the quote includes all materials, accessories and labor.

NEVER MAKE a deal without a written contract. Lack of a written agreement can lead to misunderstanding, hard feelings and loss of money.

If you ask the contractor to make changes while the work is in progress, request that he put the costs for the changes in writing. You will be asked to sign this agreement and attach your copy to the original contract.

Be sure the contract includes a detailed cost estimate and the total price. It also should include terms of payment and a statement that the premises will be clean upon completion of the job.

Of course, it's always wise to have an attorney check the document for more protection. Sign the completion certificate only when the job has been completed in accordance with the contract or sales agreement. (O

Air Conditioning Horizons Expand

Builders of new homes have come to look upon whole-house air conditioning as an essential rather than as a luxury.

Commonwealth Edison Co. reports that 25,000 homes in its Chicago and northern Illinois service area were completely air conditioned by electricity last year and estimates that 35,000 more will be so equipped in 1966.

This growing trend toward comfortable summer living is due largely to the thousands who have used room coolers in apartments or in single rooms of their homes.

Having enjoyed delightful indoor atmosphere from small units during previous hot summers, they are now air conditioning entire old houses or specifying it as a must in new homes.

FOR AS LITTLE as $800, an average six-room house can be completely air conditioned. This covers both installation charges and the cost of a 24,000-BTU unit, which can be operated for about 40 cents per day.

A whole-house air conditioner is actually a refrigerating system which cools and dehumidifies the air throughout the house. Excess moisture is automatically extracted from the air as it is cooled. Dust and pollen are filtered out at the same time.

This cooled and dehumidified air is then wafted to every room, keeping them all at a comfortable level of temperature and humidity.

If you are enlarging your home, or planning a new one, be sure to include whole-house air conditioning for unlimited comfort in this and future summers.

HINTS TO HOMEOWNERS

by Richard H. DeLano, Associate Farm Advisor

ALERT HOMEOWNERS DIAL DAILY 392-3060

The latest trend in landscaping with trees is to use multi-purpose varieties.

No group of trees fills this order better than fruit trees. They give bloom in spring, shade in summer, and limited amounts of fruit in fall. The amounts of fruit is only limited by the faithfulness with which the sprays are applied throughout the summer.

Another point in favor of fruit trees is the fact that they can be tailored to size. Dwarf trees which may not reach over 12 feet can be used in even the smallest patio garden. Patio gardens can use the new dwarf peach Bonanza in tubs which can be moved to an unheated garage or basement in winter.

TO DETERMINE the number of fruit trees that can be used in your yard allow 10 to 12 feet between dwarf apple trees, 15 to 18 feet for dwarf pears and 20 to 25 feet for standard size fruit trees.

The variety you select is very important. Based on actual observations it has been determined by the Horticulture Department at the University of Illinois that certain varieties of fruit trees are much better adapted to cold northern Illinois sites than others.

Apples, which should start bearing in four to seven years are divided into three groups.

RECOMMENDED summer varieties are Stark Earliest, Lodi, Red Melba, Early Blaze, Beacon and Red Jefferis.

Early fall varieties: Minjon, Red McIntosh, Cortland, Red Jonathan and Victory.

Fall: Golden Delicious, Secor, Connell Red and Spartan.

For the best fruit production plant at least two varieties of both apples and pears. IF recommended varieties are used pears will bear in four to six years.

Pear varieties of choice are Maxine, Seckel, Duchess and Flemish Beauty which is also called Parker.

PEACHES ARE difficult to grow here. However, when one is successful, success comes early. Production starts in three or four years. However, only the very hardiest varieties will survive. Try in protected locations Polly, a white peach, Prairie Dawn or Sunapee.

If plums are considered, plant two or more varieties and expect fruit in four to six years. The best varieties for this area are Underwood, Superior, Dura, Sapa, Stanley, Reine Claude, and Shropshire, a Damson type.

Sour cherries will start to bear in four to five years. It is not necessary to plant more than one variety since sour cherries are self-pollinating. cherries are self-pollinating. The best varieties are Early Montmorency, Morency, and the dwarf sour cherry, Meteor. The semi-sweet variety May Duke can be planted in this area as well as the bush cherry, Orient. Orient is of value beacuse it requires only a limited amount of care.

Sweet cherries and apricots are not recommended for this area. (O

Instant Hot Water with Pipe Loop

When you turn on the hot water faucet to wash your hands or take a bath, do you have to run the water until it gets hot enough?

You can avoid wasting precious water this way by using a circulating system, says the Illinois Association of Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Contractors.

IT CONSISTS of a loop of pipe installed between the water heater and the individual fixtures. The circulating system keeps hot water constantly in motion between the water heater and the fixtures, making it available immediately when a faucet is turned on.

Such a circulating system is especially desirable in a house with more than one bathroom or in a ranch-type house that has long runs of pipe. Installing the circulating loop is a comparatively simple job, but it should be done by a plumbing contractor's experienced journeyman. (O

4-H'ers Pitch In To Beautify Homes

Spring, or any other time, is just right for adding a bit of cheery color, a cozy nook, draperies, or an entire new decor to the home. At least that's what scores of 4-H Club members are doing as part of their home improvement project.

It is amazing what these teenagers, and even pre-teens, have done to beautify their own rooms, and often all the other rooms in the family dwelling.

Projects vary according to ability and need, but the young homemakers learn the basics of painting, papering, choice of color, texture and design, furniture and floor refinishing, sewing and purchasing.

AT THE CLOSE of the 4-H Club year, the 4-H staff of the Cooperative Extension Service will judge completed projects for county, state and national awards. Donor of the home improvement awards for the fifth straight year is The S&H Foundation, Inc. Six $500 scholarships will go to national winners.

Examples of what 4-H'ers can accomplish is told in the records of three recent national scholarship winners, all named Linda.

Linda No. 1 had the thrill of helping to renovate an old farmhouse which her parents had purchased to make more room for the growing family of six. Linda tackled painting, tiling, sanding floors and refinishing furniture. She did research on lighting and also made bedspreads and curtains for her own room.

A brand new house was the starting place for Linda No. 2, who had previously collected an idea scrapbook on home beautification. She took on a man-sized share of the interior decorating from the bare walls to making a novel lamp from a "large balloon and spray starch."

More than 70 different home improvements were scored by the third Linda over a seven-year period. She studied flower arrangement, color, texture and design as she advanced in her projects. Her method for making glass mosaics gained national fame.

After transforming her bedroom into a cozy retreat Linda went to work on her brother's room. She used the bright hues of his miniature car collection for the decorating colorz.

No-Paint Boat

The grayish surface you may see on your aluminum boat this spring is normal after its winter hiatus—it's merely surface oxidation that will vanish under a good healthy scrub and polish. Your aluminum boat doesn't need a coat of paint to protect it from the elements.(O

Bathroom Remodeling Tips Given

If you're thinking of remodeling your bathroom this year, here are some tips from the Illinois Association of Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Contractors.

1. Give a lot of thought to your color choice. You'll be living with the bathroom for a long time, so make sure the colors you select are liked by everyone in the family.

2. When selecting the water closet, consider its mechanical function as well as its appearance. The better ones are virtually silent. They cost more than the noisier kind but once you've heard the difference, you probably won't want to settle for a cheaper model.

3. IF YOU HAVE enough room, get a countertop lavatory. Not only does it give a richer look to the room it offers two major conveniences: counters for placing grooming articles adjacent to the bowl, and storage space beneath.

4. Seek out the services of a plumbing contractor who offers the "complete remodeling package." He'll explain the different types and qualities of fixtures available. He has experience in bathroom layout. Not only will he offer you his original ideas, he'll incorporate your own into his final design.

He'll also coordinate the entire job, so that you need deal only with one tradesman instead of half a dozen (such as tile man, carpenter, electrician, etc.). Finally, he'll help you arrange for financing. (O

Bohac Transferred To Wheeling High

Frank Bohac, presently director of student activities at Arlington High School, has been appointed acting assistant principal for administrative services at Wheeling High School.

He will serve as assistant principal while the current assistant principal, Clarence Miller, is on a one year sabbatical to further his education.

Bohac has been in District 214 for the past 10 years. The last three he has been Director of Student Activities at Arlington. The seven previous years were spent as a math teacher. During this time he also coached baseball and basketball.

BEFORE COMING to Arlington, Bohac taught at Braidwood, Ill., for seven years.

He received his master's degree in education at the University of Illinois.

Bohac looks upon his appointment as "an exciting new experience." He is looking forward to meeting old friends who left Arlington to come to Wheeling.

4-H Enrollment Is Open Until June 1

Boys and girls between the ages of 9 and 19 can enroll in the 4-H club program for 1966 by joining an active 4-H club or organizing new 4-H clubs before June 1.

More than a hundred projects or phases of projects are available to 4-H club members, according to Merlyn Heyen and Jean Rushton, members of the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Staff working in North Suburban Cook County. Most of the projects remain open for enrollment until June 1.

Projects include flower, vegetable and indoor gardening, conservation, photography, dog care, bird study, entomology, rabbit raising, electricity, small motors, baking, ABC's of foods, sewing and many more. Most boys and girls, whether they live in the suburbs, on a small tract of land or on a farm, can find projects to interest them.

A NEW PROJECT in tropical fish raising has just been made available. In the first year phase of the project members enrolling are required to care for at least four tropical fish in a suitable aquarium with basic equipment. The exhibit at the 4-H Fair will be a pair of fish exhibited in a bowl. Advanced phases of the project call for members to raise their own fish.

New 4-H club groups can be organized when five or more boys and girls are interested in organizing a club and have secured an adult to serve as leader. 1966 4-H clubs must have their program under way by June 1.

For more information contact the 4-H club leader in your area, the County Extension Office at 201 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights, or the Main Post Office building, Des Plaines.

Postpone Action on Bus Service for High School

Which bus company will haul next year's Elk Grove High School students will not be determined, after all, until next Monday's District 214 board meeting.

This week's special board session on the bus question ended just short of 1 a.m. Tuesday with Pres. Hal Armstrong wearily shunting the matter to next week.

At that time, the administration will be asked to give costs, and firm route schedules, for using present hauler Cook County School Bus Company exclusively again next year.

COOK COUNTY had been proposed by board member William Griffith as sole hauler for all the district's schools, including Elk Grove, just minutes before that. But Griffith's motion was halted when he found cost figures missing.

Board action halted, at an already-late hour, while Frank Coleman, director of business services, and Cameron Wren, general manager of Cook County Bus Company, tried to work the figures out. Armstrong watched them for a few minutes, then directed the matter be postponed.

Bids of three other companies — Schaumburg Transportation Company, Davidsmeyer Bus Service and Ritzenthaler Bus Company — are also being held over for another week. All had submitted, at Coleman's request, bids on service to Elk Grove High School only.

He did so after board transportation chairman, Mrs. Leah Cummins, suggested the school district diversify its bus operations — and take the strain off Cook County — by considering another company for Elk Grove hauling. Bids were opened on April 25, with decision postponed supposedly until Monday's meeting.

The transportation plan favored by Griffith for its lower cost, was originally suggested by the school administration on March 28 but shunted aside by the board at that time. It calls for Cook County Bus Company to operate 65 buses — an increase of just two — next year.

ELK GROVE High School, under this plan, would be assigned 15 buses with no double runs, an arrangement which board member Arthur Aronson Monday termed "near ideal service."

All bids submitted by competing firms for Elk Grove service only would require some double runs and higher cost to the district, since these companies will not be able to dovetail service — as Cook County does now.

At last Monday's meeting, for the first time, definite figures were available on transportation needs to the new Elk Grove High.

Dr. Donald Thomas, Elk Grove principal, said that enrollment completed for 1,320 students includes 79 needing hauling from Bensenville addresses, 115 from Elk Grove Village, 16 from Roselle, 567 from the Des Plaines' High Ridge Knolls area, 20 with Arlington Heights postal addresses and 60 in what he termed "fringe areas."

BOTH ARMSTRONG and Mrs. Cummins, who has pursued with vigor questions of school administration supervision of bus service and accounting practices, questioned bids made without that information.

Bruce Ritzenhaler, agreed. "Without this information we cannot intelligently bid. We made a logical estimate based on where the houses are," he stated.

Asked if they wished to change or withdraw their bids, only Ritzenthaler responded by submitting an alternate to use larger-capacity buses. But he conceded that his firm's offer would still require double runs, unwanted by the board, to High Ridge Knolls.

Representatives, from Ritzenthaler and Davidsmeyer, said Monday they would consider nothing less than a three-year contract if they were to supply numbers of buses to the school district.

Wren said if he too submitted an Elk Grove-only bid he would need a three-year contract but would not if the administration's proposal, for just two buses, more, were okayed. (ACME

Lawyer Defends Actions Of School Bus Company

District 214 attorney Allyn Franke stayed to the yawn-provoking 12:45 a.m. end of a High School District 214 board meeting that started Monday evening.

He did so because there had been talk that Cameron Wren, general manager of Cook County Bus Co. which serves the district, was considering legal action if the school district contract for hauling next year's Elk Grove High School students went to another firm.

But Wren did not. Though his written statement referred to the "intent" of the contract's "exclusive service feature," when questioned directly he he said he had no question as to the board's legal right to diversify its bus service.

INSTEAD, Wren gave an impassioned defense of his bus company. in answer to criticism of its service and accounting records.

Wren said he felt it was time to "refute, rebut and respond to the many malicious rumors, accusations and implications" in press reports of board members' criticism against the bus company.

He asserted that bus management and service had improved steadily, with shortage of drivers being the sole problem.

Wren admitted slowness in reporting refunds due for routes not covered, but added that billing for amounts due the bus company for extra runs had been slower, too. "At all times during this period our accounts receivable from the district were equal to or greater than the service adjustments owed," he asserted.

"There has been seldom or ever an occasion when a route was not covered, per se," Wren added. The refunds of $7,176.25 made to the district were, he said for runs covered in double shifts.

WREN DID not explain why refunds were often made at a $6.25 rate instead of the $12.50 called for in the contract. Nor did he answer board member Leah Cummins' request for information on refund payments last year, when there were also times when the full complement of busses could not be supplied.

Mrs. Cummins to whom Wren addressed many of his remarks, answered in part by repeating an earlier statement. "I started out being critical of the bus company, continued by being critical of the administration, and progressed till I see the board of education is to blame for not setting firm policies."

She added, "I am to blame myself, since as secretary of the board I signed the bus contract." (ACME

Principal To Teach in Champaign

Dr. Donald Thomas, Elk Grove High School principal, will teach two courses at the University of Illinois at Champaign this summer.

He will teach a course in school law and share supervision of a pre-doctoral seminar in school problems.

APPROVAL for Dr. Thomas to receive 13 additional days off this summer in addition to his regular vacation time so that he could teach the course, was given by the High School District 214 board on April 25.

So that there will be no break in planning for Elk Grove High School's opening this fall, arrangements have been made for assistant principals Thomas Rife or Donald Fyfe be in charge at the new school during Dr. Thomas' absence.

Large-Lot Subdivision Protected

Residents of the Cepek subdivision south of Central Road were given assurances by the Arlington Heights Village Board Monday that it will preserve the character of their large-lot subdivision.

The assurances came as the board approved the rezoning of three lots in that portion of the subdivision north of Central Road; effect of the zoning change was to reduce lot size there. The lots are on the west side of Walnut Avenue, between Kirchoff and Central. The board agreed to go on record favoring large lots south of Central at the urging of Robert Bishop, a resident of the subdivision. (A

Heir Dies Without Collecting Fortune

Retired Yugoslav Marshal-General Milan S. Majstorovich, 1917 S. Arlington Heights Road, Elk Grove Village, died last week without receiving $100 million promised him three years ago by King Peter II, former monarch of Yugoslavia.

Majstorovich, 68, died Monday, April 25, following a heart attack. He was honored by Serbian National Defense members at Muzyka and Son Funeral Home in Chicago. Burial was at St. Sava Cemetery in Libertyville.

Two years ago Majstorovich made news after he returned to King Peter II a treasure book worth the king's family fortune of 375 million gold dinar, the Yugoslav currency. Majstorovich returned the valued book while the king was visiting Chicago.

THE GRATEFUL ruler promised to give Majstorovich 10 per cent of the family fortune if the royal funds, lost during the war, could ever be recovered.

Majstorovich had guarded the book for more than 20 years after he captured it from Nazi forces in Germany during World War II. Majstorovich spent four years in the German prison camp, Dachau. None of his family survived the war.

He once promised he would donate part of the money to six needy families in the Arlington Heights area if he ever received the fortune.

Majstorovich, a shoe repairman, lived in the Arlington Heights area for more than 12 years. (A(E

Curtain Tomorrow for 'One Foot in Heaven'

The cast for "One Foot in Heaven" is working excitedly this week to go on stage Friday and Saturday nights at 8 p.m. in the last Lake Park High School Thespian production of the year. "We expect a sell-out," says director Donald Hazen.

"One Foot in Heaven" opens as a minister and his family arrive at their new parish to be greeted with a dilapidated parsonage and members of the congregation voicing selfish opinions about how the church should be run. Crises arise when Rev. Spence tries to establish some of his own ideas.

HAZEN HAS praised the cast highly. Jill Barron, who plays staunch church member Mrs. Cambridge "has really put herself into the part," he says.

Kathy Robinson as teen-ager Eileen Spence and Terry Haas as Dr. Romer have also come in for praise. And cast members think Mary Lamprech as the dowager Mrs. Sandow is excellent.

Last Wednesday night the cast held their first rehearsal in the auditorium. The stage crew had flats up, painted with an imprinted roller to simulate the look of wall paper. Walls are done in tired shades of brown to look like a parsonage unlived in for years.

Before rehearsal Thomas Heinrich, an accomplished musician, strummed and sang one of the numbers he as a boy, Ronny, and several friends will do during the play.

Parts had been memorized, but prompter Sharon Daugherty was on the wings to take care of a few stumbles. Hazen was coaching the players on intonation, gestures and footing.

REAL STAGE characters were emerging as young players forgot their self consciousness and became the people they play.

George Thorsen is growing sideburns for his part as Rev. Spence. He and red-haired Donald Little, who plays his teenage son Hartzell, worked to perfect a scene where the two clash.

Karen Wisniewski is quite believable as the indignant Mrs. Digby, who is having her choir taken away. Also doing well are Linda Hirsch as Mrs. Spence and Kathie Nosko as the 16-year-old who declares she will be "the first woman President of the United States."

Tickets are $1 for adults, 50 cents for students and may be bought from any cast member or at the door. (5Y

Three Lake Park High School students have recently received honors, one in science and the others in writing.

Freshman Victoria Lange, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Lange of 225 E. Maple, Roselle, has been given a full scholarship by the Roselle Garden Club to attend the six-day Conservation Workshop at Western Illinois University.

Junior Jill Barron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Barron of 323 E. Division, Itasca, last week received word that one of her poems submitted to the High School Poetry Association will be published in the Illinois edition of the National Poetry Anthology.

SENIOR PAMELA Havenga, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Havenga of 60 Picton Rd., Roselle, will have her editorial "Bravery vs. Courage" published in the Chicago Tribune "Voice of Youth" column one of the first Sundays in May, according to "Voice of Youth" editor Genevieve Flavin.

At the Conservation Workshop, Miss Lange will explore farming, wildlife, and human conservation in classes and fieldtrips July 17-22. James Reardon of Roselle received the Garden Club scholarship last summer.

Miss Barron says she does not know which of her three poems submitted was picked for publication in the anthology. Her English teacher, Daryl Schultz, responsible for sending in the poems, says her poems show "depth, perception, and maturity of thought in terms of her age and experience."

Jill will receive a medal and a copy of the anthology in August.

MISS HAVENGA originally wrote her editorial for a journalism class, then submitted it to the Tribune.

She will receive $5. In addition, she and journalism adviser Mrs. Linda Hughes, will attend a luncheon given by the Tribune for all "Voice of Youth" contributors May 14. (5Y

PROSPECT HIGH SCHOOL

Spring Concert

On May 14 at 8 p.m., the annual spring concert of the Prospect music department will be presented in the Prospect Fieldhouse.

Participating from the choral department will be the freshman girls chorus, the girls' chorus, and a combination of the mixed chorus and choir.

Sterling Mische will direct the choruses with the help of Miss Cathie Furch, student teacher, who will direct the girls chorus in a few numbers.

Both the symphonic band and the concert band will also perform. They will be under the direction of Howard Sandlund and Terry Blackley.

The major highlight of the evening will be three compositions arranged by senior James P. Grady. Two of the numbers are choral compositions which will be performed by a small, select choir.

The other selection is a composition for two pianos which will be played by Jim and Blackley.

PALATINE HIGH SCHOOL

Girls Stater Picked

Debbie Hodgson has been chosen by the juniors, faculty, and American Legion auxiliary to be Palatine's representative at Girls State June 21 to 28 at MacMurray college in Jacksonville.

Each of the 498 high school junior girls chosen for the honor are judged on honesty, leadership, good character, scholarship, cooperativeness and good health.

The purpose of Girls State, sponsored by the American Legion auxiliary, is to provide citizenship training. The girls form two political (non-partisan) parties, hold conventions, campaigns, and elections and perform the duties of public offices.

SCHOOL PAPER HONORED

Palatine's Cutlass (newspaper) received honorable mention and Jan Maycan placed first in the editorial category in the 1966 Brotherhood Week press project sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Jan will receive an engraved medallion and a $35 gift certificate. Palatine High will receive a certificate of merit and a $10 check for the place held by the Cutlass.

Jan's editorial was titled "All Includes Everyone, Whites Too." Its theme was that brotherhood meant how all people treated each other and that people within a race needed to be more considerate of each other.

The Brotherhood issue sent to the contest was the Cutlass of Feb. 23. It included a feature on Student Human Relations Council, a letter from Ed Himes in Nigeria, poems and cartoons as well as the usual coverage of school news.

The Proviso schools took first and second places for the overall issue.

DeKalb Trip

With plans for two papers next year, one at Fremd and one at Palatine, 10 students together with Miss Christa Jo Altier and Mrs. Florence Salzer will go to the spring conference of the Northern Illinois High School Press association at DeKalb Saturday.

Going for Fremd will be Chris English, Betsy Orlieb, Tim Bradley, Betty Otto, and Alice Hansen.

Representing Palatine will be Terry Dragoo, Jan Maycan, Karen Bock, Dorothy Regan, and Chris Ebert.

ST. VIATOR HIGH SCHOOL

Show Nets $1,800

"Sorry about that!" yelled Larry Mueller as he covered Jim Ryan's sportcoat with shaving cream. And that ended the two-night run last week of St. Viator High School's third annual variety show, ". . .Sorry About That. . ." Ryan walked slowly off stage, wondering what happened to Jim Miller, the show's other emcee, who apparently had escaped unscathed.

The show filled St. Viator's auditorium twice, netting about $1,800 in all. Consisting of 15 acts, the show was typically slapstick, with innumerable faces splattered with pies.

FOREST VIEW HIGH SCHOOL

Orchesis Tryouts

Resulting from Orchesis tryouts April 22 and 25, 36 new orchesis members from Forest View High School were chosen for the 1966-67 school year. These 36 members were all underclassmen.

The girls who will be in Orchesis next year are (juniors) Sue Amon, Pat Ayers, Bonnie Berglund, Linda Dunnigan, Norma Eckert, Liz Fenn, Lynn Fyfe, Linda Glass, Marcia Halvarsen, Terrie Hysell, Karen McKelvey, Bev Potter, Jackie Raschke, Sue Rhead, Donna Roberts, Pat Tenerowicz, Barb Teslik, Kathy Washburn.

(Sophomores) Elaine Casper, Liana Cope, Sharon Eberhard, Sue Glassner, Kathy Halstead, Terry Helfenbein, Denise Higgins, Carol Johnson, Jan McElwain, Lynn Pardee, Pam Shumann, Carole Schwake, Pat Sullivan, Kathy Stack Kay Swenson.

(Freshmen) Debbie Dahlgren, Diane Donato, Marcia Halvarsen.

Field Trip

Thirty-six publications students from Forest View High School last week toured the Chicago Daily News-Sun Times building in the Chicago Loop. They were accompanied by their advisor, Richard Carey.

After the tour, the group ate lunch at the Pickle Barrel in Old Town and then — back to school!

The students were members of the Journalism I and Journalism II classes, other members of the Viewer (school newspaper) staff and members of the Talon (yearbook) staff.

Freshman Showcase

You don't believe in talented freshmen? Well, May 25, 26, and 27, are the days for non-believers to find out that Forest View does have talented freshmen.

On these days, 7th hour in the theater, Freshman Showcase will take place. Freshman Showcase is a collection of cuttings from plays that will be acted by freshmen and directed by juniors and seniors from the dramatics class.

Miss Sherry Edmunds, a dramatics sponsor, said, "The purpose of Freshman Showcase is to let freshmen get on the stage and show their talents and to give juniors and seniors a chance to direct."

The plays being used in the show are "The Marriage Proposal," "The Metronome," "Eloise," "Rumplestiltzkin," "Raisin in the Sun," "Member of the Wedding," "Father of the Bride" and an original pantomime.

Cheerleaders Picked

Something new? You bet! Next year's cheerleaders have been chosen at Forest View High School.

The girls who took part in the clinics held April 11, 12, and 13, practiced various cheers, splits, jumps and various other essentials.

Those chosen for varsity were Meredyth Buckholz, Laurie Barish, Kim Garrity, Cindy Boddy, Pam Ekblad and Peg Amon.

The JV squad consists of Kathy Sunblad, Kris Hayes, Lenore Kokai, Marti Engquist, Mary Schanken and Jan Randle.

Those who took part in the tryouts were judged on co-ordination, flexibility, pep, voice, spirit, appearance, poise and personality.

Photography Winner

Smile! Here comes Neil with his camera. Neil Krey, a junior at Forest View, has taken second place in the color division of the Paddock Randhurst Photography Contest held in March.

Neil modestly commented, "I didn't expect to win. I guess I was just lucky." The picture that Neil won with was of a pop bottle on a picnic table.

In the Scholastic Art Contest, Neil won two gold keys for his photographs. He and junior Randy Jones have been taking pictures for about a year now in the Audio-Visual program. He enjoys this very much and urges interested boys to join the club.

Class Gift Chosen

A statue for the school courtyard will be the senior class gift at Forest View High School, according to Jim Moroni, senior class president.

The gift was voted on last week at a senior class meeting. Other gifts under consideration were a small printing press, study carrels, water cooler, class flag and center jump circle.

John Courtright, senior class vice-president, is chairman of the gift committee.

John, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Courtright, 683 Love Street, Elk Grove Village, commented, "This year the problem of choosing a gift was especially hard because we had to decide between practical gifts or aesthetic gifts."

WHEELING HIGH SCHOOL

Record Hop

Clark Weber, WLS disc jockey, will emcee a record hop from 8 to 11:30 p.m. on May 14 in the field house of Wheeling High School.

All high school students are invited to attend this record hop. It will feature dance contests, free records and possibly a guest star.

The dress for this record hop will be casual.

This dance is sponsored by the Wheeling Instrumental League as a money-raising project to send the Wildcat Marching Band to the Minneapolis Aquatennial again this coming summer.

SACRED HEART OF MARY HIGH SCHOOL

School Rings

The junior class of Sacred Heart of Mary High School received their school rings last week in the 3rd Annual Ring Ceremony.

The event was witnessed by about 600 members of the student body and parents of the juniors receiving rings.

Ceremonies took place at St. Colette's Catholic Church in Rolling Meadows and were officiated by the Rev. James F. Halpin, who offered benediction and gave a sermon on the symbolism of the ring.

Music was provided by the SHM chorus, under the direction of Miss Jane Nolting, Des Plaines. They presented "Beautiful Savior," arranged by Christiansen.

Soloists were junior Mary Pat O'Brien, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond O'Brien of Arlington Heights; and senior Mary Ann Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Miller of Arlington Heights.

Sister Jerome, RSHM played the organ during benediction.

Earlier in the day, the sophomore class hosted a traditional luncheon for the juniors.

French Contest

Amy Ronan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Ronan, 1204 W. Lincoln, Mount Prospect, has won Honorable Mention in the National French Contest held at Loop Junior College.

Amy, a sophomore, received the highest award given to Sacred Heart of Mary High School.

Underwriters Lab Fascinates Class

Television sets baked in hot ovens, irons dropped from three stories up.

These were just some of the sights 30 Lake Park High School electronics and engineering students saw when they visited the Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc., main office and testing station in Chicago last week.

Underwriters' Laboratories tests American products for potential hazard to life, for fire, accident and theft hazard. Although sponsored by the American Insurance Association, it is self-supporting, with manufacturers paying for time and material.

THE CHICAGO station tests for the dangers of fire, accident, shock and explosion within the normal useful life of electrical equipment, as well as within certain stipulated abnormal conditions. Tests physically and electrically abuse equipment to see how much it can stand.

Television sets and irons seen by the students were being tested for shock hazard.

"Many boys came away wanting to work for the Laboratories," said electronics teacher Thomas Milleman, who accompsnirf yhrm.

Youth Day Council Votes Down Statue of 'Shadows'

The civic spotlight was on youth in Arlington Heights when Youth Day ceremonies were held Friday.

Representatives elected by the student bodies of three high schools in the village — St. Viator, Arlington and Forest View — met with village officials at the Municipal Building, were guests of the village and Junior Woman's and Woman's clubs at lunch and toured the Arlington Heights Nike base.

Each of the three schools elected mock village presidents, boards of trustees, village department heads and members of other official bodies.

AT A MOCK village board meeting, the student-trustees:

1) Voted down, 4 to 3, a suggestion to build a memorial fountain in front of the old Cellar teenage dance hall, with busts of Cellar owner Paul Sampson and the original Shadows of Knight,

2) Changed Friday night curfew to midnight,

3) Referred to the safety committee a suggestion that plastic mock-ups of police cars be used in imitation of radar traps, to relieve police for the job of directing traffic.

4) Asked the village attorney to get the state to repaint lane markings on Northwest Highway and

5) Referred to the plan commission a proposal to repave Goebbert Road near Forest View High School.

VILLAGE PRES. John G. Woods, who issued a certificate of participation to each student representative, said he hoped "you'll translate your interest in municipal government to the county, state and national levels."

Mrs. Ralph S. Davis of the Woman's Club announced the following scholarship winners during the luncheon session:

Wheeling's First Prom Laced in 'English Mist'

"English Mist," Wheeling High School's first prom, will be held on Friday, May 20, at Chevy Chase Country Club from 9 p.m. to midnight.

Tickets will go on sale May 9 during all lunch periods at $3 per couple. Only a junior or senior may buy the tickets and underclassmen cannot attend unless their date is an upper classman.

The prom, which is sponsored by the junior class, will be followed by an "after-the-prom" trip to the Chestnut Mountain Lodge, near Galena, Illinois. Any junior or senior may attend both.

CLASS BOARD members decided on the theme, "English Mist" because of the Old English decor of Chevy Chase. All decorations are in the Old English tradition, including banners, shields and a royal red carpet.

As is the tradition at most proms, each girl will receive a charm and bid. The prom charm is a delicate, sterling silver crown. Each couple will receive one upon entering the dance. Any extra charms may be sold after the prom to those wishing to buy them.

The bid, which has been printed, has a black suede cover with a silver crown and title imprinted on it. A dedication poem, a memory story (to be filled in), and the Loyalty Song are included. There is also a list of the class of 1967 officers, advisors, and prom chaperones.

The Marlow Orchestra will provide the music.

THE QUEEN AND her court will be senior girls. The five nominees will be selected by the senior homerooms. One ballot may be cast, per couple, when buying a ticket. Both juniors and seniors may vote.

The girl with the most votes will be crowned queen and during the dance given her crown and a presentation bouquet. The four members of her court will be crowned with tiaras and given a nosegay.

The Queen and court will also be presented with a special charm of the prom. All will reign until the dance is over.

The after-the-prom trip is for any junior or senior, whether attending the prom or not. Tentative plans are for buses to leave the school about 4:30 a.m. May 21.

After arriving at the Chestnut Mountain Lodge, students will be offered breakfast, lunch, horseback riding, and swimming. Also available are an excursion boat trip, swimming and hiking.

The return trip will last approximately from 4 p.m. to 8 p.m. Cost for the outing is about $15 per person. (10Y

Jeanne Labandt Awarded U. of Denver Scholarship

Jeanne Labandt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Labandt, 304 N. Lancaster Ave., Prospect Heights, senior at Wheeling High School, has been awarded one of six Alumni Scholarships to the University of Denver.

The scholarship, which covers tuition for four years, is worth about $6,000.

HER SELECTION as a recipient of this scholarship came as a surprise to Jeanne. "Even from the beginning, it didn't seem as if I were eligible for it," she said.

An alumni scholarship is usually awarded to a student who is recommended by a faculty member of a university. Not knowing this, Jeanne inquired about the scholarship and was told that she would qualify if she submitted four recommendations from teachers at Wheeling.

College Board SAT scores from January or February of the senior year was another requirement. Jeanne took the college boards in May of her junior year, but these scores were accepted.

THE recommendations and SAT scores, in addition to Jeanne's academic and extra-curricular record in high school, were considered by a board of judges at the University of Denver and resulted in her selection for one of the scholarships.

Jeanne said she will attend the University of Denver in the fall rather than other colleges that offered her scholarships, "because the curriculum is designed to allow the student to choose more of the courses that he is interested in."

"Getting away from home will also give me the opportunity to realize and develop my personal opinions and goals and take me a step closer to maturity," she said.

Jeanne will major in mathematics. She carries an "A" average in her studies and is ranked first in the senior class.

Her activities at Wheeling include Student Council officer, Spokesman (newspaper) editor, National Honor Society, Quill and Scroll and director of the Variety Show. (10Y

Zone Action Is Tabled By Trustees

Action on a rezoning request for the Pingle - Hildebrandt farms southwest of the Nike base was tabled Monday by the Arlington Heights Village Board.

The request was tabled until the next board meeting after Trustee John J. Walsh Jr. said he had learned a 136-acre parcel west of the farms has been purchased by a developer and preliminary plans for it may be available within a week. Walsh asked the board to wait until plans for the 136-acre parcel are available to determine whether development of the adjacent lands will be harmonious. (A

St. Viator to Give 'Twelve Angry Men'

By JIM MORAN

"What's the matter with you people? This kid is guilty! He's got to burn! We're letting him slip through our fingers!" McMahon yells excitedly.

"Our fingers," replied Hagstrom. "Are we his executioners?"

"You're damn right we are!"

"PERHAPS YOU'D like to pull the switch."

"For this kid, you'd bet I'd like to pull the switch!"

"You're a saddist. . ."

"Shut up!"

"You want to see this boy die because you personally wish it, not because of the facts. You're a beast. You disgust me!" Hagstrom's voice tinged with contempt.

"SHUT UP!" yelled McMahon as he flies at Hagstrom, clutching in his hand the knife which is still bloody from the murder which these men are supposed to be judging.

There were 12 of them, and each saw the boy accused of murdering his father in a different way. Yet, only Hagstrom held out for an acquittal, or at least a re-examination of the case.

The rest were unreasonably hostile to the kid, and they disgusted Hagstrom because of it. In that small, cramped jury room there were 12 angry men.

And in St. Viator High School's auditorium Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. these men will try to decide one man's fate in Reginald Owen's drama, "Twelve Angry Men."

THE PLAY, written in the 1940s, is being staged by seniors under the direction of James O'Neill. Since it was originally written without names for the characters, who were listed as Juror No. 1, No. 2, and so on, the actors have kept their real names on stage.

Dennis Hagstrom wipes the sweat from his brow. If that's the way Dan McMahon wants to have things, that's the way it will have to be.

Hagstrom surveys the faces of the jurors. He may be able to put some sense into John Helmer and Bob Rogowski, but he'll still have to contend with that loudmouthed salesman, Bill Roser.

TOM PILAT has just finished bitterly condemning the accused when John LaVigne stands up. "It's up to us to make the right decision on the basis of that knife and the testimony of two old men. Can we make the right decision?"

Can they? Come and see.

'Absentee Leadership' Hit by GOP Candidate

Thomas W. Novotny, candidate for Republican committeeman of Wheeling Township kicked off his formal campaign Sunday with an attack on "absentee leadership — past and proposed" in the local Republican organization.

"It should," he said, "have been predictable that a township grown tired of more than two years of absentee 'leadership' (by retiring committeeman Thomas J. Houser) should be offered a committeeman candidate — my opponent — who, by virtue of his conflicting responsibilities, would guarantee four more years of absentee "leadership.' "

IN HIS REMARKS, delivered to visitors at the formal opening of his campaign headquarters at 16 N. Vail Ave., Arlington Heights, Novotny scored his opponent as "hand-picked by a small clique" in the party and as having "no significant experience in the functions and responsibilities of a party leader."

Novotny said that the committeeman's function "is a position requiring 20 to 30 hours per week of dedicated effort in behalf of his party" and that he had given this kind of effort to the party for five years while his opponent had not.

Novotny asked, "Why would someone as busy fulfilling his obligations to the voters who elected him (as state representative), and to the family who looks to him for financial support, seek the additional responsibility of running a party organization?"

THE OPENING ceremonies were attended by an estimated 125 people at the open house between 2 and 5 p.m. on Sunday. Among the candidates who were present were William Moore, William Means and David Regner, all on the ballot for state representative, as is Novotny's opponent for committeeman, Eugene Schlickman. Mrs. Robert Hesse, wife of the fifth candidate for the two spots, also was present.

The campaign headquarters will be open daily from 1 to 3 p.m., and Saturdays from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. through May 15, according to Mrs. Franklin R. Friday, chairman of Republican Women for Novotny. Hours will be expanded thereafter. Questions concerning the campaign may be directed to "Republicans for Novotny" at 392-7624 during the hours of 9 a.m. through 9 p.m. (ACM

3 to Spend Summer In Argentina, Russia

By GERRY BOESCH

Three Conant High School students, Bonnie Lloyd, Sandy Tobolski and Bill Reed will spend this summer in Argentina and the Soviet Union.

Bonnie, who has been selected as Conant's foreign exchange student, will travel to Argentina this June. Sandy and Bill, members of the Red Squares, will tour the Soviet Union with 18 Forest View students, chaperoned by Conant and Forest View teachers.

Bonnie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lloyd, 68 Wayland Lane, Schaumburg, is a cheerleader at Conant. This year, she was chosen as junior Homecoming attendant. She has served as a Student Council senator and she has been a member of Crafts Club and GAA.

EVALUATED through interviews and general sessions, Bonnie was chosen for her leadership and poise.

An Argentinean family will serve as her host during her three months' stay, sponsored by International Fellowship. She will also attend school there.

Sandy and Bill, who plan to study at the University of Leningrad, will stop in London, Copenhagen, and Berlin on their way to the Soviet Union.

After receiving their diplomas from the university, they will spend a week in Moscow and then return home via Rome and Paris. A group of UCLA students will accompany them during part of their trip. (10Y

L. Q. Yowell, 441 S. Forrest, attended a convention of the Southwest Paper Trade Assn. in Houston last week, and Peg, who seldom accompanies him on such trips, decided to go mainly because she would have a chance to see a baseball game played in Houston's Astrodome. All of their plans were literally dampened by the heavy weather in Texas, and the first two days before the convention opened were spent indoors instead of sightseeing. However, Peg did get to see the Astros win a 2-1 game over the Cincinnati Reds, but commented that the baseball spirit among the Houston fans is lost because of the size and formality of the stadium.

When business took Lorne Waxlax, 437 S. Prindle, to St. Paul, his wife, Jacquiline, and their children, John, Carol and Paul, went, too, so Paul's first birthday, April 19, could be celebrated with his grandmother, Mrs. Berenice Semerad, in that city. On the family's return home, John entered Northwest Community Hospital for a tonsillectomy. He is now recuperating at home and expects to be back in school in a few days.

THE TWO SONS of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Scharf, 528 S. Prindle, celebrate birthdays April 26 and 27 respectively. Charles, 14, is planning to have a few boys in later, but "KJ" did his celebrating Friday. Supper to honor the 8-year-old was served to Mark Schneider, Keith Moller, Bobby Pionke, Mike Earl, Paul Gondek, Terry Kulisch, Billy Brown, Kevin Donovan and his sister, Kelly, who enjoyed the distinction of being the only girl at the party.

The Fred Boths, 433 S. Phelps, are recovering from a week-long celebration of the April 29 birthday of Fred Sr. and the April 27 birthday of 17-year-old Joanne. It started with a dinner party a week ago Sunday for the immediate family, Wendy Johnston of Arlington Heights, a close friends of Joanne, and for Skip Anderson and Chuck Gosling, students at Western Michigan University. Joanne's Dad had been on a fishing trip to Washington Island, but arrived home in time for dinner with a good catch of perch and northern.

His birthday came in for its share of attention Friday, when the family and their friends, the Doug Kirp family of Palatine, had dinner together at the Glenview Country House in Glenview. After dinner, Joanne left to spend the night with Nan Koeski of Arlington Heights who planned a slumber party in her honor.

A FAMILY dinner to honor both father and daughter was given Sunday at the Both home. Well-wishers included grandmother, Mrs. Anna Durcany, and Gerry Durcany of Chicago, the Ed Both family of Elmhurst and Wendy Johnston.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gryzik, 417 S. Forrest, celebrated their 11th wedding anniversary Saturday by having dinner at the Homestead near Maywood and taking in a showing of "Dr. Zhivago." Since the next day was Chris' birthday, it, too, was included in the celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Wendt, 2023 E. Grove, advanced the day on which they celebrated their fourth wedding anniversary, from April 28 to the Sunday before, and enjoyed dinner at Ignatz and Mary's Grove Inn.

Other area celebrants of April wedding anniversaries include Mr. and Mrs. Archie Loch, 2124 E. Park, who were married 12 years Sunday. Dinner at Stockyards Inn in Chicago Saturday following a tournament in which Archie bowled, served the dual purpose of celebrating the anniversary and enjoying the company of other tournament bowlers and their wives.

A HAPPY APRIL 29 birthday was wished Mrs. Gust Hermanson, 437 S. Forrest, by Gust and their children, Greta and Mark, at dinner at Barney's in Chicago. After dinner, they made teen-age Greta a happy girl by attending a performance of "The Animals" at the Chicago Circle Campus.

The Birthday Club roster produced two members with late April and early May birthdays: Mrs. Ron Brown, 432 S. Phelps, on April 16, and Mrs. James Thorstad, 412 S. Phelps, on May 7. Both events were celebrated at evening parties within two weeks of each other. Hostess for Beverly Brown's party was Anita Both, on April 20, and for Barbara Thorstad's party was Fran Lucas on May 3. Both hostesses live in the 400 block of S. Phelps. Cake, coffee, a gift for the guest of honor and an evening of socializing is enjoyed by the 15 neighbors who make up the club, which has been in existence for several years. (A

Bands to Perform In Spring Concert

The Willowbrook bands, under the direction of Richard M. Kamm, will present their annual Spring Concert Friday at 8 p.m.

Both the intermediate and concert bands will perform a program.

The intermediate band will open the concert with the "Sound and Fury" march. Selections from "The Music Man" will highlight their portion of the program. "Marian the Librarian," "Lida Rose," "Till There Was You," and "Seventy-Six Trombones" will be included.

THE CONCERT band will perform numbers representative of both original compositions for band and transcriptions of orchestral works.

From the repertoire of contemporary band literature the band will perform the first and second movements from Vincent Persichetti's "Symphony for Band," "Suite Francaise" by Darius Milhaud, and "Overture for Band" by Joshua Missal.

There are two orchestral transcriptions on the program: "March to the Scaffold" by Hector Berlioz and "Berceuse and Finale from the Firebird" by Igor Stravinsky. "Nobles of the Mystic Shrine" by John Philip Sousa will conclude the program.

WAYNE RUDD, senior alto saxophonist, will appear as soloist performing the "Caprice in de Forme de Valse" by Paul Bonneau. Wayne is a student of Hobart Grimes and has won a superior rating in the state music contest the last three years.

David Tasa, Frank Cassell and David Gunderlach are senior cornetists selected to perform the familiar "Bugler's Holiday" by Leroy Anderson. Bassoonist Uldis Saule, also a senior, will be featured in the "Berceuse and Finale."

During the year the Willowbrook band has performed throughout the state. Highlights of the year include performances at the University of Illinois, Illinois State University and the state music contest held at Oak Lawn, where the band contributed to the winning of an unprecedented sixth consecutive Sweepstakes trophy by the Willowbrook music department.

The concert will be held in the Willowbrook Auditorium; admission is $1.

Oil Company Asks Vacation Of Part of Mors Parkway

A request to vacate one of the remaining pieces of Mors Parkway is before the Arlington Heights Plan Commission again.

This time the request comes from the Mobil Oil Co. which has asked the village to vacate the south piece of Mors Parkway — a short section of pavement running west from Arlington Heights Road.

PLAN COMMISSION hearings on the request last Wednesday were continued until May 25 and a subcommittee headed by Clyde Ferry was appointed to consider it.

The proposed vacation would combine Mors Parkway with the Sunoco station property that abuts it on the north and with the triangular island between it and Northwest Highway.

Mobil Oil would then tear down the existing Sunoco station and build a Mobil station to occupy the entire northwest corner at Northwest Highway and Arlington Heights Road.

THE OIL company representives argued that:

—The south piece of Mors Parkway is not used by enough traffic to justify its existence;

—The triangular island has no useful function now, but would have one when combined with the Mors Parkway and Sunoco station property;

—The Mobil service station they propose would enhance the appearance of the corner.

John Best of the village engineering department opposed the vacation because he felt the village may need the Mors Parkway right-of-way in the future and it would be difficult to recover.

Noting the present nebulous state of downtown development, acting commission chairman Leo Mueller said that in the past the plan commission has recommended postponing further development of the site.

AS RECENTLY as last February, the plan commission denied a request for the vacation of the north piece of Mors Parkway, located at the northeast corner of Northwest Highway and Highland Avenue.

The commission's reason then was that the village should not give up the right-of-way which might be needed in the future. It was noted that future plans for the downtown area could include the widening of Northwest Highway. (A

May Day Marks Beginning of Local Gardening Season

Local gardeners ran around last weekend hollering, "May Day! May Day!" and returning vacationers knew it was the international distress signal, not an announcement of the date—they felt pretty distressed, too, coming home from summery places to find May 1 frost warnings awaiting them. Temperatures have since gone up, gardeners and vacationers have calmed down, and at the risk of causing a blizzard tomorrow, we timidly predict that the winter is over. Socially it is.

A gay and benevolent traffic jam developed Sunday at the far north end of Highland Avenue as three adjacent households held late afternoon confirmation parties. At a special afternoon service in St. Peter Lutheran Church, 76 local youngsters confirmed their faith, and the celebrations that followed were typified by the ones on Highland.

Cousins Jack and Mary Lou Taege were among the 76 confirmands, and they began their celebrations by sharing a family dinner party for 26 in the St. Peter School dining hall. Festivities were continued at parties in their respective homes. Jack is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Taege, 1327 N. Highland, and the only guests among the 20 at his open house who didn't contribute to the neighborhood traffic jam were the neighbors themselves. There was an open house, too, at 2220 N. Kennicott where friends and neighbors brought congratulations to Mary Lou, daughter of the Richard Taeges.

A DINNER PARTY for 25 in the school dining hall also began the confirmation fete for Marshall and Robert Blum, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Blum, 1337 N. Highland. Following dinner the celebration moved to the Blum home where a gala evening climaxed the boys' big day.

Linda Westphal, daughter of the Edward Westphals, 1336 N. Highland, was another member of the confirmation class in St. Peter's. Her party for 37 added its share to the happy-hectic neighborhood scene. Coming from Lafayette, Ind., for the special occasion was her aunt and godmother, Mrs. Dorothy Haak, who added her blessings to those of Linda's grandparents, the senior Joseph Fazios of Villa Park and Mrs. Lydia Westphal of LaGrange Park. Other out-of-town guests were her uncle and family, the junior Joseph Fazios of Menasha, Wis.

Twenty-eight suburban relatives brought congratulations to Mark Piepenbrink following his confirmation in St. Peter's. Among well-wishers enjoying the buffet supper party were his grandparents, Mrs. William Lutz of Des Plaines and the senior William Piepenbrinks of Mount Prospect, and his godparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Piepenbrink Jr. of Mount Prospect. Mark is the son of the Edwin Piepenbrinks, 1112 N. Walnut.

ANOTHER confirmand at St. Peter's was Lee Ann Ekberg, 2108 N. Chestnut, whose celebration also brought birthday congratulations to two younger sisters. Bringing best wishes to all three were uncles, aunts and cousins, the Robert Miller and Stan Reese families of Mount Prospect, Tom Lane and Bill Lane families of Palatine and the Richard Lane family of Rolling Meadows. Grandpa and Grandma Lane of Palatine and Grandpa and Grandma Ekberg of Mount Prospect made the family circle complete.

Harvesting their respective shares of congratulations in the Ekberg household were Dale and Phyllis. Dale was 10 last Wednesday and Phyllis was 6 April 21. "Charlie Brown," a female German Shepherd, spending her first day with the family Sunday, was really a vital part to the day's happiness. She chased the gloom that had settled over the household Friday night when the longtime family pet, also a German Shepherd, had been struck by an auto and killed.

IN KEEPING with the traditions of their faith, Catholic families in Our Lady of the Wayside curtailed celebrations following their children's confirmation Monday night. Upcoming communions, however, will mean many gala parties on the south side of town later this month. Among Monday night's confirmands who were content with brief family observances were Robert and Eileen Gabrielsen, 705 S. Chestnut, and Mark Snyder, 732 S. Chestnut.

A just-for-the-fun-of-it party in the Richard Shay home Friday night meant little sleep at 723 N. Douglas. That's because it was a slumber party and everybody knows you're not supposed to sleep at a slumber party. Wide-awake hostess was Peggy Shay who entertained four local girl friends, also voluntary insomniacs. They giggled and nibbled through the night and much of Saturday morning, napped briefly and continued their marathon through the afternoon. In at least five Arlington Heights households there was a glassy-eyed pre-teen who could hardly stay awake until bed time Saturday night. Peggy's just-for-the-fun-of-it party sure was!

FAREWELL GIFTS from the neighborhood friends will literally forever charm Mrs. Frank Precilio, recently of 739 S. Dunton, and Mrs. Mark Hodges, 746 S. Dunton, co-guests-of-honor last week at a coffee given by Mrs. James Carr and Mrs. Thomas Graves. Engraved gold discs for their charm bracelets were presented to the two who will be reminded of their friends each time they glimpse the "700" on one side of the disc and "S. Dunton friends" on the other. For Mrs. Precilio there'll be continuing opportunities to see her friends in her new home at 888 S. Bristol. The Hodges household will be transplanted to Atlanta, Ga., next month. Moving this week into the former Precillo home are Mr. and Mrs. W. Charles Thor of Park Ridge.

Silver wedding anniversary parties honoring Mr. and Mrs. John McComb, 710 S. Dunton, were so much fun that the bride and groom are wondering if they'll get over the excitement before it's time to start celebrating next year's April 26 event. Two parties on consecutive dates, April 23 and 24, started their anniversary week, and a third one climaxed it Friday evening. The two-in-a-row were highly successful surprise parties, with the first one including the delightful bonus of a reunion with former South Dunton neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Tracy, now of Cincinnati.

The Tracys weekended with their daughter in Barrington, but their prime purpose in being here was to surprise the anniversary couple and be part of a dinner-out party a week ago Saturday evening.

NEXT DAY THE McCombs motored to Sycamore to have a quiet Sunday with their daughter and family, the George Beasleys, who did not have a quiet Sunday in mind. Awaiting Mom and Dad at their daughter's home was another surprise party, 18 family members all ready, willing and able to do some more celebrating. Probably the most surprising part of the Sycamore session was that all of the relatives, except the Beasleys, are from Arlington Heights and they managed not to cross paths or intersections with the McCombs en route Sycamore.

Friday evening's celebration was not planned as a surprise and Mr. and Mrs. McComb knew when they arrived at the Russell Hansens, 15 W. Orchard, that a dinner party was in the offing. Mrs. McComb's fellow bridge club members and their husbands made up the party of 18, and the party of 18 made a fine finale to a memorable 25th wedding anniversary.

Among local birthday festivities was Sunday's dinner party at 721 S. Chestnut where nobody in the George Hawkins family gets by without acknowledging a birthday, not even Mom. Bringing congratulations to the lady of the house were Chicago and suburban family members.

Eddy Stevens was 10 April 26 and celebrated the previous Friday night with a hamburger fry and game session in the Stevens' home, 523 S. Donald. Seven neighborhood and school buddies were guests, and two of them stayed overnight. Assisting with the mammoth job of frying enough hamburgers to fill up seven small boys were Eddy's sister, Eileen, and her girl friend, Laura Krisofek. After the party, Mrs. Stevens took Eddy, his overnight guests and the two teen-age party helpers to see the Clark Weber excitement at Lattof Motor Sales.

LAST WEEK Mrs. Stevens and Eileen spent Thursday through Sunday at the Conrad Hilton in Chicago, attending the Job's Daughters festivities. Mrs. Stevens served as a chaperone.

Adjusting from Honolulu-heavenly weather to scraping ice off the windshield was the lot of the George Peaks, 1104 W. Sigwalt, who came home from a Hawaiian holiday Saturday evening to face the second coldest May 1 in local history. Not even our frost warnings, though, could chill the Peaks' enthusiasm for the islands where they sunned, toured and marvelled for two warm and wonderful weeks. They had one week in Honolulu, then two days each on Maui, Hawaii and Kauai Islands, and they still can't decide which island was most beautiful.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Roberts came home to 506 S. Chestnut last Wednesday after a week in California that combined business with the pleasure of visiting relatives and sightseeing. Roberts attended to business matters in San Diego while his wife visited, then they both enjoyed a few days of seeing the sights of San Francisco.

The James Hahns, 701 N. Vail, spent Sunday in Milwaukee enjoying the Marquette University open house for parents of next year's freshmen. Their freshman-to-be is Tom, recently awarded a Chick Evans scholarship.

A reception for 35 relatives on Sunday climaxed a big day in the life of Miss Pamela Meyer, 705 N. Vail, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kurt Meyer.

The gathering was to help Pamela mark her confirmation at St. Peter Lutheran Church. Among the guests were her sponsors, Mrs. Lorna Nightingale of Marengo and George Held of Des Plaines, and her grandparents, Mrs. George Held and George Meyer, both of Arlington Heights.

STEVE BLACKWELL, son of the J. Kemp Blackwells, 518 Dryden, was home for a spring visit from the University of Illinois, where he majors in English.

A family reunion visit to Toledo was an April event for Mr. and Mrs. A. Brauer of 447 Lincoln and sons, Mark and Jeffery. They visited Mrs. Brauer's parents, the Robert Whitmores, and spent some time with Mr. Brauer's family. THE MEN AT THE ALAMO GIVE US INSPIRATION TO KEEP OUR NATION GREAT AND FREE

The men at the Alamo would not retreat; they would not surrender—and that's the gift they gave America.

On Feb. 23, 1836, Santa Anna led between 3,000 and 5,000 Mexicans against the Alamo, a mission-fort at San Antonio. Approximately 180 Americans including Davy Crockett and Jim Bowie held the Mexicans off 12 days until the Americans were massacred.

But less than two months later, Texans went into the Battle of San Jacinto with the cry "Remember the Alamo", and defeated the Mexicans.

This victory led to the formation of the Republic of Texas and eventual statehood in the U. S.

Inspiration to keep our country free and great comes from many brave men in our history. And one of the greatest sources of inspiration comes from that gallant band of men at the Alamo.

Board Votes To Condemn Land Strip

Arlington Heights' Village Board Monday voted to condemn a strip of land along N. Arlington Heights Road so that village sewer and water lines can be extended to the new Arlington Industrial and Research Center north of Hintz Road.

The lines will cross land owned by Al Kutz, whose 90 acre farm is south of the vast new industrial development. Asking for the condemnation was Howard Borde, attorney for the Kenroy development firm. He explained Kutz's property extends to the center of Arlington Heights Road and the village has an easement only for highway purposes. He said Kenroy was unable to reach a settlement with Kutz.

An attorney for Kutz told the board it was being "used" for private gain, and he opposed the action. Trustees said the village's interests would be served by development of the industrial subdivision and they were not concerned with maneuverings among property owners over sale prices. (A

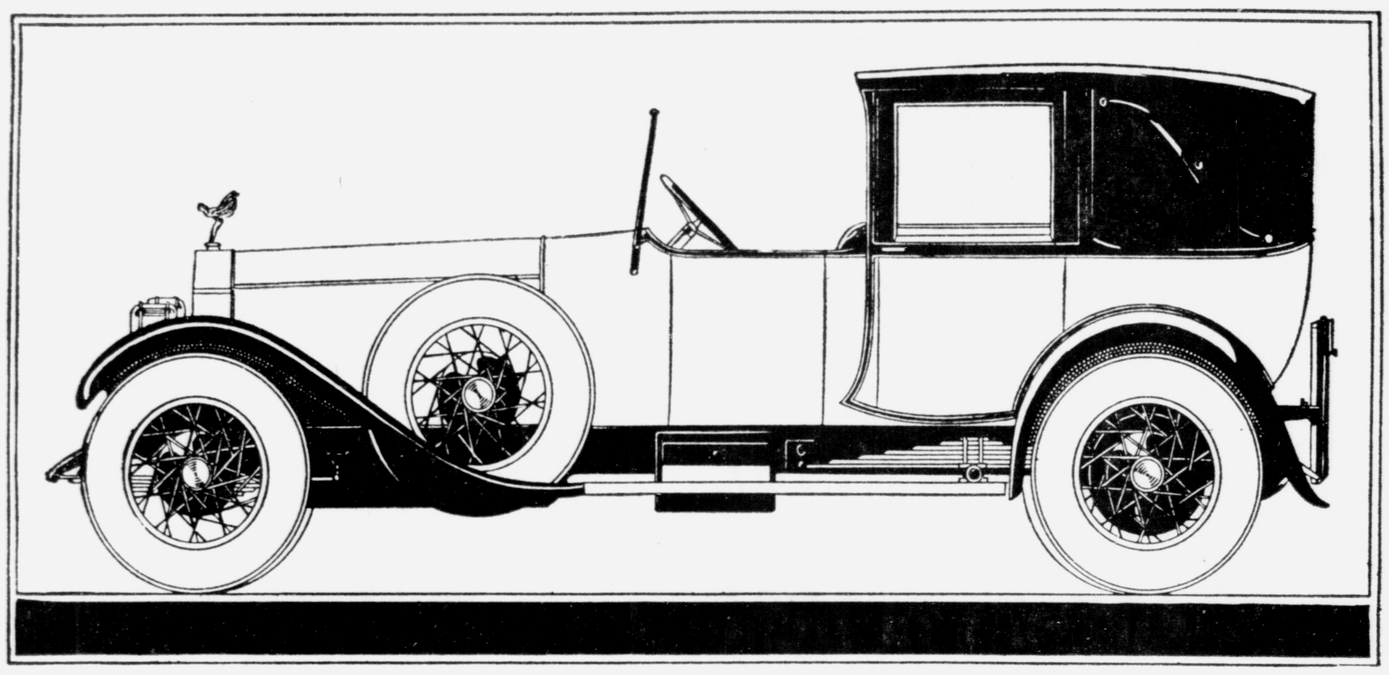
The Paddock

Classic Car SCRAPBOOK



The 1926 BREWSTER

In far-off New York days when "setting up a carriage" was the decisive gesture of a family's respectability, the name Brewster on the carriage convinced a dowager and hostler alike that the owner's position was deserved. At whatever pace fashionable horse-drawn society went from 1810 right through the Age of Innocence, those whose leadership was unquestioned rode in Brewster carriages. And no wonder, for the tradition grew that the carriage by Brewster combined unquestioned smartness with the refinement of cabinet work and the staunchness of ship's carpentry. Styles change, customs change, but Brewster's place as premier carriage builder remains unassailed. Every sleek, graceful example of Brewster-built automobile coach work, standing forth from a whole revue of luxury, gives tangible evidence of that fact. A significant tribute is the announcement that Rolls-Royce has acquired Brewster, thus uniting this finest coach work with the "best car in the world." The illustration shows a landaulet by Rolls-Royce and Brewster. Rolls-Royce/Brewster, Fifth Avenue at 56th Street, New York. Also at all Rolls-Royce Branches.

ALWAYS INTERESTED and active in local civic affairs, Busse is currently on the board of directors for the Mount Prospect State Bank and Northwest Suburban YMCA.

Persons interested in serving in the Corps must fill out an application if they have not already done so, and present it to the tester before taking the test. Applications may be obtained from local post offices or from the Peace Corps, Washington, D. C. (A15

Four Area Residents In Top Employe Contest

Four local residents have been nominated in a competition for top awards to U. S. government employes in the metropolitan Chicago area.

Winners will be honored today (Thursday) at the 10th annual "Federal Employe of the Year" program at the Conrad Hilton Hotel, Chicago. The competitors were selected from more than 60,000 federal workers.

David G. Brome, 901 Sherwood Drive, Prospect Heights, chief of the data processing division for the Regional Office of General Services Administration, was nominated for outstanding supervisor.

Recommended for outstanding federal employe were:

Frank D. McDade, 400 S. Emerson, Mount Prospect, director of contract administration in the Chicago Defense Contract Administration Services Region of the Defense Supply Agency at the Air Force section of O'Hare International Airport;

Mrs. Anthony J. (Mary Lou) Pellicane, 38 Walpole Rd., Elk Grove, assistant chief clerk at the Selective Service System's Cook County Area Office No. 2, in Des Plaines, and Bernice A. Heming, 326 Judson St., Bensenville, assistant communications relations officer in the Information Office of Headquarters Fifth U. S. Army, Chicago.

FROM THE ENTIRE metropolitan area nominations of 94 individuals have been submitted for four award categories: Professional employes, supervisors, employes in general, and the "suggester of the year." The nominations are being screened to select 20 semi-finalists, from whom the four top workers will be chosen.

Presentation of awards will be the main feature of the luncheon at the Conrad Hilton, at which an attendance of more than 1,200 workers is expected. An engraved plaque will be awarded the federal employe judged the outstanding employe of the year in each of the four categories, and certificates of honorable mention will be presented to the four other individuals who are runners-up in each category. Auto Safety Engineers Reveal Industry Plans

Reporter Tells His Own Gripes

by DAN PRIBILSKI
Staff Writer

Do you have some gripes with 1966 cars? This writer and several others that I am acquainted with do.

Design, something stressed by the car manufacturers at the Illinois Editors' Traffic Safety Seminar, is a great bone of contention, particularly with General Motors cars and particularly with the Chevrolet and Pontiac.

One word mentioned by the car representatives was "visibility."

Anyone now owning or who has had the opportunity to sit in the latest Chevies and Pontiacs, and probably the higher priced GM cars since they are of the same basic design, know rear visibility is not at its best.

THE COMPLAINT is that the rear of the car cannot be seen by the driver, either through the rear view mirror or by direct sight through the rear window.

Experience shows that the right side of the car toward the rear is a "blind" area because of wide paneling. This has proved to be perturbing in tight traffic such as in Chicago.

Louis Lundstrum, General Motors representative, was asked by this writer at the safety seminar of this hazardous situation.

"Well, people are generally able to estimate distances," he commented.

But then he said, "Yes, we've received complaints and we're looking into it."

This situation with the latest GM cars was mentioned to Roy Haeusler of Chrysler Corp.

"We make errors," he commented. "We've all been guilty of such things."

Then very frankly, he said, "Have you seen the Charger or Barracuda?"

THE CHARGER is a Dodge and the Barracuda a Plymouth of the fastback sports design.

Haeusler reminded this writer he drives a Chrysler and a Plymouth, not the sports models, he smiled.

At one point in the seminar, comment from the floor was made about practical and functional design.

L. H. Nagler of American Motors began to smile and the next moment he stood quickly, knocking over his chair, and clenching his hands above his head like a boxer does when victorious. (A-15

"How safe are our cars?"

Of late, with this question being asked, those "bad guys" in Detroit have been having their ears burned.

This is the year to turn attention to the car manufacturers.

Attention has been turned away from the stupid driver, the inept driver, the drunken driver, the careless driver.

Ralph Nader, author of "Unsafe at Any Speed," is as much a cause of this change of emphasis as anyone.

In Nader's book, the car manufacturers are attacked strongly, strongly enough to have him called to Congressional hearings to give "expert opinion."

BECAUSE OF this emphasis this year on car manufacturers, the 9th annual Illinois Editors' Traffic Safety Seminar last Friday in Highland Park dealt with the safety of cars.

The seminar was a chance for car industry representatives to give their side of the story without Congressional bird dogging as has been going on in past weeks in Washington.

Here's what Roy Haeusler, chief engineer-automotive safety, Chrysler Corp., said:

"There is no such thing as a safe car—there's not going to be. What there is going to be are safer cars." He emphasized the word "safer."

IN REFERENCE TO Nader and his book's title, "Darn right they're unsafe at any speed depending on circumstances."

Haeusler was indicating the nut behind the wheel has much to do with safety.

He said half the fatalities on American roads — 49,000 fatalities — involve either drunken drivers or drunken pedestrians.

Here's what L. H. Nagler, staff engineer for safety, American Motors Corp., said:

"Nine billion miles are driven a year by America's 90 million drivers. That means there's one death for every 18 million miles driven."

NAGLER PREDICTED that in the next 15 to 20 years, more cars will be on the road than in all the preceding 60 years since car manufacturing has been in existence.

"The accident toll simply means there's too many of us and it's going to be bigger," Nagler said.

Here's what Louis Lundstrum, director, automotive safety, General Motors Corp., said:

"The industry has accelerated safety. The people must too."

He urged traffic patterns must be improved.

PUSHING ALL the responsibility back on the driver? Not at all. All three car representatives also stressed the fact that the car industry spends millions on safety and design research.

All agreed the biggest single safety feature introduced as standard equipment in recent years is the seat belt — the "lap belt."

They stressed that with public acceptance, the next big improvement in this area is the shoulder belt.

HERE ARE SOME of the standards on many American cars which were listed which contribute to safety:

Interlocking door latches which keep doors shut much better in accidents than the door latches prior to 1956.

A newly designed door handle which is more of a flush to the door level than handle. (This is a feature particularly now of Chrysler cars and a modified version on Ford cars.) Such new handles prevent accidental opening as one might grab for something during an impending accident.

Padded dash and visors.

New laminated glass with a center plastic which acts as a "net" to catch a person's head. (Many of the most serious injuries occur by a person "flying" through the windshield. A General Motors film showed that extensive research is going on for better protection in this area with inclusion of the padded dash.)

A collapsible steering column which is being tested and will be introduced in the 1967 General Motors cars.

OTHER SAFETY features were mentioned but to a safety critic's lament, many are still optional as was the case several years ago with safety belts. For instance, still optional is the center seat belt.

Dual brakes were mentioned by Nagler as standard on American Motors. Besides American Motors cars, the only other car, however, that has dual brakes is the Cadillac.

Certainly one of the most important parts of a car are the tires.

James E. Corey, manager, field engineering, Firestone Tire and Rubber Co., spoke for the tire manufacturers.

THURS., MAY 5, 1966

Recently a small controversy has blown up over the two-ply tire.

BESIDES STRESSING the research which goes into tires, Corey indicated the two - ply tire is as good and better than the four-ply.

Tire strength is formed by a network of fiber (the ply which gives a tire its shape) which is much more durable than before, Corey indicated.

With the more durable fiber, the two-ply is possible, and he stressed that with fewer plys the tire will run cooler.

Corey showed a cross section of a racing tire, quite thin, but as, experience shows, quite durable. (A15

Federal Car Buyer Lists Safety Needs

"The good Lord engineered people; we engineer automobiles."

Speaking was Walter F. Roberts, assistant to the assistant commissioner, Office of Standards and Quality Control, U.S. General Services Administration.

He purchases cars for federal agencies, and through his office, car safety features on federally purchased cars have been introduced.

Roberts was the chief critic at the 9th annual Illinois Editors' Traffic Safety Seminar last week.

WHILE PEOPLE are a prime cause in car deaths, not the cars themselves, Roberts said, "We can do more to prevent them from killing themselves."

He called for strenghtening of and roofs of cars.

Sometimes a car design has an X-frame, other times a square-frame, he said. The square frame gives added protection to side collisions, he indicated.

He said better padding can be provided than at present. And control panels need to be recessed, he added.

TINTED GLASS was criticized by the federal official. He said medical tests show tinted glass on cars bothers the vision of people over 40 years old.

"Yet, year after year, the industry features tinted glass," Roberts said.

Roll bars should be incorporated in the roofs of cars, he said.

Roberts also indicated a warning device when someone is driving too close to the car ahead could be provided.

And better, non-skid, brakes should be provided.

CAR INDUSTRY representatives said research is being done in many areas such as non-skid brakes.

But they warned, an improvement in one area could cause trouble in another and caution should be used in introducing what seems like safety features.

In federal regulations for cars purchased for the government (military excluded), 17 safety items are mentioned, 11 of which are presently on cars and six more to be added in 1967 cars.

MANY OF THE items already are standard on cars sold the public as any driver will recognize. Here they are:

—Seat belts.

—Padded panel and visors. (A better padding than provided on many cars now.)

—Recessed panel.

—Impact absorbing steering wheel. (General Motors will introduce a collapsible one in 1967 models.)

—Safety door latches and hinges.

—Four-way flasher, (Permits flashing of all turn signal lights alternately such as has been common on large trucks. Some cars today have them.)

—SAFETY glazing material.

—Dual brakes.

—Standard bumper heights. (A criticism at the seminar from the audience was that bumpers today do little but add styling to a car. A car industry representative said they provide protection only for a minimal of banging in parking situations.)

—Standard gear quadrant. (It will be PRNDL)

—Washers and wipers.

—An exhaust emission control system.

—Tires and safety rims.

—Backup lights.

—And outside rearview mirror(s).

UNDOUBTEDLY many of the items mentioned above not now standard on cars sold the public will be standard as the federal government enforces its requirements.

Such items would be dual brakes, four-way flashers, standard gear quadrant, standard bumper hrights and recessed panels.

Roberts was asked by a reporter if styling would have to be sacrificed as safety measures continue to be added.

"Certainly not. I have the greatest faith in the Detroit stylists that they can package almost anything attractively," he replied. (A15

4-H Awards Given For Best Dog Care

A dog can send its owner on a free trip to Chicago, help pay his way in college, and provide the right time of day, says the National 4-H Service Committee.

There is one requirement, however, and that is membership in the 4-H Dog Care and Training program. Since the program was first offered in 1961 by the Cooperative Extension Service, enrollment has increased from 9,256 to 47,398 in 1965.

The popularity of this program is due in part to the fact that any boy or girl who has a dog can participate. Members learn how to take care of their pets, keep them healthy, and make them better behaved.

Rewards for doing an extra good job are given by Ralston Purina Co. To the boy or girl having the best project in the entire state goes an engraved wristwatch. Eighteen high ranking state winners will be named for the Chicago trip as delegates to the 45th National 4-H Club Congress.

THE TOP PRIZES are $500 national scholarships which will go to the six most outstanding members selected from among the 18 trip winners. These scholarships can be used for college, vocational training or other educational pursuits.

In addition, up to four members in a county can win the dog care medal of honor. Winners in all categories are named by the Extension Service.

To be eligible for state, sectional or national awards, club members must be between 14 and 19 years of age, and have completed at least three years of club work with the current year in the dog care and training program. (A15

Talent, Art Contest Is Planned for Teens

A district talent contest and art contest for teen-agers will be held Sunday, May 22, in the Flick-Reedy auditorium in Bensenville, according to George F. Koehnke, president of the Talented Teen Foundation which conducts the contest.

Auditions for singers, dancers, combos and novelty acts will start at 1 p.m. with finals at 7 p.m. The best combo and best variety act will qualify for the grand finals at McCormick Place, where they will have a chance to win a 3-week European vacation, scholarships and a recording contract.

REGISTRATIONS for artists also will start at 1 p.m. Each artist is limited to four entries, and all works must be originals, not copies. The categories are arts and designs, three-dimensionals and photography. The best-of-show artists will qualify for the grand finals at McCormick Place, where they will have a chance to win a three-week European tour, scholarships to the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts and tour scholarships.

The public is invited to the final competition at 7 p.m. for both art and talent.

The grand winners of both contests will join a group of Talented Teens at Chicago-O'Hare airport and fly direct to London on a new BOAC VC-10 jet. While in Europe the teens will be coached by professional teachers and perform goodwill concerts. This will be the fourth tour conducted by the Talented Teen Foundation.

Any teen may enter. For entry blanks write Talented Teens, 404 Larkdale Lane Mount Prospect. Registration fee is $1.

Campaign 'Roundup' June 25

Supporters of Joe Woods' Republican candidacy for Cook County Sheriff are planning a campaign - opening "Roundup" June 25, on the Triple R Ranch of Thomas McKay in south suburban Frankfort.

Mrs. Brooks McCormick, general chairman, said former Vice President Richard M. Nixon will serve as "foreman" of the Roundup, planned as a major campaign kick-off and fund-raising event in support of Woods' candidacy.

MRS. McCORMICK said the Roundup will combine politics and entertainment in an event for the whole family and at the same time give Woods supporters "the opportunity to help in his campaign."

"Help" is expectly mainly in the form of $25 contributions each from the men in attendance, $5 from "ladies and teens," children under 12 admitted free and must be accompanied by a parent.

Sponsors are aiming for an attendance of several thousand, Mrs. McCormick indicated.

Nixon's duties as "foreman" of the Roundup will be principally to deliver the featured speech at the rally.

The afternoon's festivities will extend from 1:30 to 5:30 p.m. and will include horse races, calf roping, riding demonstrations and similar events. Door prizes will be distributed.

Mongoloid Child Is May 9 Topic

Mrs. Julia Molloy, director of Orchard School for Special Education in Skokie, will speak to members of the Mongoloid Development Council at 8:30 p.m. on Monday, May 9, in Peoples Gas Co. Auditorium, 122 S. Michigan Ave., Chicago.

Her topic will be "Special Education and the Mongoloid Child — 1966."

The Mongoloid Council, which has as its purpose the development of the full potential of these special children and their acceptance by the community, invites all interested persons to attend. Anyone wishing further information may phone David Zanoni, 543-3708. (A15

AN OPEN LETTER TO INTELLIGENT PEOPLE:

We don't presume to be able to "clean up" the automobile business. Frankly, we're sure it's only a few who are making a bad name for all of us; but we'd like to pose a few questions for you to answer for yourself.

1. Has a dealer ever added as much as $300 to a base or advertised price, calling it Federal Excise Tax? This tax is already figured in the base price of all American cars.
2. Did a Sales Manager ever "cry" for an extra $50 to $200 to make up for a deliberate mistake a salesman made in misquoting a trade cash difference?
3. Have you ever had difficulty in seeing the car being advertised? Were you told it was "just sold?"
4. After taking delivery of a car at an agreed price, have you had the rude awakening that the monthly payments turned out considerably more than quoted? (This is one way of permitting you to "write your own deal.") The dealer made the deal, didn't he?

The point we'd like to make is, that if you'd like to do business with people who are interested in selling you a car at an Honest Bargain, and who are anxious to keep your business, you'll be interested to know that in 1965 this company, operating on legitimate and fair-trading principals, sold over 2,000 automobiles. While this may not approximate the "volume low-priced" car dealers, it did make us one of the largest Buick Agencies in the Midwest Zone.

Sincerely,
Bill Cook

Presents 5 Alternate Plans for Area Future

Five plans for future development of the northwest suburban area were presented to members of the Northwest Municipal Conference last Wednesday.

On hand to make the presentation for the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission was Larry Christmas, staff member of NIPC. These plans, Christmas asserted, are tentative predictions of what may come about if certain combinations of present development trends are encouraged.

SOME SKEPTICISM about the value of NIPC's work appeared in the discussion. "Since most communities already have their own zoning plans," questioned Wheeling's Mayor Ted Scanlon, "isn't NIPC fighting a losing battle in preparing regional plans?"

No community completely controls its own destiny, Christmas answered. What one community does affects all of its neighbors. Therefore there is a need for an agency with a regional, rather than a local, point of view.

Many communities already recognize this, Christmas aded, by turning to NIPC for advice about local planning problems.

Norwesco's Virgil Bass told the conference that 70 per cent of the housing occupied by the northwestern suburban area's 600 Spanish-speaking families is substandard.

RESPONDING TO Bass' plea for assistance in meeting this problem, Chairman John G. Woods appointed a committee to work with Bass. Palatine's Mayor David Yeats was named chairman. Mayor Alvin Piekareki of Rolling Meadows and Elk Grove Village Pres. Jack Pahl will serve with Yeats. And Woods, Arlington Heights village president, will be an ex officio member.

The conference also adopted a resolution supporting the Chicago Area Transportation Study recommendation for expressways in the Chicago Metropolitan Area. Reservations were made that no specific alignment of expressways was approved by this resolution and that adequate advance notice should be given communities of any specific expressway plans. (B10

Moore Releases 20-Point Platform

William J. Moore, Republican candidate for state representative from the Third Representative District, this week released his "Program For Progress," a platform of 20 major planks.

Moore described the program as a realistic and achievable set of goals which reflects the GOP's concern for all elements of our society, yet which remains completely consistent with the traditional Republican philosophy of defending the freedom and rights of every individual."

"AS A FORMER village Trustee in Arlington Heights," stated Moore, "I know from experience the problems of running a government in times of rapid population expansion.

"Our state government must more completely reflect the needs of the burgeoning suburban population.

"The Third District will soon have no unincorporated areas, and our state laws should provide for sounder and more orderly municipal growth and control.

"The Republican party must come forth with common sense answers to the needs in our society — not merely lukewarm 'me-too' measures which ape Democrat proposals and abandon basic conservative philosophy.

"OUR STRENGTH lies in a recognition of the innate worth, initiative and sense of a responsibility inherent in every citizen — not in appeals to special interest groups.

"The state legislators we elect must remain responsive to their constituents — and to the philosophy of our Grand Old Party — and only be doing so with vigor, enthusiasm and imagination can we regain the lead in Illinois.

"My 'Program For Progress' demands action from the GOP in areas where our government can — and should — serve the people. It rejects state interference and encroachment in areas where the individual rights of the people should be preserved."

Moore said he feels every voter of the Third District should know where he stands and that is why he prepared his platform.

HE PLEDGED vigorous support of municipal home rule through a constitutional amendment, and initiation of state action on flood control to protect property values.

He urged immediate state studies to insure relief for acute water shortages projected for the suburban area, and pledged to support election law reform to "eliminate vote fraud in Chicago."

Moore also feels highway safety measures are essential in order to save lives; that increased economy and efficiency in state government is "necessary and possible";

That a thorough analysis of all aspects of the proposed revenue amendment to the constitution is necessary, and pledged to implement judicial reform by creating additional courtrooms.

HE ALSO PLEDGED to support maximum intergovernmental cooperation to solve problems and to support "the right of every citizen to live where he chooses." He will "oppose punitive open occupancy legislation."

Moore said he would "support sound legislation to cope with crime," and "will furnish effective leadership while being fully responsive to the needs and wishes of the electorate."

Prospect, Wheeling Seniors to Academy

Three young men in the northwest suburban area were among the five from the 13th Congressional District who received appointments to the U.S. Naval Academy, according to an announcement this week by Congressman Donald Rumsfeld (R-13th).

They are: Dennis F. Breen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick G. Breen, 212 N. Prospect Manor, Mount Prospect, a senior at Prospect High School.

Howard Dawson Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Dawson, 415 N. Maple, Mount Prospect, also a senior at Prospect High; and Edward P. Graves, son of Mr. Eugene Graves, 4700 Arbor Drive, Rolling Meadows, a senior at Wheeling High School.

"EVIDENCE OF the quality of education in the 13th District is seen in this year's selection of five young men to attend the U.S. Naval Academy," Rumsfeld said.

"Normally, a member of Congress is permitted one or two appointments per year to each service academy. But this year, because of the superior qualifications of the candidates a total of five young men from the 13th District have been awarded appointments."

Rumsfeld uses a competitive system of nomination under which he submits the names of qualified young men for each available appointment. Final screening and principal selections are made by the academies.

Rumsfeld is now accepting applications for academy appointments for entering classes in 1967. Write to Room 241, Cannon House Office Building, Washington D.C. 20515. (B10

Daily Tours Conducted

A tour of Haeger Potteries in Dundee provides a memorable outing for thousands of visitors each season. In this largest artware factory in the world, guides conduct daily tours to explain every step in the transformation of common clays into art objects destined for world markets.

The tours include a close-up of the many hand processes involved in making one ceramic piece, as well as the use of modern machinery to produce handicrafts for the mass markets of America and abroad.

RECENTLY A ceramic museum has been added where historic pieces of pottery and varied works of ceramic art are displayed. Through a glass picture window a craftsman can be seen at a potter's wheel, molding designs from clay in the manner of ancient artisans.

Dozens of garden clubs, scout troops, women's clubs and school groups drive out to Dundee every month. From Chicago and the northwest suburbs, visitors take Northwest Tollway to Route 25, then drive north to Dundee and Haeger Potteries.

SQUARE DANCE CLUB NEWS

Dorothy Meyer CL 3-2298

PLAIDS AND CALICOS

Local club members are joined by all Kim fans everywhere in extending sympathy to Bob and Rose Kim whose son Roy is presumed lost in a boating accident. A week ago Sunday Gordon Pitts of Chicago drowned when his kayak capsized in Lake Michigan, and at that time police said they believed he was accompanied by a second man. It has since been established almost beyond a doubt that young Kim, also of Chicago, was Pitts' companion in the kayak.

All "Kim" clubs are, of course, using substitute callers in Bob's place for the remaining one or two dances of the current season. At this writing Plaids and Calicos' plans for May 14 are unsettled, but definite information regarding that dance date will appear here next week.

NORTHLAKE DANCERS

Firehouse Squares of Northlake report that for the past few months each dance has brought out more dancers than the one before. They say, "With caller Harry Glass (of Roselle) leading in the laughing and dancing, all agree that for fun and enjoyment they must return."

The club, a comparatively new one in the area, is planning a special first anniversary dance Saturday, June 4, and everyone is welcome to join the celebration. Weather permitting, it will be held outdoors in the Roy School yard on the blacktop; comes rain the dance will be moved into the school.

Other summer dances will be held July 16 and August 20, and we hope to have full details about them in plenty of time for everyone to make their plans to attend. The regular 1966-67 schedule will begin Sept. 12, when officers elected April 16 will assume their official duties.

Officers-elect are the Henry Lewandowskis, presidents; the Frank Somens, vice-presidents; the George Hambys, secretaries; the George Schicks, treasurers; and the Don Biskners, hospitality chairmen.

Mrs. George Hamby, phone 562-1410, is the one to call for full particulars about the Firehouse Squares.

BRONCO SQUARES

An open invitation to dance in Barrington tomorrow night begins most poetically — "Hang up your shovels, rakes and cares and come out 'n' dance with the Bronco Squares." Besides a rhyming publicity chairman, the club boasts a friendly membership and hip caller, Paul "Foggy" Thompson, who are all always ready to welcome guest dancers. Try 'em... tomorrow night in the Grove Avenue Grade School, at 8 o'clock for the Sanders' round dance workshop or at 8:30 when "Foggy" squares 'em up.

At a recent election of officers for the 1966-67 season, Frank and Kay Seher were chosen as the president couple. Others elected were Bob and Pat Szymanski, vice-presidents; Dean and Lorrie Paulson, secretaries; and John and Barbara Hull, treasurers. Thompson was signed up again as the club caller.

Broncs plan to dance Friday, May 20, and suggest that those who won't be able to attend the second annual Illinois State Square Dance Convention in Chicago that weekend might like to join the crowd in Barrington.

INTERNATIONAL JAMBOREE

An even dozen internationally famous square dance callers will provide nine hours of nonstop dancing Saturday as the first International Square Dance Jamboree comes to Chicago's International Amphitheatre. Spelling each other at the mike in the great Arena will be "Ham" Wolfram of Canada; Wally Schultz and Johnny Toth of Wisconsin; Max Forsythe, Carl Geels and Jack Livingston of Indiana; and from Illinois, Chuck Broad, Bob Lewis, Dale Manson, Jim Smith, "Red" McClelland and Art Matthews. There will also be rounds under the direction of Ken and Dot Olson.

Presenting the Jamboree is Bob Luebbe of Palatine, one of the area's most ambitious square dance boosters and promoter of several "spectaculars" in recent years.

He expects a crowd of 5,000 and reports that reservations have come in from many states; in Virginia a whole busload of fans are right now preparing to begin their trip to Chicago. He says there is room for 1,000 squares in the several areas of the Amphitheatre, and the parking lot boasts a 4,000-car capacity.

Exhibits of everything from western attire to camping trailers will attract spectators as well as dancers and be of special interest to on-the-go young couples. Dancing, exhibit-prowling and just plain watching begins at one o'clock Saturday afternoon and continues until 10 Saturday evening.

Our information comes from M. E. Thayer, phone 927-5580; we suggest that you call him for further details if necessary.

PHIL GEORGEFF carefully selects films of outstanding stake races for the Benefit Ball May 14 at Arlington Park Jockey Club. Patrons will use their play money to back their hunches in an effort to win one of the major prizes.

Dining Out? See the Billboard Pages

Triple Treat Promised At Hospital Ball May 14

Racing fans attending Northwest Community Hospital Benefit Ball Saturday, May 14, will be able to combine three pleasures that evening, dining in the Post and Paddock club style; dancing to Lou Breese and his band, and watching four $50,000 to $100,000 stake races on a great big movie theater screen.

Phil Georgeff, well-known track announcer, the man who gives those running accounts of all the races at Arlington Park, will provide the exciting commentary as dinner guests back their hunches with play money provided at each dinner plate.

MOVIES OF major stake events at Arlington Park will be secretly selected by Georgeff, so avid followers will not be able to use "advance insight" into which horses to play. Names of the horses will have been changed to protect the innocent.

"All the thrills and excitement of a day at the races will be included in the films" stated Georgeff, "including pre-race parade of horses to the post as well as the actual race. Each horse will be identified, and we have a hunch the names will sound familiar to many of those attending the benefit ball."

EXTRA LARGE screen measuring 20 by 20 feet has been acquired by the race track for the event, with movie house projector to go with it. This will mean everyone will have ringside seats for the "races" between dances.

Among horses expected to be seen in the races, but under various aliases, will be Round Table, Clem and Piastar. A host of prizes will be given those who finish with the most play money.

ALMOST 2,000 persons are expected to attend the gala evening, with dress optional. Two bands will be present, one for listening during the hospitality hour from 6:30 to 8:30, and the buffet from 8:30 to 9:30; then Lou Breese for dancing from 9:30 to 12:30.

Anyone wishing tickets at $15 per person can secure them by calling any of four numbers, 253-1000, 253-0784, 253-2654 or 253-6476. (B-10

Richard F. Bayer, Palatine Township auditor, will serve as the campaign's Civic Organizations Chairman. (B10

Revenue Article To Be Next Topic

The Northwest Municipal Conference's May 25 meeting, scheduled to be held in Mount Prospect, will feature a panel discussion of the proposed state Revenue Article amendments.

Arlington Heights Village Pres. John Woods, chairman of the conference, said Ed Wallace general manager of radio station WIND, will provide the panel. Implications of the proposed Illinois tax law changes will be explored by the panel.

Nine Merit Top Rank in 4-H Contest

Over 300 4-H members performed in 21 different acts at the annual Share-the-Fun contest held at Miner Junior High School in Arlington Heights on April 21.

Nine received an A rating in the competition: Mary's Lads and Lassies, Mount Arlington Boys and Girls, 4-H Explorers, Elgin Eagles, Medinah Merry Maids, TNT, Prospectors, Happy Helpers, and AT'um 4-H Club. Of these, the first five will compete with six clubs from south Cook County in La Grange to determine which club will represent Cook County at the State Fair.

Fifteen 4-H members acted as masters of ceremonies, introducing the acts. A ratings were received by Margaret Sidor and Janice Degner of Barrington 4-H Girls; Hugh Frey, Tom Frey, and Laura Graf of Plum Grove; and Faith Pukszta of Snappy 4-H'ers. Margaret Sidor will represent north Cook County in the masters of ceremonies contest in La Grange, with Hugh Frey as alternate. (B10

Pussycat an Actor In DPG Production

Actors seldom work with four-footed friends, but when they do, they are on guard for the unexpected.

Being up-staged by a Smokey Persian cat may prove to be an unnverving experience, and there may be more laughs than anticipated when "Champagne Complex" opens at the Guild Playhouse in Des Plaines tomorrow evening (Friday).

"Smokey" will be seen in the role of T. S. Eliot. He is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McDermott of Mount Prospect, is 13 years old and weighs 16 pounds.

"SMOKEY" IS AN experienced actor, having appeared two years ago at the Guild Playhouse as Mr. Tanner in "Everybody Loves Opal."

Director Ed Sauer and cast members Paulette Gargasz, Jim Curren and Ed Grabow will keep a wary eye on the newest member of the cast in the Des Plaines Theatre Guild production of "Champagne Complex" to be seen this Friday and Saturday and again on May 13, 14, 20 and 21 at 8:30 p.m.

Tickets are available at the box office on performance evenings; reservations may be obtained by calling 824-8019.

. . . sure they do, and with hubby's full approval. Every day, WMAQ Radio emcees Pat Sheridan (10 a.m. to 2 p.m.) and Chuck Benson (2 to 7 p.m.) entertain other men's wives . . . all sizes, all shapes, all ages, but all equally in-the-know about Chicago's on-the-move station, WMAQ. They also entertain husbands too if they're near a radio, to say nothing of unattached single-o's of all kinds.

The in-the-know people prefer WMAQ Radio for the middle ground sound that's perfect: the best of all popular music by established stars; news coverage by NBC News every hour; Officer Vic Traffic Reports morning and evening rush-hours; the incomparable hour of complete news on NBC News Chicago Report, 5 to 6 p.m. Why not make it a "triangle" . . . you, Pat Sheridan and Chuck Benson.

Doctor Will Make Debut As Actor in Hospital Play

DR. PLEOTIS

MRS. TREANOR

Dr. Peter Pleotis will be making his acting debut when Northwest Community Hospital Players present Neil Simon's "Come Blow Your Horn" at Wheeling High School the end of May.

The Mount Prospect obstetrician and gynecologist will be seen in the party of Buddy, 21-year-old son of a prosperous businessman, who decides he no longer wants to be "the perfect son." He tries the bachelor's way of life, a shis older brother has been doing, and finds it different, exciting and hilarious.

DR. PLEOTIS is a board member of the Northwest Suburban Chapter of the American Cancer Society and vice president of Indian Grove School PTA. He and his wife have three daughters.

Portraying the role of Peggy, the attractive and wealthy girl friend of Buddy's older brother, Allen, will be Mrs. Richard C. Treanor of Long Grove, wife of Dr. Richard C. Treanor, a doctor of internal medicine. Fun-loving Peggy has a tremendous desire to be a movie actress, and when she meets Buddy, he pretends to be a producer, giving another humorous twist to the plot.

June Treanor will be carrying on family tradition as her husband acted in the two previous hospital plays. It will not be her first time before the footlights, however, as she had parts in a school review while training at Cook County School of Nursing and was in the cast of St. James Players' production of "The Man Who Came to Dinner."

"COME BLOW Your Horn" will be presented Friday, May 20; Saturday, May 21, and again Friday and Saturday, May 27 and 28. Curtain time on May 20 is 8 p.m. On the other three nights it will be 8:30.

All seats are reserved. Tickets may be obtained by calling Northwest Community Hospital, CL 9-1000, Ext. 584, or writing Northwest Community Hospital, Volunteer Office, in care of Mrs. Eugene Barnes, 800 Central Road, Arlington Heights.

Countryside Gallery Has New Showing of Art Works

"Being and Becoming" is the title of the new showing of art works opening at the Countryside Gallery, 10 W. Miner Street tomorrow (Friday).

The public is invited to attend the opening reception from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. in honor of artists Ruthe Karlin, William Wimmer, John Doyle and Stanley Balabuszko. Two guest artists also will be featured, Barbara Aubin, Chicago, and Albert Pounian, Lake Forest, both of whom were on the faculty of the Countryside Art Center this year.

Paintings, prints, pottery and sculpture will be displayed.

RUTHE KARLIN, Wilmette, whose medium is stoneware pottery, has exhibited her work at the 57th Street Art Fair, the Gold Coast Art Fair, the Burton Place Art Fair and others in Chicago. In 1964 she received second place in sculpture in the Skokie Art Fair. She also works in collage and watercolor and studied with Nick Prokok, Sebastiano Maglio and George Buehr.

William Wimmer, formerly of Arlington Heights and now of Evanston, directed the Countryside Gallery during the 1963-64 season and has taught classes for the Countryside Art Center for several years.

A graduate of the Art Institute of Chicago, he holds an M.F.A. degree and works in the graphic media (woodcuts, etchings, etc.) and painting.

HIS WORK has been shown in the Chicago Art Institute, the Boston Museum of Fine Art and the Smithsonian Institution, among many other places of exhibition.

John Doyle, Chicago, teaches art at Forest View High School. He will be showing sculpture in the upcoming show and is the only artist to have been juried into the Countryside Gallery as both painter and sculptor.

A graduate of the Art Institute of Chicago, Doyle currently is working on a master's degree at Northern University, DeKalb.

Stan Balabuszko, Rolling Meadows, is a student at the Kansas Art Institute at Kansas City, Mo., and a former pupil of John Doyle. He is studying on scholarship and has received numerous scholastic awards for his drawings and paintings.

POUNIAN HAS been an instructor at the Art Institute of Chicago, Rosary Collage, Lake Forest College and currently is teaching at Barat College, Lake Forest. The artist is represented in the Art Institute Sales and Rental Gallery and has been included in numerous local as well as national exhibitions. He will exhibit drawings and watercolors at the Countryside Gallery.

Barbara Aubin, who will show oil paintings, has received many awards including the Huntington Hartford Grant for Painting, Buenos Aires Convention Act Grant to Haiti, twice, and the George D. Brown Foreign Travel Fellowship.

Included in "Who's Who In American Art," the artist is represented in the permanent collection of the Art Institute of Chicago, Ball State Teachers College, Muncie, Ind., and Centre d'Art, Port-au-Prince, Haiti.

This exhibition will continue at the Countryside Gallery until June 5. Regular gallery hours are from 1 to 4 p.m. daily except Monday. For further information call 253-3005 during gallery hours. (Bill

Repertory Theatre Planned at Ravinia

The American Conservatory Theatre will present several plays in a four-week repertory season at Ravinia's Murray Theatre immediately following the Ravinia Festival's eight-week season of music and ballet.

The drama season will begin Aug. 23 and continue through Sept. 18.

Announcement of the Chicago area debut of the theatrical company, organized in 1965, was made by Ronald M. Kimball, chairman of the Ravinia Festival Association.

The introduction of the American Conservatory Theatre to the 31st festival's schedule introduces a company of first rank theatre people, said Kimball. The group's experience and past performances include impressive theatre credits, as well as many motion pictures and television, he continued.

The American Conservatory Theatre was founded as a non-profit, educational institution to bring together the finest directors, authors, playwrights and educators in the theatre arts. It was made possible through a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation to Carnegie Tech in association with the Pittsburgh Playhouse to develop a professional program. It also received a substantial gift from the A. W. Mellon Educational and Charitable Trust.

Director of the 63-member company is William Ball, who has directed at all major theatre festivals in America.

SIDNEY POITIER helps Elizabeth Hartman to string beads in this scene from "A Patch of Blue," opening tomorrow (Friday) at the Randhurst Cinema. Co-starred is Shelley Winters, who won an Oscar as Best Supporting Actress for her role in this poignant drama of a blind girl who sees beauty in the world through the eyes of a man who befriends her. On the same program is "Darling," starring the winner of the Best Actress Award, Julie Christie.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

MOTHER

It's a simple word, but in the heart of every human breast it holds a very special place. From the beginning of life, it brings the first realization of warmth, love, help and understanding. In the tender years of youth, there is no matching solace, no equal port in stormy times of pain, doubt or discomfort. In the green years of approaching maturity, no readier source of guidance and understanding.

Through the span of a lifetime, through thick and thin, through right and wrong, the proud days and the forgetful hours, there is a constant and unwavering love, an unending impulse to counsel, guide, help, shape, protect, and, above all—to love.

There is no substitute for Mother, nothing so indestructible as a Mother's love.

Once a year, we set aside a day of tribute. It is a time for flowers, and gifts. Let it be so. But, above and beyond sweet sentiments, let each and every heart that has been privileged to share the warmth of a Mother's love speak out in gratitude:

"Thank you, Mom."

Growing Concern

The volume of mail handled annually by the Post Office Department is 72 billion pieces. It is expected to reach 100 billion by 1975.

Sorority Activities

Alumnae In Midst of Busy Season

DELTA ZETA

Lawn mowers, sports equipment, household items, toys and children's and adult clothing will fill the garage at the home of Mrs. Frank Scarpelli, 500 S. Pine, Arlington Heights, on Saturday, May 5, for a garage sale sponsored by area Delta Zeta alums. "A Boutique of Bargains" will be offered from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in this benefit event which is the sorority alums' second annual sale.

Last year's proceeds were used to buy a professional library for Clearbrook School for the Mentally Retarded, and this year the alums have chosen to give profits to the Chicago Hearing Society to be used locally.

Delta Zeta's current interest in the field of hearing was instigated in 1945 when the first hearing aid was given to an underprivileged child in the name of Delta Zeta. Since then the project has been adopted nationally, and hundreds of hearing aids have been offered to children in the United States, Hawaii and Norway.

Delta Zeta's affiliation with the American Hearing Society as a major philanthropy was introduced at the 1962 convention. Of the 168 hearing society member organizations, 109 are located near alumnae or collegiate chapters of Delta Zeta.

The sorority supports the society financially, with equipment gifts, office help, transportation of patients and by making visual aid toys for preschool clinics.

DELTA GAMMA

A salad bar luncheon is planned for Monday, May 9, by the area Delta Gammas. Mrs. Marshall Field Jr., Oak Trail Road, Long Grove, will be hostess, assisted by Mrs. Donald Overstrom, Mrs. Russell Becker and Mrs. William Harding.

Members are asked to bring a favorite salad to this annual event, which begins at 1 p.m. New alumnae in the area may call Mrs. Field, 438-7475, for details.

Special guest will be Mrs. Charles E. Gates of Wheaton, who is second vice president of Delta Gamma.

Northwest Suburban Chapter of Delta Gamma again will conduct a drive for used eyeglasses next fall.

The 1965 collection netted more than 3,000 glasses, eyeglasses, frames and cases obtained in the suburbs of Park Ridge, Des Plaines, Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights, Palatine and Barrington.

The glasses are sent to "New Eyes for the Needy," a nonprofit, non-sectarian organization which sorts and repairs them for distribution to needy persons in the United States and other countries.

Mrs. William Bond, 1965 chairman of the drive, asked that northwest suburbanites save these needed items now for next fall's drive.

BETA SIGMA PHI

WEDNESDAY, April 20, Phi Gamma Phi joined other chapters at Chevy Chase to mark the 35th anniversary of the sorority. Girl of the Year chosen from Phi Gamma Phi is Miss Nancy Broadbent of Rolling Meadows. Special guest of the evening was Mrs. Noel Ream of Hope School.

New officers will take over their duties Thursday, May 5, when the chapter meets at the Lauterburg and Oehler Funeral Home in Arlington Heights.

ALPHA OMICRON PI

A potluck dinner and bridge will highlight the final meeting of the season of the Northwest Suburban Alpha Omicron Pi alumnae. Mrs. David Dole will be hostess in her Des Plaines home at 7 p.m. Wednesday, May 11.

Any alumnae in the area desiring more information may call Mrs. John Holmes, 392-6640.

The Xi Zeta Epsilon Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi celebrated the 35th anniversary of the organization's founding at Abilene, Kans., with a banquet at Old Orchard Country Club April 26.

In addition to the banquet, traditional ceremonies were observed. New members were welcomed by Mrs. Frank Wiedl. The history of the Arlington Heights Exemplar Chapter was reviewed by Mrs. F. Vernon Schlexer, the Founder's Day Pledge was led by Mrs. Russell Lindholm, and the special message from the sorority's founder, Walter W. Ross, was read by Mrs. Donald Whiston.

Highlight of the evening's program was the naming of the chapter's "Girl of The Year," Mrs. R. P. Howe, retiring chapter president. Mrs. Bernard Bird, 1964 "Girl of the Year," announced the selection and presented a gift and crown to Mrs. Howe.

Mrs. Darwin Miller served as chairman of the Founder's Day Banquet and acted as toastmistress for the evening.

Immediately following the evening's program, the ritual of the Exemplar Degree was held honoring Mrs. Regis Balkey.

KAPPA KAPPA Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held its Founder's Day banquet April 28 at Golden Host Restaurant. Mrs. Jill Legg was announced as the chapter's "Girl of the Year."

Mrs. Legg and Mrs. Joan Miller received stars for their charm bracelets for perfect attendance. Mrs. Margarita Dupre and Miss Gloria Huberty were given their Ritual of Jewels pins.

Cookies and candy made by chapter members were delivered to Chicago State Hospital where the goodies were served as refreshments at a dance for the patients. Scrap books and baby bibs made by the chapter were sent to Cook County Hospital.

The group will meet tonight (Thursday) at the home of Mrs. Jeanette Rhoback. They will try various ballet exercises.

Several members plan to attend the Chicago Metropolitan Area Council meeting in Elgin Sunday, May 15. They are Mrs. May, Miss Huberty, Mrs. Legg and Mrs. Donna Sell.

PANHELLENIC

Sorority life and seniors will be topics of interest at the closing luncheon meeting of the Chicago Northwest Suburban Area Panhellenic Association.

The luncheon will be held Thursday, May 12, at Old Orchard Country Club at 12:30 p.m.

The recent Panhellenic Information Party for high school seniors will be discussed.

Reservations for the luncheon-book review must be made by Tuesday, May 10. Anyone interested in attending may contact Mrs. Clifford Cooper, CL 3-6610. Guests of Panhellenic members are welcome.

GARAGE SALE ITEMS for Delta Zeta's "A Bouquet of Bargains," are gathered by Mrs. Merrill Froney, Mrs. Frank Blake, president, and Mrs. Frank Scarpelli. The sale will be held at the home of Mrs. Scarpelli, 500 S. Pine, Arlington Heights, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday, May 7. (Staff photo) (S

The GFWC will present the national award to the club sending in the best report on an individual "Woman of Achievement" at its Diamond Jubilee convention in June. The report covers accomplishments, personality, and reasons for the choice of each candidate.

ACCORDING to Mrs. Norman Jacobs, American Citizenship Chairman, who submitted Mrs. Greaves' report, "The results of her fine work, both at home and in the community are an inspiration to all who know her. Darlene describes what she believes to be the ideal representative of American womanhood. 'She is a gracious, congenial, good-natured, "people loving" person who can converse, make people feel at home, has a general interest in her surroundings, a person well-rounded in capabilities. Not one who says "I can't do it" and won't give it a try.

'A helpmate to her husband and a good homemaker in all its facets, with ideals within the family realm of responsibility, teacher of the truth and a dedicated Christian example to her family, neighbors and friends.'

"To us, Darlene is all this, and more: a constant inspiration of what a woman can do in the roles of wife, mother and responsible citizen of the community," concluded Mrs. Jacobs. (S

Artist Theme Fetes Queen At Bethel Friends' Night

An artist's pallette bearing the name "Carol" in silver letters formed the background April 17 for Friends' Night of Bethel 103 when Miss Carol Malmquist served as honored queen. Centerpiece for the dining hall was a large doll dressed as an artist and standing at an easel.

To further carry out the theme, Miss Malmquist, daughter of the Raymond Malmquists of Arlington Heights was greeted in song by five Bethel members, also dressed as artists. The background was created by Mr. Malmquist and the gavel used by the queen was the one her mother had used when she had served her own bethel as honored queen.

"Agents of Change"

Conference Studies Status of Women

by PAT ADAM
Suburban Living Editor

A woman's place is no longer strictly the home but full participation in all aspects of national life. That was the theme of speakers at a two-day conference in downtown Chicago last week attended by about 250 women from throughout Illinois.

The conference on "Women: Agents of Change" was co-sponsored by the Illinois Governor's Commission on Status of Women, the Women's Division of the Illinois Department of Labor and the Women's Bureau of the U.S. Department of Labor.

"The home place has expanded to encompass the community, the state and the nation," said Mrs. Mary Hilton, deputy director of the Women's Bureau, in her keynote address Thursday.

"WOMEN'S INTEREST in having a voice in public affairs is neither feminist nor militant—it is the essence of femininity and womanly concern for our family, children cern for our family, children,

Mrs. Hilton listed several steps already taken at the federal level to improve the status of women, including implementation of the Civil Rights Act, the Women's Job Corps and the Neighborhood Youth Centers.

American womanpower continues to be under-utilized, however, she noted, and this power is needed, she said, for the nation in the next few years will require 900,000 additional school teachers and college instructors, 1 million more specialists in health services, another 800,000 science and engineering technicians and 4½ million state and local employes.

TO HELP MEET this demand, Mrs. Hilton called for expanded counseling for young girls and mature women.

"Even if they marry, young girls will work outside the home sometime," she said, "and this is an age that puts a premium on skills and ability."

Mature women need counseling so they can enter the work force and meaningful activity outside the home, she declared.

"The average woman can expect 30 plus years of active life once her family is launched. She needs to be retrained to develop new skills or update old ones."

Following the keynote address a panel of two women and two men explored attitudes towards roles of women in today's society. Serving as chairman was Sister M. Ann Ida, president of Mundelein College. Panel members were Miriam Shelden, dean of women at the University of Illinois; Samuel C. Bernstein, administrator of the Illinois Bureau of Employment Security, and Kendall Lingle, public administration consultant.

THEIR DISCUSSION brought out the following points:

—Women are gaining recognition in gainful employment.

—There still is a tendency to think of women as "not belonging" in the working world, particularly in the upper echelon and policy-making positions.

—Laws tend to perpetuate the idea that women are less qualified.

"Lawmakers need to be impressed with the fact that women make up one-third of the labor force," said Bernstein.

—There is insufficient emphasis on vocational training for the 50 per cent of high school girls who are not college-bound.

—Equal employment opportunity laws tend to motivate business and industry to think, experiment and innovate and as a result they realize their prejudices against women are ill-advised and financially unwise.

—One of the first changes to be wrought is to break the poverty cycle in which so many women are caught.

"WOMEN MUST make their ideas known, they must have confidence in and the support of other women and they must have staying power if they are to effect change," concluded Dean Shelden.

Women need a new image, Richard Graham, member of the federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, told the conference at Thursday's luncheon meeting.

The image-makers (mass media) usually portray woman's place as in the home and her role as that of consumer, he said.

Job discrimination against women, Graham said, is due partly to inadequate preparation of women for working roles, partly to their own idea of their role in society and partly to the national attitude.

GRAHAM LISTED several ways the Equal Opportunity Commission hopes to eliminate discrimination against women in the job market.

The federal agency will ask management to try management training programs for women re-entering the labor market. It will accumulate information on the retrainability of women. It will encourage recruitment of those coming back into the working world. And it will seek a solution to the "dead end" job—the one offering no opportunity to move into positions of more responsibility though the woman is qualified.

The Commission already has discussed with television executives changing woman's image on TV, he said.

At Friday's luncheon meeting the conference speaker was Dr. Bennetta B. Washington, director of Women's Centers of the Job Corps.

WHILE STATISTICS quoted by Dr. Washington indicate women are coming up in the academic world, in 1960 there still were four million adult women with five years or less of schooling.

Women make up one-third of the labor force, she said, but they are concentrated in the less skilled trades with largest percentages in clerical and service jobs. Few women hold policy-making position in government and industry, she continued.

Noting there are 32 million persons living in poverty, she declared that "the family of misfortune breeds children of misfortune."

The Job Corps Centers are agents to change this cycle, providing girls with opportunity, redemption and hope, Dr. Bennetta said. Girls coming into the Job Corps are "beaten" and unloved, but they want to learn, and the Corps is helping them to have increased aspirations, she said.

ANOTHER PROGRAM connected with the Job Corps involves 27 million women. Inter-religious and inter-racial, Women in Community Service (WICS) is composed of untrained but sensitive, intelligent women who help screen girls for the Corps, arrange transportation and other details and help the girls to adjust when they leave the Corps.

"Legislation is paper," dedeclared Dr. Bennetta. "It must be reinforced by the heart and talent of individuals such as WICS.

"If you want social change, you must mobilize the entire community and society. Some individuals must work for all individuals."

Thursday afternoon and Friday morning were devoted to workshops on business and government, schools, self-education and social mechanisms for change. Recommendations from these workshops were presented at the closing session Friday afternoon. (See separate story on recommendations.)

Opinions Differ on Female Role

What They Did in Workshops

by JOAN LORENSON
Staff Writer

Their hats ranged from flowered chapeau to Salvation Army bonnet to nun's wimple and they had as differing viewpoints on the role of the female.

But the women wearing this varied apparel agreed to certain "basics" after workshop sessions last week at the second annual conference on "Women: Agents of Change," sponsored by the Illinois Governor's Commission on Status of Women, the Women's Division of the Illinois Department of Labor and the Women's Bureau of the U.S. Department of Labor.

AGREEMENT exists that:
—Women should receive the same pay a man would receive for the same job. They should campaign for an equal pay law.

—Illinois should have a minimum wage law. Women often are found in jobs that would be affected by this kind of law.

—Counseling is needed for young girls of high school age and for mature women re-entering the job market.

—Girls with ability should be encouraged to go to college and to do graduate work in college. More financial grants and fellowships should be made available to them for graduate work.

The greatest difference of opinion was on the amount of emphasis that should be placed on preparation of a woman for her role as wife and mother.

ONE WORKSHOP concerning women as agents of change through education, for example, stressed the need for home economics training for girls. They contended all women have homes; a large proportion marries and marries earlier. These women believed the value of home economics training should not be underplayed.

Women also split on their opinion on protective working laws for women in the state of Illinois. Some women believe the legislation should be repealed. Others fear the effect by unscrupulous employers.

Dr. Dietrich Reitzes, professor of sociology at George Williams College, expressed a differing viewpoint. "Maybe it's a mistake to talk of women as a homogeneous group," he said. If women cannot agree on their aspirations, they have a handicap, he added. The keystone to achieving gains is "pulling together" consistently.

HE BELIEVED the conference failed to clarify what the women considered their concern and at what point they should do what.

The workshop specifically discussing women in business and government recommended support of equal pay and minimum wage laws in Illinois. Women should write their legislators citing their support of this legislation. Also, they need to press their legislator on his viewpoint on the bills.

Sen. Robert Cherry advised them this kind of legislation had to have enforcement provisions if it were to be effective.

This period is like World War II years with a shortage of workers and subsequent greater opportunity for women, the workshop noted. It cited more need for women in nursing since Medicare legislation will affect the hospital load. New technical occupations are opening and expanding; electronics and medical technicians are in increasing demand.

HOUSEHOLD HELP needed in day care centers and institutions will increase.

A workshop exploring the question of women in schools suggested aspirations of girls should be increased. The women advocated some exploration of the use of mother-teacher aids. They observed parents, especially mothers, with time are involved and interested in the learning process.

Appropriations should be made for research to identify the role and significance of volunteers, a workshop group discussing women as agents of change through education decided. The researchers might also determine ways to make volunteers' roles significant and suggest training for supervisors of volunteers. A clearing house publicizing volunteer positions available also should be established, the group recommended.

WOMEN IN this group believed a center for continuing education should be started. This center would not limit programs to women working toward a degree or retraining. They advocated more flexible college programming to allow married women to continue their education.

Women should appear on television so viewers will be able to see "like" women as compared to "soap opera" types, workshop members advocated.

In one of the most dramatic recommendations, the group suggested calling another conference on the changing status of women and including only women with incomes of $3,000 or less. Some observers and experts might be allowed to attend the conference but could not talk, they said.

A permanent commmission on the status of women should be established, a majority of the workshop participants exploring social mechanisms for change agreed. The commission would require adequate financing. It should have broad representation and include women from minority ethnic and racial groups.

THE COMMISSION also should create committees on such things as legislation, another coordinating work done by existing women's organizations.

If women are to be effective agents of change, expanded children's day care centers should be considered. The Fair Employment Practices Act should be amended so employers cannot include sex as a basis of discrimination.

The number one job women face is removing traditionalism as it relates to woman's place in society, workshop members decided. Status of women cannot be improved without the breakdown of this traditionalism they added.

This workshop suggested a course on "social action" be included in high school curricula.

REITZES WARNED the women that changing the role of women automatically changes the role of men since the sexes' roles are complementary. When "you define one sex," Reitzes said, "you define the other. Remember the impact of changes."

He believed the women ignored defining the situation they will face in achieving changed women's role. He also advised the women to start including men in the conferences since "if you want to accomplish something, you cannot talk to yourself."

Reitzes received audible dissent from the audience including a cross section of women when he observed that the women had said little about the power of women. In American society, women are responsible for the central character development of children during a crucial period, he said. The hostility of men often can be attributed to a defense against domination by women and fear they're being pushed back to childhood dependency.

That Morning After Your Child's Been Sick

by BILLIE BACHHUBER

It's not what you think, although I wouldn't be surprised if just as many of you will know what I mean. Actually, the air is just a little foggier and the floor a little farther away than if you had been celebrating. This is the morning after you have been up and down all night with a sick child.

You are afraid to get out of bed—will he be a little cooler, or will you be rushing him to the hospital? From the way you feel, they'll be rushing you to the hospital.

Your head throbs and your knees shake as you totter toward his bedroom, inwardly asking for grace. The steamer still is emitting a weak spray, thank goodness.

YOU GET UP the courage to look at your child. The cheeks are still flushed, but as you lay your hand on his brow, he awakens and gives you a weak smile. That starts up a rasping cough, so you quickly refill the steamer. (It seems to help your nerves, and it may help the cough. At least, that's what you've been told.)

He does seem a little cooler, you tell yourself, as you grope your way downstairs to put on the coffee. You half wish that you would succumb suddenly to the same bug, so you could crawl back under the covers and have a good bawl (and a good rest!).

No such luck, thank goodness. Mothers are made of stainless steel, lucky for families.

STRENGTH SEEMS to flow back into your body after that first cup of coffee. You used courage and restraint in not calling the doctor during the night when that temperature reached 104. (Anyway, you know enough to give a child aspirin, an alcohol sponge, a chest and back rub and to put on the steamer and worry, worry, worry!).

Finally, you think it is safe to telephone in your tale of woe. If it isn't the doctor's day off, nine times out of ten by the time you do get to see him, the child's temperature is back to normal although you aren't.

Ask any mother!

Two events within a week are on the calendar for the Chicago Kiwi Club, a champagne luncheon Saturday to install new officers and a national convention May 12-14 in Boston.

Among new officers to be greeted at Saturday's luncheon at Meadowbrook Country Club, Melrose Park, is a localite, Mrs. Richard Carroll of Addison, who will become treasurer of the club.

TWENTY-SEVEN Kiwi members from the Chicagoland area will be costumed as Redcoats for their talent night performance at the seventh national Kiwi convention at Boston's Sheraton Plaza Hotel.

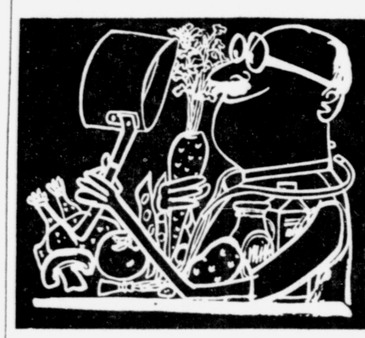
Attending the Boston convention from this area will be Mrs. James MacLeod and Mrs. William Finnegan Jr., both of Elk Grove Village; Mrs. Howard Kutz of Palatine, Mrs. William Weincht of Arlington Heights, Mrs. William McCoppin of Prospect Heights and Mrs. Carroll of Addison. (SSD



Doctor in the Kitchen

by Dr. W. W. Bauer

Are you overweight?

Are you dieting now?

Have you been successful in reaching the weight you desire but then regained your former overweight in a period of time?

If your answer is "yes" to questions like these, you are one of thousands of people who have experienced frustration with their weight problem.

THE NEWEST and most professional thinking suggests the only kind of weight control program that will be successful is a tailored plan of living and eating habits — tailored specifically for you.

There is no guarantee of quick results. Quite the contrary. Though a tailor made suit will immediately improve a man's appearance, a tailor made plan of weight control will take time to get results.

You didn't gain weight in a hurry. At least most of us didn't. It came on gradually, perhaps over a period of years. The important point now is not so much what you will weigh five weeks from now as five years from now.

WHAT IS called for is a retraining of our eating and exercise habits. Whatever our life is now, our eating cannot be as before. We need to adopt new patterns of eating and expending energy that are compatible with our age and way of life. And I venture this will take some doing for each of us.

As a starting point, do you really know what you had to eat last week? Such information is imperative if you are to make any headway at all. It is amazing how most of us kid ourselves, or forget actually what we have eaten and how much. A careful record will form the basis for improvement. Even to the amateur, certain improvements will suggest themselves. Overindulgence in highly rich foods will be apparent.

So make a list of breakfast, lunch and dinner for a week—and don't forget to include between meal eating as well. Be sure to include alcohol and soft drinks. An inventory of this kind is your first step toward personalized weight control. List each food or drink in servings spoons, tablespoons, cups, measurements, such as teaounces, grams or whatever — in other words be as exact as you can.

NEXT, LIMIT the portions of what you eat. Start out eating the same foods, but less of most, and maybe cutting out entirely any foods that obviously are in the rich dessert class, or overly fatty, such as fried foods. Broil your meats instead, for example.

There's more to this. Like determining for sure that you are getting the proper number of servings of foods from the four food groups. And which foods are highest in calories. We'll talk about this in a future column. Meantime, any of you who are seriously overweight — ten pounds or more — should see your doctor before starting any weight control program.

Madame President

Children's Needs Concern Hospital Volunteers Leader

by JUDY TREMORE

A woman who knows what she wants to do, Mrs. Robert Gutmann says she does not know how to go about it. The elementary education major dreams of working with native handicrafts and teaching them to children who are slow learners.

"Even a child who is a slow learner or handicapped can learn to work with his hands and have a sense of pride," she believes.

She finds satisfaction in working with her hands and would like to take courses, when she has time, in crafts, art of special education and work with the handicapped.

A member of Pi Beta Phi social sorority, Mrs. Gutmann may have become more interested in native handicrafts because of the Pi Phi Settlement School in Gatlenburg, Tenn. Started as a social work move to help some of the people in Appalachia, the school has become a productive area of persons working in weaving, basketry and silver works.

Mrs. Gutmann's problem is just where to get started — through the schools, Clearbrook Center, Little City or maybe even the YMCA, she speculates.

Right now she is serving as first president of the Cook County Hospital Volunteer Auxiliary, Arlington Heights branch. The auxiliary is working with the children's hospital to supply it with needed items such as diapers, baby clothes, games, toys and even curtains.

Mrs. Gutmann's job is to tie together loose ends; she coordinates the hospital's current needs with the main auxiliary in Chicago and finds things her group can do. She said the Arlington Heights auxiliary is composed mainly of young mothers with small children who cannot get out often but can sew or knit at home.

Sewing, knitting, embroidering, refinishing furniture and German and Scandinavian baking and cooking are high on Mrs. Gutmann's list of things to do when she isn't tending to the needs of her three daughters. Debbie is 4½; Karen, 3½, and Ruth Ann, 15 months. Mrs. Gutmann says she enjoys her home and finds little need to get out often.

The Gutmanns moved to their home on Russel Street in Mount Prospect 1½ years ago but have lived here for three years. Both were born in Chicago and she was graduated from Purdue University. Mr. Gutmann is a systems engineer for IBM and attended Oberlin College and the University of Chicago. (SSD

BUSY NOW WITH HER HOME, three daughters, a husband and volunteer work, Martha Gutmann, president of Cook County Volunteer Auxiliary, looks forward to the day when she will have time to take some arts or crafts courses and teach handicrafts to slow learners. (Staff photo)

Cook Combines Talents: Tasty Food, Flower Arranging

by LOIS SEILER

Delicious food and lovely flowers combine to make dining at the Lawrence Brown home a pleasant affair.

Mrs. Brown, who was a food major at the University of Michigan, is also adept at flower arrangements, and she happily combines these talents in her homemaking endeavors.

Her interest in flowers extends outside the home as well, as she is chairman of Arlington Heights Garden Club's seventh flower show to be held at Pioneer Park May 14 and 15.

"We are quite excited about the show," Mrs. Brown commented enthusiastically. "It is called 'Arlington A Gro - Gro' and depicts the growth of Arlington Heights over the years," she explained.

IT IS A toss-up as to which Ann Brown enjoys the most—arranging flowers or preparing the food for dinner parties. But there is no doubt about which is her favorite dish for serving a large crowd.

"It is called a Chinese Casserole," Mrs. Brown explained, "because it contains many of the ingredients found in Chinese dishes such as rice, slivered almonds, celery, onions and green pepper."

However, the meat in this dish is unusual, as bulk pork sausage is used. The recipe also calls for four packages of dry chicken soup and 8 cups of water.

"This seems like a lot of liquid," Mrs. Brown remarked, "but it is all absorbed during the baking period."

The basic recipe makes two casseroles that will serve 12, and it can easily be doubled for 24. It can be prepared a day ahead, or the casserole may be baked and frozen to keep on hand for unexpected guests.

THIS DISH IS almost a complete meal in itself as it contains rice and noodles, vegetables and meat. Mrs. Brown suggests accompanying it with a tossed salad and thin ice box rye. She spreads the rye bread with butter, sprinkles it with Italian seasoning and pops it under the broiler for a few minutes.

"The pork sausage gives this casserole a hearty flavor that men seem to enjoy," Ann commented. She recommends it for a luncheon, as women, too, like this casserole's unusual and delicious flavor.

If this dish is to be used for a buffet supper, bar cookies are easy to handle as a dessert. Mrs. Brown has two favorites, and both are recipes that her mother brought home from Canada. One is called Nanaimo Squares; the other Coconut Bars.

"The Nanaimo Squares are a frozen dessert and are so rich they almost taste like candy," Mrs. Brown said.

THE SQUARES have a firm bottom layer flavored with cocoa, coconut and chopped walnuts. This is topped by a delicious butter cream mixture which, in turn, has bitter chocolate spread over all.

This dessert is cut into squares and stored in the freezer until serving time. They are an elegant and delicious confection for tea or coffee parties as well as buffet suppers.

The coconut bars are also made in layers and have a graham cracker base with a coconut filling. These two layers are baked, and then the bars are iced with a powdered sugar frosting.

"This recipe is easy to whip together," said Ann Brown. "The Bars have a chewy texture and appealing coconut flavor."

THE NANAIMO Squares and Coconut Bars are a nice combination on a dessert tray, and guests can take their pick.

Both make a big hit with children, too, and are enjoyed by Mrs. Brown's three boys: Michael, 8, who is in second grade at Windsor School; Kenneth, 5½, a kindergartener, and Russ, who is 3.

In addition to her activities in Arlington Heights Garden Club, Mrs. Brown is vice president of Pi Beta Phi Alumnae Club, participates in the Women's synchronized swimming program "Mermaid Mamas" at the YMCA, and works in the cribbery and pre-nursery on Sundays at the First Presbyterian Church.

The Brown family lives at 7 N. Forrest in Arlington Heights.

MIKE, KENNY AND RUSS Brown look on with interest as their mother, Mrs. Lawrence Brown of Arlington Heights, prepares one of her specialties, a Chinese Casserole. Pork sausage, vegetables, rice and noodles combine to give this "meal in one" a hearty and delicious flavor. One of Mrs. Brown's favorites for serving a large crowd, the basic recipe makes two large casseroles which will serve 12 generously.

Week's Best Food Buys

A general drop was measured at most market levels for all types of beef, pork and lamb. Promotions were the most common method of retail price reduction. General levels held firm. Examples are top brand bacon occasionally 79 cents a pound, mostly 98; center cut pork chops low at 79 cents a pound, generally 95; blade cut beef chuck roasts featured at 39 cents, generally quoted at 59 competitively.

Fryers still quoted close to arrival cost at 29 cents a pound, mostly 39 cents for cut-up chicken. Large eggs take a price drop; medium-sized and small-sized hold high.

There are few produce bargains. The biggest drop measured for sweetcorn, cabbage and tomatoes. Cucumbers are still cheap. Cantaloup quality is low, but volume building.

CHICAGO-AREA food values: Meats: beef pot roasts, rib roasts, stewing beef, hamburger; pork chops, rib and loin end roasts; lamb leg roasts and shoulder chops; sausage meats.

Poultry: large eggs, fryers.

Produce: sweetcorn, lettuce, cucumbers, tomatoes and cabbage. (SH

Big Show Set for May 14-15

Flora Specimens Galore at Arlington A-Gro Gro

One of the largest collections of flowers, potted plants, house plants, fruits and vegetables ever assembled in the northwest suburbs is anticipated for the Arlington Heights Garden Club's flower show "Arlington A-Gro Gro," announced general chairman, Mrs. Lawrence Brown. The show will be held at Pioneer Park Saturday, May 14, from 2 to 7 p.m. and Sunday, May 15, from 1 to 5 p.m.

The horticulture and junior divisions are open to the public and all area amateur gardeners are invited to enter specimen blooms. Entries will be received between 8 and 10:30 a.m. Saturday, May 14, and must be removed at 5 p.m. May 15. House plants must be the property of exhibitors for a 3-month period.

The artistic division will depict the village's growth in education, recreation, business, industry, services, culture, religion, health and transportation. Among the exhibits will be a twin arrangement interpretating New Math, titled "Sets and Pairs." Mrs. Joseph Koenen, CL 9-4514 may be called for entry details.

THE JUNIOR section is designed for ages six to 16. The artistic division will portray "Defense" an arrangement incorporating a military toy: "Candy Striper's Contribution," a tray for a special day in a hospital pediatrics ward and "Transportation," an arrangement including an article suggesting some transportation mode.

Junior horticulture will feature potted plants, cacti, eggshell gardens, branches of flowering shrubs or trees and sweet potatoes grown in water. Junior exhibit rules are:

1. Flowers and plants must be grown by the exhibitor or be in his possession for three months before the show.
2. Entry cards must state exhibitor's age.
3. Flowers in the artistic division need not be grown by the exhibitor.

An added fillip to the flower show will be a musical program presented by Mr. and Mrs. William Fricke accompanied by pianist Miss Kimberly Schmidt. The Frickes are affiliated with the Austin Academy of Fine Arts, the Apollo and American Opera Companies, and are members and performers of the Northwest Chapter of the Lyric Opera Guild. They will present a one-hour program with selections denoting flowers and gardens on both Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

Advance tickets at reduced rates may be obtained by calling Mrs. William Platte, CL 5-0129 or from any garden club member.

"Color and Texture in Arrangements" will be the theme of speaker Mrs. Arthur F. Fritz of Park Ridge when she presents her program at the club's workshop at Pioneer Park Field House, Monday, May 9 at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Fritz, past president of the Park Ridge Garden Club, is a nationally accredited amateur flower show judge holding a master certificate and is a board member of the Chicago Horticulture Club.

"Since the two art principles of color and texture are important in supplying interest and variety in a design this program will be of special value to arrangers entering the Arlington A Gro Gro flower show May 14th and 15th," says Mrs. Joseph Koenen, program chairman.

Those planning to attend are asked to bring a container, pin holder, flowering branches and flowers. Flowers may be ordered from Mrs. Koenen, CL 9-4514. (S

FOR Moms of Every Age: A New Hair Style

SHORT CAPPED COIFFURE hugging the face will be the Mother's Day choice in hair-do for Mrs. Mabel Onkst, a grandmother and great-grandmother from Arlington Heights. A chic style for the grey-tressed woman, this style features short length with soft wave at the height of the crown. Artist is Ruth Montgomery of Mount Prospect.

POPULAR FLIP with side bang becomes Mrs. Richard C. Jensen of Arlington Heights, busy mother of 3½-year-old Danny. Light and versatile, this hairdo waves easily down to the soft and loosely turned up ends, a style easy to manage and adaptable for party wear and caring for home and baby. Judy McGehee of Arlington Heights created this hair fashion.

FLOWING WAVES over the hairline is a favorite hair style of Mrs. L. Travosek of Arlington Heights, mother of two teenagers, ages 17 and 16. With her family almost grown, the mother of a teenager can treat herself to "the works," including hair coloring if necessary and wear as simple or elaborate a coiffure as the occasion demands. Artist is Carole Breust of Arlington Heights.

St. Alexius Hospital 'Gala' Is May 21

St. Alexius Hospital Auxiliary will hold a Dedication Gala at the hospital May 21 from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. to help celebrate the anticipated opening of the hospital in Elk Grove Village.

Auxilians will soon be busy transforming the efficient, antiseptic atmosphere of the building into a setting for an exciting evening of dancing. Three adjoining assembly rooms on the ground floor will become a gayly decorated ballroom, with Chuck Cavallo and his orchestra on hand to help make the magic transition.

THE NEARBY cafeteria and day nursery will be utilized for serving beverages. The adjoining patio will help enhance the change of hospital to ballroom.

Brother Gregory, CFA, hospital administrator, and the other Alexian Brothers who have been working to get the hospital ready for the official opening will have a rare opportunity for a "night out" in the hospital.

OFFICIALS OF all surrounding communities have been invited, and the auxiliary invites all friends of the hospital to the gala.

Tickets are available through auxiliary members or by contacting Mrs. Robert Eitzenhoefer, 437-0352. May 11 is the deadline.

Persons interested in auxiliary membership may contact Mrs. Clifford Babbs, 894-9302.

THE ANTISEPTIC ATMOSPHERE of the new St. Alexius Hospital, Elk Grove Village, will be transformed into a romantic ballroom for the Dedication Gala planned by the hospital auxiliary for Saturday, May 12. Making gondola balloon decorations for the dance are, standing, Mrs. Robert King of Addison, chairman of the gala; Mrs. George Hansen, Arlington Heights, ticket chairman, and Mrs. Ken Grabe, Elk Grove; seated, Mrs. Richard N. Johnson, Elk Grove, decorations chairman; Mrs. Joseph Baima, Wood Dale, and Mrs. Roy Cavilae, Park Ridge. Opening day for the hospital has not yet been announced.

TV Personality to Star At Arlington AAUW Event

Miss Lois Brooks, a television personality, will be the featured speaker at the May 9 banquet meeting of the American Association of University Women's Arlington Heights Branch. The banquet will be held at Long Grove Country Club with cocktails at 6:30 p.m. and dinner at 7.

Miss Brooks, whose TV program, "Our Two Cents Worth," has won national and local awards, began her professional training at the age of 7, when she appeared on children's programs in New York. She retired two years later and did not resume her professional career until four years ago.

HER CLIMB to TV prominence did not follow the usual path. Instead of majoring in speech or dramatics while at Northwestern University, Miss Brooks took pre-legal courses in preparation for a law career, plans for which were interrupted by her marriage to Dr. Harold Durschlag, North Shore optometrist. Until 1962, she was a full-time housewife and mother to her three children, two of whom are now teenagers.

Miss Brooks' public life took a new direction when she was selected by the Chicago Boy Scouts to lead a WTTW refresher course and incentive program for den mothers. She soon became a writer for the series, which ultimately drew mail response from over 4,000 den mothers. This series was the inspiration for "The Den Mothers' Workshop" which has already been seen in New York, is currently on Channel 32, Chicago, and is scheduled for St. Louis and Detroit in the near future.

Another of Miss Brooks' outstanding productions was "Our Two Cents Worth," which appeared for two years and was the first teenage "talk" program in the country featuring frank discussions by teenagers.

Because of her ability to stimulate candid and lively conversation from her participants, Miss Brooks was honored last spring with the "Golden Mike" award by McCall's Magazine. The previous year, she won the coveted "Emmy" award from the Academy for Television Arts and Sciences, Chicago Chapter.

Miss Brooks also moderates the "Kumzitz" discussion program telecast over WBKB every Sunday morning at 11. "Kumzitz" features professional entertainment as well as conversations by teenagers. (S

The double ring service uniting the couple was held in First Methodist Church of Arlington Heights in a setting of white snapdragons, mums and palms. Dr. Amos Thornburg officiated at the 7 p.m. ceremony, which was followed by a buffet dinner reception in Arlington Heights Masonic Temple.

THE BRIDE chose a floor-length gown of re-embroidered alencon lace fashioned with a peau de soie band and bow at the empire waist. Buffalo Grove Woman Honored

Holy Family Names Employee of Year

Mrs. Robert E. Halligan of Buffalo Grove, has been chosen "Employee of the Year" by her colleagues on the staff of Holy Family Hospital.

"Whether working with fellow-staffers or contributing to the care and welfare of patients, Mrs. Halligan is always accommodating" according to other members of the staff. Nurses report that her clear-cut explanation of duties to her staff eliminates "slips" in getting a good job done. She continuously follows up this training w i t h business-like but pleasant supervisory checks, according to the nurses.

Because she deals with a number of Spanish-speaking people, Mrs. Halligan taught herself "hospital Spanish" to accommodate to their ways. "By extending fairness and understanding willingly, she has made a major contribution to the teamwork spirit in her department," commented her supervisor. Systematized a n d thorough housekeeping methods introduced by Mrs. Halligan are easily understood and have produced outstanding results report her co-workers.

SIX YEARS ago Mrs. Halligan was hospitalized for six weeks with meningitis, an experience which led her into hospital work. She started with Holy Family Hospital as a housekeeping aide in 1961 and was promoted to crew leader in 1962. In 1963 she was named assistant supervisor, housekeeping.

Mr. Halligan is a tile setter and the couple has three children, ages 17, 14 and 12. The family lives at 171 Raupp Blvd. in Buffalo Grove.

As Holy Family's "Employee of the Year" Mrs. Halligan competed April 26 with 61 other hospital candidates in a Chicago-wide competition sponsored by the Chicago Hospital Council. This national award went to a physical therapist from Illinois Masonic Hospital. (S

"HOSPITAL SPANISH" is the way Mrs. Robert E. Halligan, right, describes the improvised language she has devised to better communicate with the Spanish-speaking employees at Holy Family Hospital. Mrs. Halligan, a resident of Buffalo Grove and assistsupervisor of housekeeping at the hospital, has been named "Employee of the Year." Helping her with linen change is Mina Vega of Arlington Heights.

Wheeling Juniors Set Banquet Date

As Wheeling Junior Woman's Club celebrates its 10th anniversary, the annual spring banquet on May 17 will give recognition to several records made by the club this year. The banquet is slated for the Union Hotel in Wheeling.

Most recent honors for the club were announced at the Illinois Federation convention this week when Mrs. James Wieder of Wheeling Juniors was awarded first place honorable mention in the statewide "Woman of Achievement" contest.

MEMBERS OF THE Wheeling Club attended a Candlelight Breakfast in the Sherman House Wednesday at which time a formal presentation of the award was made.

Mrs. Wieder is a charter member of the club, supporting its programs and projects actively for the past 10 years.

AT THE MAY 17 banquet, new officers will be installed, Mrs. Frank Wojek as second vice president, Mrs. James Ashley as corresponding secretary and Mrs. Vernon Smith as recording secretary.

Projects for the past year have included Wheeling Historical Society and Wheeling Scholarship Foundation, and the club also offered Medical Self Help classes.

The women just added $100 to their scholarship fund for teachers of exceptional children. Last year's aid went to Monica Powell, a teacher at Eugene Field School. (S

Hey, I'm Over Here Now!

The Way We See It

Voters Cannot Be Taken for Granted

Cong. Donald Rumsfeld is continuing the practice of his predecessor, Marguerite Stitt Church, of asking the opinion of his constituents on a few dozen important foreign and domestic issues each year.

As always, the results are interesting.

Although the answers reflect the predominant Republican sympathies of the 13th District, the majority departs quite frequently from the positions held by Republican high officialdom.

This year Viet Nam is the biggest issue. The 13th District is more "hawk" than "dove" but almost two-thirds of the voters make it plain they would welcome an honorable way out of the conflict by supporting a hypothetical request for United Nations mediation of the war.

Uneasiness over Viet Nam and the background of the war may also be responsible for a 78 per cent "yes" answer to the question: Do you favor a greater role for Congress in matters affecting foreign policy and national security?

In the domestic area, Republican criticism of the War on Poverty is supported. Sen. Dirksen's proposals to set aside Supreme Court decisions on reapportionment and school prayer also are favored.

But President Johnson's proposal of a cabinet-rank Department of Transportation has almost as much 13th District support as opposition.

Increasing the minimum wage likewise has almost as much support as opposition, as does the proposal to establish federal unemployment compensation standards.

Especially interesting is the response to a pet project of Democratic Sen. Paul H. Douglas—a federal truth-in-lending bill. The idea has 91 per cent support, the most lopsided response to any question in the entire poll.

The truth-in-packaging proposal of Douglas' Democratic colleague, Sen. Hart of Michigan, also gets landslide endorsement.

The seven issues which generate overwhelming support (more than 75 per cent) are:

—A greater role for Congress in foreign affairs.

—Terminating U.S. aid to nations trading with North Viet Nam.

—Truth in lending.

—Truth in packaging.

—Greater federal efforts against air and water pollution.

—Legislation against strikes damaging the national interest.

—Tax credits for college expenses.

Over-all, the poll reflects the basic independence of thought of the 13th District electorate. It would be difficult for any diehard partisan to be comforted by the results.

It also means that any politician who takes this area's voters for granted can expect an unpleasant surprise. That is the way it should be.

'Get Tough' Approach To Pollution Praised

A new "get tough" approach to pollution has been adopted by the Metropolitan Sanitary District.

Vinton W. Bacon, general superintendent of the district, has told the Cook County Clean Streams Committee that the district will begin holding "show cause" hearings for obvious cases of pollution instead of issuing several preliminary warnings.

The new district procedure is to require a company to show cause why it should not be prosecuted for violating anti-pollution laws. Legal action can be taken any time after the company is cited.

Bacon believes the new approach will produce better results for two reasons: it will cut down on stalling, and it will jolt high company officials into becoming personally involved instead of delegating the problem to subordinates.

Certainly there is no lack of evidence of past stalling. Offhand, we can remember pollution cases involving a Northbrook dairy and an Elk Grove trailer court that dragged on for years.

The Cook County Clean Streams Committee calls the new procedure "the biggest step yet in the fight against industrial contamination of Cook County waters."

We join them in praising the tougher policy, and in their wish that other agencies will adopt the same approach to pollution in their jurisdictions.

Ambulance Code Needed

Establishing and enforcing standards of ability, training, and performance for ambulance drivers and attendants is a proper function of government.

Recent reports indicate some serious gaps exist in this field, both in Cook and DuPage counties and perhaps throughout the state.

Doctors and hospitals report that injured persons sometimes suffer additional injury on their way to the hospital because of insufficient skill or care on the part of ambulance personnel.

Needed is first aid training, training in handling the sick and injured, and driver training.

Steps are being taken to close the gaps that exist.

The President's Committee on Traffic Safety, which opposes violation of traffic laws by ambulance drivers, is drafting a model ordinance. Chicago is holding hearings on an improved ambulance code.

The most good would probably result from a new state code, which would give blanket coverage.

We hope some legislator will interest himself in this matter and prepare now to push for adoption of an adequate ambulance code at the next session of the General Assembly.

Youth Wants To Know...

by T. WILLIAM SWINFORD
Staff Writer

There are many styles of writing for a newspaper.

One syndicated sports columnist in the east writes a daily column and occasionally does a sloppy job of putting one out called "Nobody Asked Me But . . ."

Then here in the midwest we have an occasional penny-ante sports writer who attempts to ape him. This bugs me.

SWINFORD

There are other things that bother me, but I don't want to ape the eastern sports writer, so I am about to begin asking a bunch of questions.

ANYONE with answers is invited to send them to this writer: T. William Swinford, 217 W. Campbell St., Arlington Heights, Ill.

Where has the $7-plus gone that I gave to the junior college district?

If I gave $7 to the junior college district, and every other family in the district gave a like amount, what has happened to the money? (Yes, I read Dave Crippen's excellent coverage of the junior college district.)

WHY IS IT that developers of residential areas insist on getting by with the minimum building requirements?

Isn't it just as easy to put in a little extra quality and charge a little more? Aren't the buyers happier? And the village governments?

Why is it that all the "outs" in every village consider all the "ins" crooks?

WHY CAN'T Illinois have one house in the general assembly apportioned by population and the other apportioned by land area? (With apologies to Robert Cummins.)

What, pray tell, is wrong with 6th, 7th, and 8th graders batting their brains out each fall for a football trophy? And why shouldn't villages build stadiums for them when they don't build tennis courts for others?

Why must people (apologies to Dan Baumann and his cute? little cat) compare politicians with animals? I have never, in all my coverage of political events, seen a politician cuddle up to the press—not even the cute politicians you wish would.

WHO SAYS the streets in Arlington Heights aren't as good as those in Hoffman Estates?

Why is federal aid to education (which is nothing more than your tax money returned) a bad thing? (Especially when you consider the administration of this money is by people appointed by people you elect)?

What constitutes a safe automobile? And, who would buy it? If the state department can shadow suspected communists, why can't General Motors shadow suspected detractors? What would be wrong with Ford shadowing General Motors, while Chrysler and American enter into a subversive agreement to steal Massey - Ferguson's secrets?

THE CUBS aren't going to end up in the eighth place? If not, then it proves that someone who is all mouth can get somewhere.

And what is wrong with a reporter attempting to remain unbiased and believing he is truly unbiased?

A depression? Don't be absurd. That would cause all the dumbniks and stupeniks to look for employment and stand in a bread-line with a tin cup and plate instead of a wooden sign. Good heavens, man, who would protest the government's actions?

Why do a very few of our teens feel they are proving their non-conformity by conforming to standards set by someone too busy to study? Too dirty to be clean? Too worldly to be moral?

And, what is wrong with morality?

Thanks for your indugence. I shall anticipate answering the two letters I receive.

Woman in the News

Madame President

by DAVID J. HANKS
Staff Writer

A woman with a great interest in the community, its schools, and a devotion to her children is Mrs. Norma Magneson, newly-elected president of the Wheeling-Buffalo Grove School Board.

Mrs. Magneson is one of the few woman school board presidents in the northwest suburbs. However, she is the second in about seven years in District 21.

SHE WILL serve until next April, when a new prexy will be elected. The Wheeling-Buffalo Grove board never has a president in power for more than one year at a time.

The attractive housewife and mother of three said it was a great honor to be elected to the presidency. "It offers great challenge," she added.

President Magneson has certain goals which she hopes will be fullfilled during her tenure in office. "I want a closer relationship with the staff and teachers," she said.

"WE (THE BOARD) should be better informed about programs offered by staff members and departments," she stated. She pointed to music and physical education in the school system, and said," "Teachers there are doing new things which were not dreamed of when we were in school."

The board members should be better informed about curriculum in general, she added. Modern math is new and there are also aspects of social studies which are much different.

Mrs. Magneson hopes to devote at least part of one of the board's two meetings monthly to hear about various programs being offered by staff members. It would be an informative and learning session for the board and any other parent that wanted to attend, said Mrs. Magneson.

THE RELATION between the board and the staff is good said Mrs. Magneson, but could be better.

Complimenting the administration team of Supt. Kenneth F. Gill and Asst. Supt. John Barger, Mrs. Magneson said the communication between the two was "just perfect.'

"We receive every communication that Ken sends, whether it's to the staff or to someone outside," she said. "We're very cognizant of everything that goes on," Mrs. Magneson related.

Mrs. Magneson believes it is important and necessary to have a woman on a board of education. Presently there are three. Mrs. Lillian Stiller and Mrs. Mary Reid were elected April 9.

MRS. MAGNESON

"WOMEN ARE in closer touch with the community and the schools," said Mrs. Magneson. When campaigning for the school board in 1964 she said she contended that women handle 85 per cent of the nation's money. So the new president thinks the woman's point of view should be heard on a board of education.

"If there are problems with children at school a mother hears about them first," she added. By the mere fact that a mother is the first parent to see children when they come from school means that they hear 90 per cent of a child's problems.

Mrs. Magneson has long been active in the Parent Teachers Association. She is a former president of the Walt Whitman PTA.

A resident of the Prospect Heights area of District 21 for 10 years Mrs. Magneson's husband Berney is a manager of extrusion sales for the Kaiser Aluminum Co.

SHE HAS THREE children, two at Robert Frost school in Prospect Heights and a 13-year-old at Jack London Junior High.

A graduate of Muskingum College in New Concord, Ohio, Mrs. Magneson received a bachelor of science degree in home economics. A teacher in junior high school for four years in Ohio and Pennsylvania; She also served as a home economist for a gas company in Chicago for two years.

Mrs. Magneson has been active with mental health groups in the northwest suburbs. She is on the board of directors of the Northwest Mental Health Clinic.

Aside from the school board, working with mental health groups is Mrs. Magneson's main interest.

A Revival of Hocktide?

by BOB CUMMINS
Staff Writer

Dictionaries are among the most interesting of books. Especially big fat dictionaries that tell about the origin of words. Browsing through my dictionary the other day, I came upon all sorts of interesting things.

Quite by chance (and not because of the Stanley Cup playoffs) I looked at "hockey" and learned that the word probably is derived from the Old French word, "hoquet," meaning crook, such as a shepherd's crook.

CUMMINS

I like the way the Oxford Universal Dictionary defines "hock." Of course, "hock" has several definitions. I mean "hock" in the sense of Bessie Smith's immortal blues song, "Gimme a Pig's Foot and a Bottle of Beer." The Oxford dictionary defines this kind of "hock" as, "The knuckle end of a gammon of bacon."

THIS LED me to look up the meaning of "gammon." I found out that it is the bottom piece of a flitch of bacon. I suppose you, too, want to know what a flitch is. A flitch is: "The side of an animal, now only of a hog, salted and cured." These researches can become as exciting as a detective story.

"Hocktide" is obsolete now. Once it was "the season of the hock days: Hock Monday and Tuesday (the second Monday and Tuesday after Easter-day), long kept as a festival with various traditional customs."

I think Hocktide ought to be revived.

Did you know that "jargon" began as an Old French word, meaning "the warbling of birds"?

THE ORIGIN of the word "Jehovah" is most interesting. The dictionary tells us: "This word, as being too sacred for utterance, was pointed in the Old Testament by the Masoretes with the vowels of the word adonai, as a direction to the reader to substitute Adonai for the 'ineffable name.' Students of Hebrew at the Revival of Letters took these vowels as those of the sacred name itself, whence, in Latin spelling, IeHoVa(h). It is now held that the original name was IaHUe(h), i.e., Yahweh."

Some women may not like the suspected origin of the word "jug," meaning a deep vessel for holding liquids. The dictionary suspects it may come from another definition of "Jug," now rarely used, i.e., a pet name or familiar substitute for Joan, or Joanna; or applied as a common noun to a homely woman.

Thus, "Whoop, Jug, I love thee" is a line from Act I of Shakespeare's "King Lear."

ONE OF MY favorite listings is "hot cockles." I suppose most of you know all about this but I didn't. For those like me, it is: "A rustic game in which one player covers his eyes and being struck by the others in turn guesses who struck him."

The dictionary tells us "hot cockles" is obsolete and it's not too hard to guess why.

But I think it ought to be revived, along with Hocktide. Hot cockles might serve a useful purpose on the highest levels, say at the United Nations, where delegates could play it as a substitute for war in relieving international tensions.

The Secretary-General could order the Pakistani delegate to cover his eyes. Then someone would really let him have it.

"India! India did it!" The Pakistani delegate would cry. And when he found it was Brazil who slugged him and not India, relations between India and Pakistan would take a turn for the better.

Obsolete? Not hot cockles!

'Any Trivial Incident May Trigger Chaos on School Bus'

Mrs. E. Fagerson's letter regarding "Bus Operations" was very apropos. Mrs. L. Cummins' persistent criticism has been ringing in my ears, and I believe, it was right and just of someone to come to the defense of the bus company and its drivers. All of what was stated in the letter of Mrs. E. Fargeson is very true, and may I add a bit on my own?

Though it would not be fair to give any one high school of District 214 a black eye, ALL, I believe are equally at fault for not trying to curb the "juvenile antics" of some high school non-conformists, or "rebels" or whatever they are, especially their most vulgar behavior on a motor vehicle.

True, there are a lot of good students who must live with the stigma their fellow "misfits" create, and it must be a painful and disturbing thing. It hurts these kids, and I know, as I am a mother of a high school student myself, therefore I must plead anonymity, for this reason.

The first year on a high school bus was nothing but torment, and mental anguish; it took time and understanding and patience to develop an elephant's hide towards these "perpetual clowns." Every bus driver, and you know quite well, because your paper had news of this, was subjected to derisive language, and abuse, let alone total driving distraction by a few of these "punks."

Now, Mrs. Cummins, have you ever witnessed a hair-pulling brawl on a bus? Not boy roughnecks, but girls, smoking cigarettes, against the bus driver's warning. Are you surprised? While adding up the balance sheet of facts and figures, please consider the fact, there is no wage that can compensate a bus driver for being a wet nurse to erratic teenagers. Put that in your memo-book, and let it serve as a counter-balance for your accusations.

Yes, do ride the bus for a while, or better yet, let a reporter assume a bus driver's task for awhile, it would make an interesting assignment—but come prepared—the back of the bus is where they congregate—and any trivial incident may trigger chaos.

Sees Need for Prompt Action On Open Space

The future of Bensenville is largely dependent upon the disposition of the two large open spaces in the area (Mohawk and White Pine). If these areas are developed completely as manufacturing or industrial, the overshadowing effect is that Bensenville will be a factory town in the future.

It is interesting to note that in 1960 the congested city of Chicago had 1.89 acres of recreation land per 1000 people. At the same time the village of Bensenville had only 1.66 acres per 1000 people. (From Technical Report No. 2, Open Space in Northeastern Illinois, page 104).

I realize that the park district board has had only a few years and little money to acquire the land and facilities that are needed. Also that given more time and money the recreation areas will be developed by our dedicated park district board.

However, the pressure that has been exerted upon the people of Bensenville by the various industrial developers does not give us until 1970 or 1975. They want industrial development now and as a result we must also say that the time for acquiring open land is now.

Open space planning is not what to do with the leftovers, it is how to make the most of open areas and should be provided for in a positive manner the same as is done for business districts, industrial or residential development.

Let's have the necessary open areas for playgrounds, parks, etc., so the village will become a balanced suburban village.

Adds Data on Lotus-Modified Cortina Cars

In an article published in the Arlington Heights Herald of April 28 concerning the Ford Cortinas now being distributed at Poole Ford ("Dashing Cortina Featured at Poole's," p. 5, Auto Section), you stated that the Cortina, the Cortina GT, and the Cortina Station Wagon are all modified for Ford by Lotus.

I would like to bring it to your attention that this statement is in error—indeed, none of these models are modified in any way from the standard, production-line versions of these cars marketed in England by the Ford of England Company, except that the U. S. versions have left-hand steering and other related changes.

The only version of the Ford Cortina marketed anywhere in the world that is modified by Lotus is the Ford Lotus-Cortina. Poole Ford has one example of this car presently being displayed on their showroom floor.

The most obvious difference between the Lotus Cortina and its more "sedate" cousins is its exclusive finish—that of white with a distinctive green flash along each side, and three small Lotus crests placed on the body.

The Ford Lotus-Cortina is the result of a successful marriage between Colin Chapman's tiny Lotus factory and the vast English Ford operation. The purpose of the car is to give EnFo (the FoMoCo's English branch) a GT class winner with all the resulting publicity, and also to incorporate the Lotus name in a sporting version of a standard Ford product.

By using the Lotus facilities to assemble the car, Ford has successfully avoided the disruption to its production lines entailed by any form of limited and specialized construction. At the same time, Lotus benefits from a steady income derived from the "mass production" of some 30 cars a week.

The suspension of the Lotus Cortina has undergone considerable modification. It is evident that the complete rear suspension of the stock Cortina GT was unacceptable to Chapman, as the conventional leaf springs have been thrown out and replaced with coil suspension units. These are retained by trailing radius arms on each side and a central A-frame.

As part of the suspension modifications, the car is fitted with 6.00 x 13 tires mounted on special lightweight wheels with a rim section of 5.5 inches. The recommended pressures are 22 pounds front and 27 pounds rear, but as usual with English manufacturers' recommendations, better results are obtained by raising the pressures all around; to 32 pounds.

Actually, the main feature of the Lotus Cortina is the twin cam Lotus engine which produces 105 bhp at 5500 rpm from its 1558 cc. However, the remainder of the car has been tweaked by Chapman in many subtle ways so that the road holding, braking, and general performance and handling are the equal of the increased power output.

Oh, and by the way, the Cortina's interior really isn't 14 feet long — no matter which model you look at.

If any additional information is desired, you might write Poole Ford, or possibly Lotus Midwest, whose offices are in the Marina Towers in Chicago.

'Slob' Is Word For Roadside Trash Dumper

Spring cleaning time is here again. Time to clean the house, attic, basement and yard. The accumulated old furniture, appliances, bottles and cans are then toted out for the garbage pickup service.

At least that's what most of the decent, law abiding citizens do. The remaining slobs (and that's the only word that can be used to describe them) load their trash into their cars or trucks and dump it along a country roadside.

Why they feel that we who live in the country and pay our own garbage pick-up bill should want to look at their trash is beyond comprehension. They certainly would call the police if we dumped our garbage in their yard or street.

One of the worst areas is Rodenburg Road about a block south of Irving Park Road in unincorporated Cook County and just across the Milwaukee railroad tracks in unincorporated DuPage County. Trash has been accumulating there for several years and is getting worse all the time. This area is posted against dumping. Maybe slobs can't read.

Perhaps an article and pictures by your staff would shame some of these people into stopping this practice. It might even get the department of government in charge of these areas to clean up this mess.

Yours for an unlittered America,

Compares Tax For Medicare, Social Security

Last week I had an experience which might be of interest.

Every three months I have to complete an Employers Quarterly Federal Tax Return form on which is shown income taxes withheld from my employees along with their share and my share of Social Security and Medicare contributions.

In reviewing the form, I noticed my share — employer — of Social Security deductions had inadvertently been computed on the old Social Security tax rule whereby deductions were made from the first $4,800 of wages paid to an employee. Therefore, I had the privilege of being able to see my additional amount due under the amended law effective January 1, 1966 in which Social Security deductions are made from the first $6,600 of an employee's wages.

This increase amounted to $20 which if projected over the four quarters of 1966 amounts to $80. Coupled with the $145 increase to $404 effective Jan. 1, 1966, in the self-employed Social Security tax, I am pleased to convey that for the year 1966 my Social Security tax including Medicare will be increased by at least $225 and will total nearly $500.

Rep. Schlickman Sets Record Straight on Housing Action

Every political campaign I've seen has been marked, in varying measure, by distortions and emotional substitutes for real issues. I pledged, however, to run a positive campaign that would strengthen my party. Furthermore, I determined to ignore distortions of fact by detractors and to trust the public to see their inaccuracies.

However, I must comment on a recent effort to distort and discredit by legislative record in the field of housing discrimination. It doesn't take a politician to sense the emotional impact of this subject in our suburbs. Circulated literature and letters to the editors of local papers have accused me of supporting legislation which would remove the seller's right to choose his buyer. I should like to set the record straight.

I, along with men who were the Republican Party leaders in the Illinois House of Representatives, sponsored H.B. 1246, which specifically preserved the right of a homeowner to sell to whomever he pleased, for whatever reason he wished. The bill made it unlawful for real estate brokers to initiate discrimination by determining to whom they would show homes or by altering the price of real estate so as to effect discrimination. The bill sought to do away with "unnatural impediments" based on discrimination but still left to the seller the determination of the final sale.

In a sense we were protecting another right, the right to sell, for discrimination by parties other than the seller could certainly be harmful to the seller. This was not just a bill sponsored by Republicans; it was a bill sanctioned by the party's task force on human relations and carried such names as Harris Rowe, Earl Eisenhower, and Albert Hechmeister, a name a few.

Referring to H. B. 1246, The Republican Legislative Policy Committeee stated, "We believe this bill will tend to eliminate basic (homeowner) fears and thus will prepare the way for subsequent rational approaches to solving the intricate problems of urban housing segregation."

I am aware that some Republicans would prefer to sit back and do nothing, rather than providing the type of leadership our party and our legislature need. The task force did not see it this way. Progress depends now, more than ever, upon positive, responsible proposals from Republicans.

Consistently. our party has stood for local and state initiative. To do nothing simply invites and encourages Federal activity. And now, the national administration is proposing to the Congress Federal fair housing legislation that would apply to all homeowners. Is this what we want, instead?

In taking me to task and in distorting the purpose of H. B. 1246, some of my opponents have also distorted the work of the party under whose name they chose to run. One may question whether or not they are capable of Party thinking and should be entrusted with Party leadership and responsibility.

Eugene F. Schlickman
State Representative

Objects to 'Shopper Clutter' At Her Doorstep

I'm quite in accord with Mr. Sanford's letter concerning the "shopper clutter" left at our doorsteps and in our yards.

I wrote before concerning this matter, stating that at times these pieces of unwanted junk have a habit of piling up at the door, advertising the act that "someone is away on vacation." This could be quite serious. Isn't there some way to stop these deliveries? I've tried, but got absolutely nowhere.

Mrs. A. B. Dally

Notices Helpful To Itasca Club

Thank you for the many notices you have given the Itasca Woman's Club in your paper this season. As you no doubt realize, sustained interest in community projects is difficult to maintain in this busy world of activities, and your spendid cooperation has helped us much in our work.

Being a novice, I appreciate the assistance of your Itasca editor in editing to the best advantage the information I have submitted.

What's black and white and read all over?

Our newsprint is white . . . our ink is black and our 15 weekly newspapers are read all over the great northwest suburban area.

Our circulation is at an all time high . . . and growing. In the past year, our circulation increased 8%, proof positive that we now reach 85% of homes in the northwest suburbs.

Here's why we continue to enjoy such popularity:

Editorial impact — we keep readers notified and satisfied.

Pride and integrity — we adhere to journalistic principals that instill community pride and integrity in our readers.

Quality — we insist on modern printing processes and methods that give our readers the quality product they deserve.

Value — your newspaper is still America's greatest value. It is a necessary part of your life, your principal, your democracy and, of course, your great American tradition to always keep learning.

We are happy to serve you with newspapers that do these things and thank you for your acceptance of our product.

At Paddock — we feel our increased circulation means we have made more friends; and for your continued friendship, we say . . . thanks.

for people who like to 'get in the swing'

It's easy to get in the swing in the great Northwest Suburban Area.

There are an abundance of beautiful parks and well equipped playgrounds located throughout the area and all of them are planned for happy, healthy suburban type living.

The Paddock Real Estate Section features many homes for sale each week . . . and it's safe to say that all of them are near one or more of the many clean, well maintained parks.

When a local Realtor takes you to inspect homes for sale in the Northwest Suburbs, notice how many parks you pass by on the way, or better still, have your Realtor stop and let you look the parks over closely . . . you'll see how easy it is to be a "swinger."

THE ACCEPTED INFLUENCE IN THE NORTHWEST SUBURBS

Special Techniques Needed For Appraising Churches

From an appraisal standpoint, a church is a building set apart for reasons other than religion, advises the author of an article in the just-released April issue of The Appraisal Journal, quarterly publication of the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers.

The three approaches to value are not applicable in the usual sense in appraising church property, explains Levie D. Smith, MAI, a partner in the firm of Smith & Son, Appraisers, Lakeland, Fla. AIREA, an affiliate of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, awards the designation Member, Appraisal Institute (MAI), to appraisers who meet its rigid standards of ethical and competent service to the public.

"The income approach has no place in the appraisal of a church property. There is no relationship between tithes and offerings and the value of a church plant. Churches are probably 99 per cent owned by the congregation, with few—if any—rented at what might be considered economic rent.

"The market approach is applicable in theory, but seldom usable in actual practice. Churches rarely sell on the open market. Old church buildings often sell, but usually for conversion to other uses due to a change in highest and best use . . .

"WHEN APPRAISING a church, the cost approach is, by far, the strongest approach to value. This approach is not easily applied, however, due to unusual complexities involved in estimating church cost and depreciation."

The appraiser is faced with an exceedingly difficult problem in estimating value by the trend toward a modernistic design for churches, Smith declares. "The typical appraiser is not qualified to estimate the reproduction cost new of a modern contemporary church building through the use of the square-foot — cubic-foot, unit-cost-in-place, or quantity survey methods.

"It takes, indeed, a qualified cost computer to estimate the labor and materials involved in construction of modern domes, pinnacles, arches, truss gables, 'teepee' framing, parabolic wood arches, laminated beams, and other similar items of construction."

Because competent contractors' bids vary widely on this type of modern church construction, the comparative cost method appears to be the most accurate cost estimating system available to an appraiser of such a church property, Smith declares. This method consists of studying five to ten similar church buildings constructed in the immediate area within the last year or two, he said.

"QUITE OFTEN it is found that churches are mislocated on commercial sites or on what are known as 'back street locations,'" Smith said. "The most common type of economic obsolescence is the underimprovement of a site. Churches will be given land or will purchase land in a growing area; land values will increase; the church then finds itself in an exceedingly valuable commercial location. It is up to the appraiser to estimate the amount of obsolescence present in a situation of this type. Unless this factor is accounted for, the cost approach could produce a very distorted picture of value."

While the author said he is generally opposed to rules of thumb because uninformed individuals may use the rules improperly, he said that they do have a specific place in appraising "in that they aid the appraiser in bracketing or arriving at a general range of value." The following are several rules of thumb. Smith discovered in analyzing churches and church properties in the central Florida area.

Church sites cost in the neighborhood of $100 per person of sanctuary seating capacity. Sanctuaries with no Sunday school rooms ranged in cost from $150 to approximately $300 per person of seating capacity. Sunday school rooms varied anywhere from $50 to $200 per person of seating capacity of the sanctuary.

There is a definite inverse relationship between church membership and church attendance, with a steady decrease in percentage of attendance as the membership increases.

THERE SHOULD be at least one available parking space for every three to four persons of seating capacity.

Smith concluded his article with the reminder that "a church is a symbol of beauty, warmth, and the love of a congregation, with specific needs and desires reflected in its design and construction. An appraiser must consider these facts, while keeping a cold, hard eye on the principle of substitution which is always present in the valuation of properties of this type."

Copies of the current issue of The Appraisal Journal may be purchased for $2.50 each from the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers, 36 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago 60603. Yearly subscription is $7. (RE

'Demonstration Cities' Criticized in Testimony

The "Demonstration Cities" program is an unwarranted device to give federal money to a small group of municipalities, a spokesman of the National Association of Real Estates Boards testified before the Housing Subcommittee of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee.

Alan L. Emlen, Philadelphia, chairman of the Realtors' Washington Committee, said the fiscal problem of the cities, with its solution, requires a more fundamental approach than is reflected by this bill. He noted there are several legislative proposals for shared revenues which will be considered by Congress in the future.

Emlen declared the "Demonstration Cities" measure has a fundamental weakness in that it seeks solely by means of money to induce the cities to do that which they should have been doing in the years when they prevailed upon the federal government to execute billions of dollars in binding contracts for urban renewal, including urban planning, community renewal planning, and general neighborhood renewal planning.

"THE PROPOSAL would have some validity if the Congress had been remiss in the past in supplying funds for urban planning," Mr. Emlen said.

He pointed out, however, that a total of 2,286 urban planning projects involving $99.9 million had been approved as of Dec. 31, 1965. For more detailed planning the Congress has provided financial assistance under Community Renewal Programs and General Neighborhood Renewal Planning, Mr. Emlen recalled in his testimony on pending urban development and housing legislation.

"These programs," he said, "have been repeatedly nurtured by annual housing and appropriations bills and the record is silent as to their shortcomings, if any."

EMLEN recalled that when the Department of Housing and Urban Development was created, it received a mandate to appoint a director of urban program coordination "to develop recommendations relating to the administration of federal programs affecting such problems, particularly with respect to achieving effective cooperation among the federal, state, and local agencies concerned."

Emlen said NAREB suggests that HUD Secretary Robert C. Weaver appoint a director of urban program coordination. If this is done, Mr. Emlen said, "we believe that the secretary will discover that the shortcomings which he proposes to solve only with money are too fundamental for such a remedy.

"We should recognize that a gap in local initiative cannot be bridged by money alone," he stated.

Realtors To Dedicate Headquarters

Dedication of the new headquarters building of the National Association of Real Estate Boards at noon on May 8 will be the highlight of the spring meeting of the association and its affiliate organizations, May 6-10, in Chicago.

The dedication ceremony will be conducted by Jack Justice, Miami Beach, Fla., president of the 83,000-member Association. Also participating will be hundreds of the 1,500 Realtors attending the meeting and the presidents of the nine affiliated institutes, societies, and councils, eight of which will move into the new building with NAREB.

THE SIX-STORY building purchased by the Association is located at 155 E. Superior St. in what is known as the "Million Dollar Mile," since the area is the fastest growing business and commercial section of the city.

The move into the new building from the present accommodations at 36 S. Wabash Ave. is expected to be accomplished by June.

NAREB maintains a separate office in Washington, D.C., also in which are located its Division of Public Affairs and the Society of Industrial Realtors. (RE

Thomas L. Passant, registered pharmacist and assistant manager of the Walgreen Drug Store at the Grove Mall, Elk Grove Village, has earned a reputation for dispensing smiles as well as prescriptions. His friendly courtesy makes it natural for Tom to greet customers each day with a smile.

SELF ANALYSIS QUIZ

Are You Really A Skillful Driver?

by Jane Sherrod Singer

In this modern age young and old should know how to drive and be able to cope with an emergency. Some drivers are artists behind the wheel while others are apparently working for the department of splints, plaster-casts or, even worse, the morgue. There are some do's and don'ts that, once they become a habit, will make our over-packed highways and byways safer and more pleasurable.

On trips a good driver plans ahead. Know what you need to take along because nothing is more frustrating, or dangerous than to swing around and dash back for a forgotten item. Next, have a clear idea of the route to take. In unfamiliar territory, this means studying a map or asking a local person. This simple step can save hours and miles in case of detours, etc.

When you start your car be sure the emergency brake is on. Check your tires, cleanliness of all windows, adjust the rear-view and side mirrors. Test the windshield wiper, brakes and lights, being especially careful to check the taillights. (After inspecting nearly 3.5 million cars and trucks in 1963, the U.S. National Vehicle Safety-Check reported more defects in taillights than anywhere else.

When parking the car, put things in places where they will not slip, slide or fly through the air in case you are forced to stop suddenly. Arrange articles so they will not block your vision. Keep items you need in the seat next to you where you can reach them by feel without looking. Change for toll roads, bridges, etc. should be readily available in your glove compartment.

Passengers should lock the doors, fasten their seat belts, stay out of your line of vision and remain seated at all times. When you are at the wheel, driving requires your full attention. It is no time for intense conversation, questions, horse-play or love-making.

A good driver learns to watch for curves, hills, road obstructions. You should be able to note the erratic behavior of the car ahead and slow down. Don't tailgate. Glance to the right and left to watch for other drivers, pedestrians, crosswalks and intersections. The safety committees say that the better the driver, the less he uses his brakes for any purpose other than making full stops when designated or in case of emergency.

Like an airline pilot, you glance regularly at your instrument panel to see if the car is operating correctly. Enough gasoline, motor temperature, oil gauge, and etc. Speed within the lawful limits and slow down in case of rain, fog, ice, not according to speed limit signs.

You, like your automobile, should be in good condition. Your hearing and vision should be checked at regular intervals, and a reliable doctor's advice should be heeded if he suggests you wear a hearing aid or glasses for driving. Coronary cases, diabetics and those who suffer from epilepsy should also seek the advice of medical authorities before attempting to drive There is little point in lying about these physical problems when you get your driver's license because you may find yourself lying in another way later - in a hospital bed.

Anyone who drives when he is tired or extremely worried is a poor risk at the wheel. Some of the greatest artists with cars have been involved in fatal accidents because they were preoccupied with problems of health, finance or their families.

Boredom, especially on long monotonous stretches, can be a hazard; so it is wise to make frequent stops, at least every two hours. Pull off the road, stretch, stand, eat or have a drink of some non-alcoholic beverage.

Last but most important, is your attitude toward others when you are driving. To be challenged, to think you can outwit, outdrive, be braver, faster, than the other person is not just asking for trouble - it's begging for it. Speeding, changing lanes, cutting in and out, racing, rude behavior of any kind, are sure signs of immaturity regardless of chronological age. There is no such thing as your having the right-of-way when that way is the road to the hospital.

Today's driving demands skill, alertness, intelligence, courtesy. The more you have of each, the more certain you are to enjoy it.

HAPPY DRIVING! ! !

THEIR FIRST record, "Gloria," skyrocketed to the No. 1 spot on sales and popularity charts throughout the Chicago area within a few short weeks.

Their newly released single, "Oh Yeah," shows every sign of following.

The Shadows will be making three appearances on nationally televised shows — "Where the Action Is" on May 5, "Lloyd Thaxton Show" on May 7, and the "Ed Sullivan Show" on May 8.

This local group will be at Sacred Heart of Mary from 8-11 p.m. for $2.

Testing Saturday At Lake Park High

College entrance examinations will be given to interested Lake Park High School seniors Saturday from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and from 1:30 p.m. to 4:45 p.m. at the school.

The morning and afternoon sessions will have different tests.

THE MORNING test will be on the Scholastic Aptitude Test, which measures the student's ability to handle college work. Its two sections, in mathematics and verbal ability, will be taken by all.

The afternoon Achievement Test will determine the student's achievement in specific subject areas. Each student may choose up to three areas in which to take the test.

Many, however, will take the achievement portion later, rather than being tested all day.

These 14 areas are presented in the test: American history and social studies, mathematics standard, mathematics intensive, French, German, Spanish, Latin, Hebrew, Russian, biology, chemistry, physics, English composition and European history and world cultures.

THE COLLEGE Board is widely known for its program of entrance examinations. Approximately 1,350,000 candidates took the Scholastic Ability, and 530,000 the Achievement Test during the 1964-65 school year.

Although new forms of the SAT are produced each year, the score scale is the same for all editions, thus providing college admissions officers and high school counselors nationally with a common measure of ability.

The test seeks to provide scores for each candidate which will have valid and constant meaning in terms of academic promise, whether the student takes it early or late in his senior year and whether he comes from a rural high school or an urban one. (5Y

Tradition of Originality At University of Chicago

(High School Highlights presents another installment in its series featuring colleges and universities in this area.)

By ANNE CHALFANT

One of the youngest major universities in the world, in its 75 years the University of Chicago has grown with Chicago. It has developed a tradition not only of academic perseverance, but of responsibility to Chicago communities.

As a new university, Chicago began a history of departure from custom when it admitted women on an equal basis with men. Continuing a tradition of originality, the University Press was established for the publication of scientific and scholarly studies.

THE UNIVERSITY of Chicago is known for both its graduate and undergraduate studies. It employs 300 full-time faculty members to teach 2,400 undergraduates. The average class size is 20.

The university offers the bachelor of arts, bachelor of fine arts, and bachelor of science degrees. All undergraduates are required to complete two years of work including biological sciences, physical sciences, humanities, social sciences, English composition, a foreign language, mathematics and a history of the Western civilization.

AFTER THESE have been completed, the student follows a plan of guided electives and a year of specialization. An undergraduate can specialize in any one of 40 departments in the biological, physical or social sciences or the humanities.

As a city campus seven miles from the Chicago Loop, the University of Chicago offers vast extra-curricular opportunities, with over 100 student organizations on campus.

There are also nine national fraternities and two women's societies. All freshmen are required to live in the university's residential halls.

AS SOPHOMORES, men may live in fraternity houses and may live off-campus as juniors and seniors. Women are required to remain in residential halls all four years.

Fraternity and society members are a numerical minority on campus, so in no aspect of college activities is a nonorganization student distinct from an organization member.

About 75 per cent of each freshman class is from outside Illinois. The university has 1,400 men and 800 women students. The total cost for a campus resident is $2,530. Half of the university's students receive financial aid.

STUDENTS APPLYING for admission are considered on the following basis: academic record, SAT and writing sample achievement, recommendations of teachers and a personal interview strongly recommended. There are no inflexible subject requirements.

Applications should be filed before January 15. Those applying for financial aid should request it at this time.

The early decision program and early entrance by outstanding students not yet graduated from secondary school are also part of the admissions program.

KICKIN' IT AROUND

by BOB FRISK
Sports Editor

DePaul Lands Paul Pomplun . . .

Paul Pomplun of St. Viator and Tommy Hunter of DeLaSalle, who staged some interesting arguments as rival centers in the Chicagoland Prep League, will be teammates next winter.

Pomplun, a 6-7 performer, and the 6-5 Hunter have both accepted basketball scholarships to DePaul University in Chicago. Sevira Brown, a 6-5 forward - guard from DeLaSalle, has also named for DePaul.

"There's also a chance George Janky of Chicago St. Rita (a 6-7 All-Stater) will go to DePaul," reports Larry Nomellini, varsity basketball coach at St. Viator.

Pomplun came on strong in his senior year and fired in 378 points in 24 outings for a 15.8 average. He also hauled down 282 rebounds and hit .444 from the field and .623 from the free throw line.

Pomplun's finest performances came against DeLaSalle and Hunter in the Lions' 69-52 victory and against St. Patrick and 6-7 Joe Burke.

Paul picked up only 15 points in that stunning win over DeLaSalle but pulled down 10 rebounds, held the high-scoring Hunter to 12 points, and actually blocked five of Hunter's shots.

In the Lions' 53-45 loss to St. Patrick Pomplun collected 18 points and shut off the Shamrocks' 6-7 Burke with only two baskets and five free throws. Paul also turned in another yeoman job on the boards.

That game with St. Patrick may have gone a long way in sending DePaul to Pomplun's door. The Blue Demons had a scout in the stands that night.

Fred (Fritz) Peterson didn't last long in his third major league start for the New York Yankees. The former Arlington High School pitcher was touched for five hits and three earned runs in two innings Sunday against Kansas City Athletics. Fritz wasn't a pitcher of record, however, as the Yanks rallied to gain a 10-4 victory.

State Marks In Danger . . .

"I believe the winner of the state mile relay will break 3:20 this year with decent weather, and I think Evanston, York, and Bloom are capable of doing it."

That was Evanston track coach Bob Trevarthen talking prior to competition last Saturday.

We wonder if Bob would want to add at least two names to his list today?

Palatine certainly showed it is of state championship quality with that glittering 3:22.4 in the Palatine Relays, and Rockford Auburn has dipped down to 3:21.5.

As the marks throughout Illinois improve with each passing week, we can only hope that the weatherman cooperates May 20-21 in Champaign.

Several state records appear in danger, including the mile relay standard of 3:20.3 set by New Trier in 1964.

The 440 yard dash mark of 48.4 could go with such standouts as Evanston's Roy Houston, Palatine's Bill Bahnfleth, and York's Al Janulis among others in a crack field.

"I think both Houston and Janulis can go under 48 seconds on a good day and good track," says Joe Newton, head coach at York. "I think Janulis can go :47.5."

Joe also was quoted before Saturday's Palatine Relays.

Newton had to be impressed with the :48.1 leg of the mile relay by Palatine's Bahnfleth at the Relays.

The high jump mark of 6-5¼ held by Bill Palmer of Arlington should fall if Springfield's Steve Becker doesn't fold up in the pressure-packed state meet.

Becker, who has cleared 6-8, doesn't seem too worried about the state mark.

When he reached 6-8 earlier this season, Becker said, "I could have made 6-10 under better weather conditions."

Becker's goal? Seven feet!

Jesse Siebert of Evanston has sailed 24-1½ in the broad jump, one-half inch shy of the state mark set in 1943, and Siebert and teammate Houston could both wipe that standard from the books.

John Mauzey of York reached 174 feet in the discus Saturday at the Palatine Relays and has been getting better every week. The state mark is 175-2½.

The preps just get better and better every year.

High school distance men who are discouraged with their performances should take heart with the story of Mike Petterson, Kansas University freshman who ran in Jim Ryun's shadow in high school. As a prep, Petterson was cut from the cross country team as a soph. As a junior, his peak mile was 5:17. He got down to 4:10.8 as a high school senior and now ranks as one of the nation's brightest young stars in the two mile and three mile events.

Will Lions Roar Again? . . .

Don't discount St. Viator from making another strong run in the state baseball tourney just because the Lions carried a so-so 5-7 record into action this week.

If you'll recall, St. Viator showed only a 6-9 record last spring when it staged its meteoric climb to state-wide prominence in baseball.

The Lions appear to have the best 1-2 punch in the pitching department from among the Paddock area entries, and you need two good pitchers to get very far in the state finals.

High school baseball is a strange game, and anything can happen when the state tourney unfolds.

Who can forget York's amazing climb to the state championship in the 1960 season?

The Dukes climaxed a mediocre season by catching fire in the state championship series and going all the way. During the regular season, York was seventh in the West Suburban Conference with a 4-10 record.

Beset with early season difficulties, York Coach Erl Ellingson finally dropped several upperclassmen from the roster in 1960 and replaced them with eager sophomores. Those sophs played key roles in the march to the title.

Joe Namath, quarterback for the New York Jets of the American Football League, has a sharp tongue as well as a sharp passing arm. He was needled at a recent banquet by an Eastern sportswriter who asked if the star quarterback had majored in folk dancing at Alabama. "That was too tough," Joe snapped back. "I took journalism."

Ten Years Ago This Week . . .

Bloom won the Class A Palatine Relays with the meet held on a Monday because of poor weather . . . Arlington had two winners . . . Dennis Striegel won the shot put at 54-10½ and Bill Palmer tied for first in the high jump at 5-11½ . . . The Cards had a big week in baseball, whipping York 4-1, Hinsdale 3-0, and Maine 5-4 . . . Bob Getts had six hits in the three games . . . Al Smeby fanned 14 against Hinsdale . . . Arlington captured six trophies in the Hinsdale Relays and finished second to Aurora East.

District Tennis Meet Opens Friday at Arlington Courts

Eleven schools will send entries to the opening round Friday afternoon of the district tennis meet at Arlington High School, but one team—host Arlington—carries the most impressive credentials.

Coach Tom Pitchford's powerful Cardinals have been tagged the most likely to succeed again in the net headliner that will be staged for two days at the Arlington High courts.

Arlington dominated the 1965 district and finished third in the state.

The first serve should streak across the net at approximately 4:00 p.m. Friday as preliminary rounds get under way. The finals are set for 9 a.m. Saturday.

EIGHT PADDOCK area schools will vie for honors at Arlington. In addition to the host Cards, other area units in the district are Forest View, St. Viator, Fenton, Lake Park, Prospect, Palatine, and Wheeling.

Rounding out the alignment will be Barrington, Maine West, and Maine East.

Conant of Hoffman Estates was listed as a district entry but will not compete. The Cougars, a young team, operate under a severe handicap without tennis courts, and head man Dick Gavigan has elected not to enter his team in the district.

THE FIRST and second place winners in singles and doubles from each district will earn slots in the state finals scheduled for May 20-21 in Champaign. Each school may enter two singles players and two doubles teams.

A meeting will be held tonight (Thursday) to set up the singles and doubles alignments for the Arlington District.

Coaches will try to place their boys in spots where they feel they have the best chance for advancement. Boys who work in singles in a dual meet schedule may be combined for doubles, and doubles players may be broken up into singles entries.

ARLINGTON'S Pitchford, who guided the Cards to a sweep of both the singles and doubles slots in district play last spring, is set on his opening alignment.

Bobby Von Boeckmann, Jim Esser, and John Jarecki have been the three Cardinal singles players, but Pitchford will use only Von Boeckmann of the trio in singles at the district.

Esser and Burke will be paired together in doubles and will join another Cardinal duo of Brian Burke and Dave Milligan.

VON BOECKMANN was district runnerup as a freshman, and he scored one point in state tourney play. He has tangled with the finest players in the

THE CLASS A MILE RELAY, as expected, furnished one of the most dramatic races Saturday in the 34th running of the Palatine Relays. Palatine's junior Bill Bahnfleth (left) flashed to an amazing :48.1 clocking on his 440 anchor leg to nip York's Al Janulis at the wire. The Pirates were clocked in 3:22.4 for a Relays and school record. York had a 3:22.5. The two teams tied for the Class A championship with 64 points each.

Stevens Superb for Lions

St. Viator Posts 1-0 Win in Nine Innings

by BOB FRISK

Bob Stevens, St. Viator's classy junior left-hander, turned in another superb mound effort Tuesday afternoon but had to go two extra innings to collect his second victory of the season.

Right fielder Denny Wilkinson coaxed a walk on a 3-2 pitch with two outs and the bases loaded in the ninth inning to push over the winning run in the Lions' thrilling 1-0 conquest of visiting St. Mel.

Stevens, who appeared to get stronger with each passing inning, yielded only two hits over his nine stanzas of work as he hiked his season mark to 2-2. Bob now sports a glistening 0.28 earned run average for 36 innings.

With the victory St. Viator reached the .500 mark for the over-all schedule and in Chicagoland Prep League firing.

COACH LEN Sparacino's Lions took a 4-4 league mark into action yesterday (Wednesday) against DeLaSalle. St. Viator is scheduled to travel to St. Mel Friday and St. Ignatius Saturday morning.

The Lions haven't been bombarding enemy pitchers this season, collecting only three safeties Tuesday, but they didn't need a hit in the decisive ninth inning.

John Loughman, who had stroked two solid hits in three previous trips to the plate, led off the Lion ninth with a grounder to short, John sailed around to second base when a low throw skipped past the first baseman.

DAN COLLINS reached when the first baseman dropped a throw, but Jerry Donahue slapped a sinking liner to center field that was hauled down for the first out. Tom Collins walked to load the bases for pitcher Stevens.

Stevens fouled off two good pitches, received two balls, and then drove a fly to right that was too short to bring the runner across from third. That brought up Wilkinson with the bases loaded and two outs.

DENNY WILKINSON

BOB STEVENS

The tension mounted as Wilkinson, who had drilled a single to center in the eighth inning, worked relief pitcher Ed Mosier to a full count.

MOSIER couldn't find the strike zone on the crucial 3-2 pitch, Wilkinson flipped his bat away, and Loughman trotted across with the winning run in the marathon that covered two and one-half hours.

The Lions really wanted this one after blowing some good opportunities early in the contest.

Sparacino's outfit had a chance to settle the issue in the sixth when Loughman belted a two-out triple to deep left field. Dan Collins followed with a liner that was labeled base hit but was picked out of the air by the St. Mel third baseman.

Stevens didn't coast to his second win, but he turned in a strong effort, striking out 14 and walking five. Bob got out of four serious jams.

IN THE FIRST inning St. Mel threatened when Rich Vignocchi ripped a single to left-center with a man on second, but the runner was cut down on a perfect relay from Loughman to Bill Kaveney to Dan Collins.

In the fourth Stevens walked two men and the runners advanced to second and third, but Bob survived this time by getting third sacker Reuben Bonavente to tap to John Wendell.

Vignocchi, the only visitor able to solve Stevens' slants, boomed a triple to right-center as the leadoff man in the seventh, but he was cut down at the plate when an attempted squeeze backfired.

St. Mel had runners on first and third with two outs in the eighth inning when Stevens caught No. 3 hitter Tom Zaura on a pop to Don Kulla at second.

Field Includes Seven Locals

Conant, Broncos Today; Rest Begin Next Week

by KEN KNOX

The first and the obvious question is this: Can St. Viator do it again?

One year ago, after floundering through the district tournament at Palatine, the Arlington Heights-based Lions built up a momentum that carried them without defeat to the last game of the Illinois High School Association's baseball tournament. They lost then, 4-2 to Peoria Manual.

Now, a year later, it is time again for that trail to be cleared. District play will begin for 474 downstate and suburban prep nines at 112 tournament centers, with the IHSA's 26th state title the prize.

And that question is: can St. Viator — or any of the Paddock area contenders — make the procession that will lead to the Illinois finals at Peoria on June 2-3?

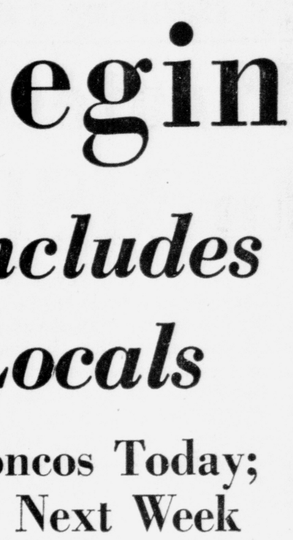
THE SEVEN eligibles from this area — Arlington, Conant, Forest View, Palatine, Prospect, Wheeling and St. Viator — will enter the competition at three different district centers, with all but Conant beginning the campaign early next week. The Cougars — because of an extra team in the Barrington tournament — will begin the effort today (Thursday) against the host Broncos, with the starting time 4:15 p.m. at the diamond by the school.

Palatine and Arlington will play the second game in the Barrington district at 4:15 p.m., with Lake Zurich to play the Conant - Barrington winner at the same time Tuesday. The title game Wednesday afternoon will match the Monday - Tuesday winners.

The Lions will be in with Prospect and Forest View at the Maine West District, playing the host team Monday afternoon, while the Knights and Falcons meet on Tuesday.

WHEELING has been dispatched to the Deerfield district for a Tuesday game with the hosts, with the winner to play the Wednesday title game against the winner of the Monday Glenbrook North - Highland Park contest.

The path the district winners will take is this: all three will enter the four-team Prospect regional at Prospect High School May 16-18, with the Elgin Larkin district winner the fourth entry. The winner there leaps to the DeKalb sectional at DeKalb May 23-25, one of seven sectional meetings. Those seven winners and the Chicago representatives will combat in Peoria in June for the crown that St. Viator just missed last year.



LEN SPARACINO
Do It Again?

The Lions, under headman Len Sparacino, are in much the same position they were a year ago at tournament time. They have a 6-7 record, with four losses by one run, and they have the two pitchers and several others who carried the burden to Peoria, starting the drive with a 5-9 mark.

THOSE TWO are right-hander Jerry Donahue, who had five of the tourney wins last year, and left-hander Bob Stevens, who had two, including a no-hitter in the state semi-finals. Their records this year are deceiving, to say the least. Through Monday, Donahue was 4-3, but had given up only three earned runs in 46 innings — an 0.46 ERA — and had struck out 67. Stevens had given one earned run in 25 innings — an 0.28 ERA — and struck out 43. His mark was 1-2.

The problem for the Lions, who toil in the tough Chicagoland Prep League, has been defense and hitting, both problems that could clear up with a change in the weather and more activity. Junior catcher Dan Collins has been the top swinger with a .368 mark.

In Maine West, the Lions will meet a club that started slowly but improved to a 5-6 mark, mainly on good pitching and defense. The Warriors do not hit well, with infielder Bob Banger the chief threat, but they've been getting good hurling from Al Fritz and Bill Gastorf, and are finely - trained in fundamentals.

FOREST VIEW, 4 - 5, as of Monday, and Prospect, 6-4, met once with the Falcons rallying for a 7-3 Mid-Suburban League decision. Hal Sprehe's Falcons Scores should be available at approximately 7:30 p.m. Monday through Wednesday.

Falcons Host Thinclad Meet

It's a first. The initial Falcon Invitational track meet will be held this Saturday.

It includes seven schools. With host Forest View will be teams from Arlington, Conant, Niles North, Niles West, Prospect and Wheeling.

It features competition at two levels. Both varsity and frosh-soph entries will take part as preliminaries get under way at 12:30 p.m. and finals start at 2:00 p.m.

"We wanted a meet to permit District 214 track teams and others of similar ability to compete," stated FV coach Dick Ohl in explaining why the FI has been started. "We hope," Ohl said, "to make this an annual affair."

THOSE SEEING action in the thinclad struggle will be aiming for team trophies. Tro-Trophy winners will be decided on total points with an individual first rating six points, second four, third three, fourth two, and fifth one in all events.

Probable varsity leaders from Paddock area schools in each of the 15 events are as follows:

HIGH HURDLES — Could be a two man battle between Bob Bromley of the 'Cats and Vaughn Pederson of the Knights Bromley has posted a :15.6 in the highs while Pederson has a :15.8. Forest View's McDonald may also be a threat.

100 YARD DASH — The Cards Steve Ewart might be the leader here. He'll be pressed by Wheeling's Jim Lisafeld and the Falcons Pat Dunnigan. Lisafeld has been clocked at :10.3 for the 100 this year while Dunnigan's best in '66 is :10.2.

LOW HURDLES — Dunnigan should get the low hurdles first for FV. He has a :19.8 here. Pushing Dunnigan will be Bob Bromley for the Wildcats who also owns a :19.8. Prospect's Pederson and Dunnigan's teammate McDonald are also threats.

220 YARD DASH—Wheeling's Jim Bowker and Conant's Ron Smith could pace the 220 with Arlington's Jerry Enright a possibility. Ewart of the Cards and Dunnigan could get top points

Pirates Tie Knights In MSL Ball Race

by KEN KNOX

When one goes up in baseball, another must come down.

By that formula, Palatine advanced another notch in its climb toward contention in the Mid-Suburbean League's baseball race, but at the expense of another team seeking to ascend, Prospect.

The Pirates—holding off the Knights 5-2 behind junior hurler Irv Hahnfeldt—thereby caught Prospect in the M-SL standings, moving into a tie for third behind deadlocked Wheeling and Maine West in the Tuesday faceoff.

Both teams — after being seriously sidetracked after leaving the MSL's starting gate — had gone into the crucial encounter with two game winning streaks. Prospect had improved itself to 3-2 in the league and Palatine to 2-3, but after Tuesday, they were together at 3-3 each.

Victimized in the confrontation was Prospect's speedy junior right-hander Dave Kingman, picked carefully by Palatine for five hits and all five runs. Prospect assaulted Hahnfeldt several times, slapping his assortment of breaking pitches for seven hits, but could get only the two runs in a seventh inning rally.

HAHNFELDT was successful because he held up masterfully under pressure, and because he liberally practiced the routine of getting the batters to hit where the fielders were. He had but six strikeouts, and Kingman — his cause hurt some by errors — had five.

Hahnfeldt's grittiness in the face of trouble showed early, as the Knights failed to capitalize on a big opportunity in the top of the first. Prospect, in the role of visitor on Palatine's Fremd school diamond, quickly loaded the bases on a walk to Maury Gallagher, a single by J. D. Thorne and a walk to Tom Lundstedt.

But Hahnfeldt, who was to issue only one more walk in the game, came back to get Clyde Whitcomb on strikes, Vince Franzone on an infield pop and Don Whitlock on a fly to right.

KINGMAN didn't fare so fortunately in the first. Mike Ferguson — who with the surging Ken Johnson gave him the most trouble — opened by lifting a high triple down the right field line. John Grove followed with a drive in almost the same place, but right fielder Gallagher — apparently first losing the ball in the evening sun — muffed the catch. Ferguson tallied and Grove went all the way to third, scoring when Johnson grounded to second.

The Pirates added two more in the third, blending three hits into the result. Ferguson, with one out, lined a single into center. Grove fanned, but Johnson cracked a single into right, and when the throw in sailed past the plate, Ferguson tallied his second run. Johnson took second on the throw, and came in when John Phillips rolled a single up the middle.

Kingman put the Pirates down in order in the fourth and fifth, but in the sixth, Johnson personally ran the count to 5-0 in Palatine's favor. Leading off for Palatine, he took the first pitch, then rammed a long home run into center field, his second round-tripper in three MSL games.

TWO CONSECUTIVE errors and a walk by Kingman loaded the bases after that, but the slender hurler escaped with no more damage on two forces at home and a foiled attempt to steal the plate.

Prospect flurried at Hahnfeldt several times, wasting two hits in the third and two more in the sixth. In the seventh, the losers finally dented him, and it was reserve second baseman Rick Lott who started it. He knocked a single into right, stayed at first as Gallagher whiffed, then moved to second as Thorne walked. Lundstedt brought both runners in by poking a double into right field. But Hahnfeldt rallied to get Whitcomb on an infield roller and Franzone swinging at a third strike.

Track Meet

if they compete in the 220.

TWO MILE RUN — Wide open field here. Best choice is probably a toss-up between the Falcons Craig Brown, who has done a 10:05, and the Cougars Dick Ledford if he enters here instead of the mile.

880 YARD DASH—The Knights Jack Pollard has a 1.58.0 and may be impossible to beat here. Paul Fiegen of the Wildcats and Mark Saylor of the Cards have both flirted with the two minute mark and could get runner-up positions.

440 YARD DASH — Ewart looms as the odds on choice here. The Arlington sprinter has a :51.8 and qualified for the state meet last year. Wheeling's Bowker could challenge.

MILE RUN — Ledford and Brown loom as the strongest at the mile, both having been clocked around 4:30 this season. If they switch to the two mile that will leave the field wide open.

MILE RELAY — Prospect has a 4:30.2 in the mile relay while Arlington has been around 4:31. Wheeling may be the darkhorse.

880 YARD RELAY — The Wildcats or Falcons could stage a two team battle for 880 relay honors. Both have posted times under 1:39. The Cards should threaten.

POLE VAULT — Phil Cordina of Prospect has already topped 13-3 this season. Chip Douglas of Arlington has cleared 12 feet and Wheeling's soph Bob Maslin and frosh Stew Oakley have both gone over 11-6. Oakley hit 13 feet indoors but hasn't been near that height outdoors.

SHOT PUT — Junior Kim Markshausen may be the best in a wide open shot field. Markshausen has been between 45 and 50 feet for the Cards.

BROAD JUMP — A quartet of good entries could make the broad jump very close. Prospect's Leroy Rateike, FV's Dunnigan, Arlington's Tom Hahn and Conant's Dom Furio are all consistently over 19 feet.

HIGH JUMP — George Schenck has been up to five feet, 10 inches for the Cougars. John Norbert of Forest View has been at 5-9. Those two may lead the way.

DISCUS — A sure bet here would seem to be junior Greg Zachwieja of Arlington. In runner-up spots could be either Jim Lemerande of the 'Cats or Spencer Dreischarf of FV. Lemerand has been over 130 feet and Dreischarf over 120.

AT THE frosh - soph level the Cards appear to be strongest. They took the Lake Shore Relays crown and have topped The 'Cats and Knights in duals action. Wheeling should be a close second.

Admission to the meet will be $1.00 for adults and $.50 for students.

state this spring with losses to boys who should be among the seeded performers at the finals in Champaign.

The duos of Burke and Milligan and Esser and Jarecki both won doubles titles in the eight-team Evanston Invitational.

Arlington appears to have the most class among the district entries, but there will be some other boys to watch Friday and Saturday.

TERRY KNIGHT, a transfer from South Africa, gives Barrington a strong singles player, and Maine West can counter with Gustavo Herrero, a transfer student from Argentina. Herrero beat Knight 8-5 in pro sets.

Among the other Paddock area schools Forest View's top boys should be Jim Buckholz and Rick Gillespie. Buckholz fashioned eight wins in his first 12 singles outings and handed Prospect's Craig Wolf his first covered from a bad ankle.

Wolf, Glen Morton, Tom Johnson, Jeff Long, Chuck Heitzman, and Chuck Hengels loom as the top Prospect entries. Brian Kiehl may work in the alignment now that he has recovered from a bad ankel.

St. Viator's top entry will be sophomore John Allare, who had a string of six straight singles successes snapped last week. Dave Harris has also been turning in some strong tennis in recent meets.

Baseball Districts

have been having trouble at the plate, with pitcher - outfielder Rich Henderson and Mike Holstrom the most consistent, Holstrom six for 17 in his first five MSL games. On the mound, the right-hander Henderson has a 1-3 mark and Bill King is 1-1, but both are considered better than that.

Hitting has been one of the stronger points for Prospect with the beginning of MSL play, with catcher-reserve pitcher Tom Lundstedt showing good power and seven hits in 15 at bats, J. D. Thorne seven for 16, Maury Gallagher five for 14, Clyde Whitcomb four for 14.

Knights headman Chuck Aldrich has two dependable pitchers in Dave Kingman, a junior with a 2-2 mark and 39 strikouts in 29 innings, and Thorne, who's worked to a 3-2 mark with good control and good clutch hurling.

CONANT, in something of a spiral, will go against Barrington in need of both hitting and consistent pitching. Both have hauled Lynn Crouch's Cougars down, with the team showing a 3-7 mark as of Monday. The hitting has come mostly from shortstop Dick Helmer, batting .313 through the first five MSL games, and catcher Dennis Shaw, swinger of good power and a .272 early loop average.

The pitching has been carried by right-hander Al Ramsey, who gave up but three runs in his first three games, before being shelled by Palatine Monday. Dave Sander, the steady of the mound last year, has yet to get going, with control troubles plaguing him.

Barrington had a 5-3 mark through Monday, thanks mainly to a strong 1-2 pitching team. Left-hander Don Schumaker and right - hander Tom Altenburg have been the principals, holding up a light-hitting attack.

PALATINE and Arlington, in the Monday Barrington tourney game, will be heading for their second meeting this year. Palatine won the first in the Pirates' season opener, a 7-4 decision marked by bitter cold and loose play. From then, through Monday, the Pirates were 5 - 4 for the season and the Cardinals had not won in eight games.

Terry Gellinger's Pirates got through their first game mostly on defense and pitching, with a lack of hitting then costing them four straight losses. But the batters have showed an awakening, with four especially — Mike Ferguson, Ken Johnson, John Grove and Bob Young —sparking the reversal.

The pitching has been done by Barry Yurtis, a strong but erratic right-hander who ranks with the toughest in the area when he's in form, and by Irv Hahnfeldt, a junior who relies more on an assortment of slow breaking pitches. Yurtis is 4-2, Hahnfeldt 1-2.

ARLINGTON, under new headman Fran Somers, has been trying to find its way out of a slump compounded by defensive lapses and lack of hitting, and it's meant a lot of experimenting with different lineups. The Cards' Bob Young has been one of the leaders, for though he's 0-3 on the mound, he has pitched some good ball, including a relief stint against Palatine, and he's leading the club with a .417 batting mark. He's a left-hander.

Arlington has been getting most of the rest of its hitting from Thad Woodard, a .286 batter, and Jim Jorgensen, at .313. The team is regarded as one that could jell and reverse its form.

Wheeling, after a very slow start, has come on with a surprising 4-1 mark in the first half of MSL play, and with Glenbrook North could be the factor in the Deerfield district. Steve Chernicky's Wildcats — through Monday — were 4-4-1 over-all, with crafty right-hander Mark Newman 4-0-1 on the mound, with 48 strikeouts. The team should have a boon in the return of hurler Skip Grandt, sidelined with appendicitis. He looked good losing his first start 2-0.

There's potential power in at least six hitters, with Jeff Winterburg, Dan DeVito and Mark Newman delivering most consistently so far. The defense has also shown marked improvement.

Glenbrook North, which had lost only two close decisions as of Monday, has been one of the strengths of the area, and will probably be the Wednesday opponent if Wheeling gets by Deerfield. The Spartans have three strong hurlers in Ken Kozil, Scot Krause and Paul Brubaker, and have shown a special penchant for profiting on mistakes. The 'Cats, however, must first handle Deerfield, a unit that beat them 7-1 in their season opener.

Maine's Gastorf Fans 17

'Cats Nine Edged 3-2; Tied for League Lead

by MICHAEL HESS

Bill Gastorf is a mystifying pitcher!

On Tuesday afternoon Gastorf went to the mound for Maine West. His opponent was the diamond aggregation from Wheeling.

In the first inning Gastorf fanned two. He fanned two more in the second and another in the third. In the fourth Gastorf struck out four at a catching error let one of those outs reach first. He whiffed three in the fifth, three more in the sixth and two in the seventh.

Those figures add up to 17 strike outs!

MAINE WEST won that contest from Wheeling by a 3-2 margin. As a result the 'Cats and Warriors became knotted in the Mid-Suburban League's first place. Both had their conference records shifted to 4-2 by the outcome.

What made Gastorf's hurling a mystery was that he didn't appear to be very fast or to have excellent control. Yet, time after time after time Wheeling batters swung at pitches in the dirt or pitches outside or pitches over their heads. Gastorf was good, very good, but he was helped by opposition hitters.

Having the bad luck to oppose Gastorf on the 'Cats hill was Skip Grandt. Grandt fanned ten and only walked two. However, shaky first and second innings, when he gave up six hits and all MW's runs, brought his downfall.

In Maine's half of the opening frame three singles brought one run. The RBI's blow was off the bat of Bob Mein. In Maine's second an error and two bunt singles loaded the bases. A double play followed but Tony Gyssler's Texas League single, the second of his four hits, drove home two more runs and the Warriors led 3-0.

WHEELING DID all its scoring in the bottom of the second.

Jeff Powell opened for the 'Cats with a bouncing single to center. John Hittman drew Gastorf's second and last walk before Bob Krug lined out to deep left center. Jim Whittington fanned for out number two. Then Dan DeVito dropped a single into short left scoring Powell and Grandt beat out a roller scoring Hittman.

Tom Manderscheid looked at a third strike and the inning ended. The final 3-2 totals had been set.

The Wildcats had three other good chances to score. They had two on with two outs in the third but Bob Krug fanned. They had the bases loaded with two outs in the fourth but Mark Newman fanned. They had two on with two outs in the seventh but Krug popped to first.

EXCEPT FOR the first and second Maine put two runners on only in the fourth. With two away there were two infield singles. Grandt was equal to the task, however, and got the next batter to ground out.

Though Gyssler's four singles won him hitting honors in the game, teammate Tom Kehe got two hits and scored a run. For Wheeling, Powell and Hittman were best at the plate. They got two singles apiece and each scored a run.

Going into the contest the Wildcats had been all alone atop the M-SL and the Warriors were in second. But, coach Steve Chernicky's nine was beaten, slipped into the first place tie and fell below .500 for the season at 4-5-1.

It all happened because Bill Gastrof was a pitching mystery the 'Cats couldn't solve.

St. Viator Netmen Fall

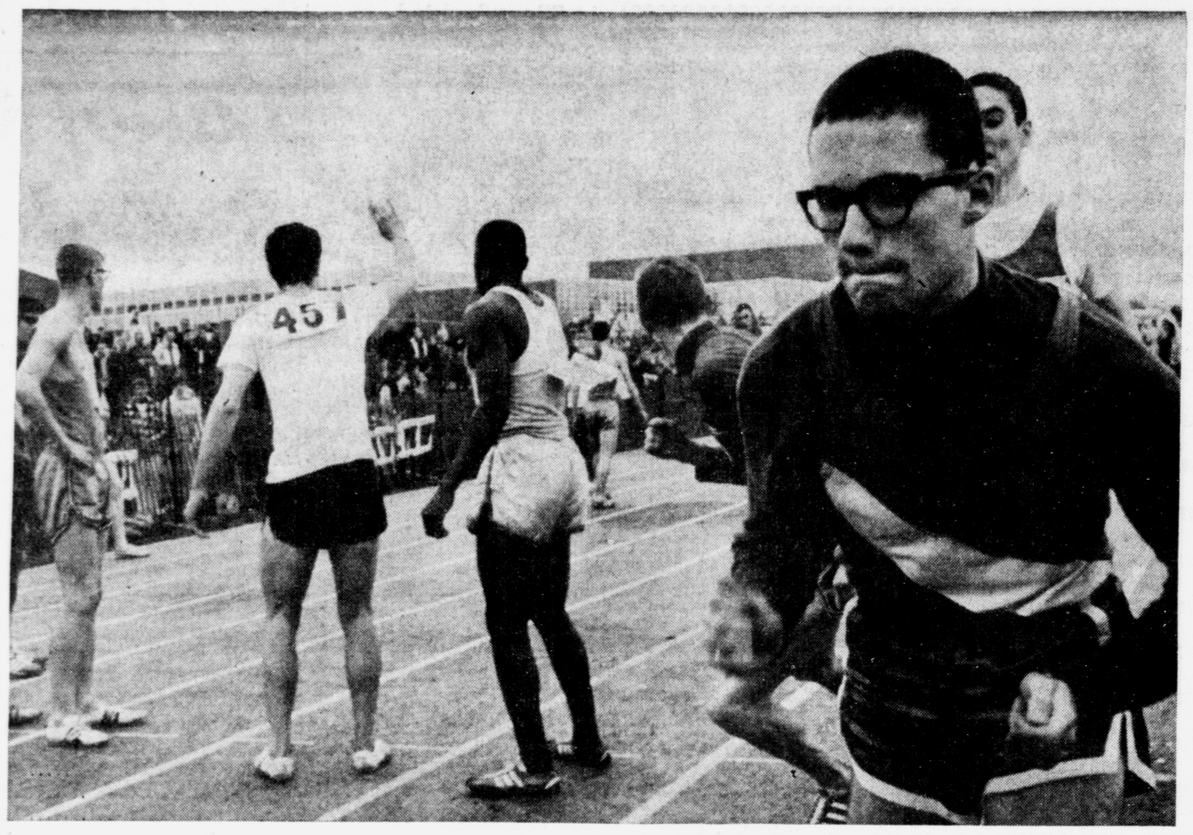
Holy Cross handed St. Viator's varsity tennis Lions their third loss of the conference season Tuesday afternoon.

The visiting Crusaders chalked up two points in singles and one in doubles.

Gaining St. Viator's only wins were Dave Harris in second singles (6-2, 9-7) and Greg Sidor and Tim Plesko in second doubles (6-3, 6-4).

John Allare, Lion sophomore playing number one singles, fell to Ray Bachmann of Holy Cross 6-3, 6-2.

St. Viator is slated to journey to St. Patrick today (Thursday). The Lions will hook up in the district Friday and Saturday at Arlington.



YORK HELD THE UPPERHAND at this stage of the Class A mile relay Saturday with highly regarded Al Janulis (right) preparing to take the baton from teammate Ken Vandeventer. Palatine's Bill Bahnfleth (shown behind Janulis' right shoulder) turned in a spectacular :48.1 anchor lap to overtake the York speedster at the wire. Both quartets cracked Relays and school marks with 3:22.4 and 3:22.5 clockings. (Staff photo)

Bahnfleth Edges Janulis – Twice!

Palatine Wins Final Event; Ties York for Relays Title

by BOB FRISK

With three events remaining Saturday in the 34th edition of the Palatine Relays defending champion York held a lead of seven points on host Palatine.

Even the most optimistic Palatine boosters were reluctantly prepared to accept runnerup honors for the third straight year in the outdoor track spectacular.

But the Pirates weren't dead yet on this final afternoon in April.

The excitement had barely died dowh from a fantastic mile relay when Joe Johnson's determined Palatine crew started to chip away at York's lead at a dizzying pace.

FIRST, BOB PAYNE, Art Danneberg, Brian McCartney, and Bill Meister equaled the Relays record with a sizzling :45.8 clocking in the 400 yard low hurdle shuttle.

York followed the Pirates across the line over the lows, but the Dukes saw their team lead cut to five points.

Dennis Denton, a junior who isn't accustomed to grabbing the big headlines, was the next Palatine hero.

DENTON, RUNNING in the fast mile heat, hit the finish line in 4:31.7 to top Maine East's Bill Bennesch by one-tenth of a second.

As Denton was mobbed by his teammates, Palatine followers—and coaches—began to realize that a title was within grasp now, even if it meant sharing the first place hardware.

York boasted two milers who had dipped below 4:30 this spring but had nothing more than a third place and three more team points in the distance feature. Don DeMent, a 4:28.3 performer the previous week, had slumped to 4:39.2 and finished out of the money. John Schafer, running in the second heat, did manage to come in at 4:34.7 to salvage a third place for the Dukes.

WITH ONE EVENT remaining—the 880 yard relay—York had 56 points and Palatine had 54. With the relays determined on a 10-8-6-4-2 basis, the Pirates had to finish at one slot ahead of York to share the team championship.

The stage was set for a dramatic windup to the oldest and largest prep outdoor meet in Illinois. It was cold for the spectators on this overcast day, but it was heating up on the infield as the runners prepared for the half-mile relay.

Johnny Ekeberg of Palatine and Bob Booth of York were the leadoff men, and Ekeberg carried a slim lead as he slipped the baton to John Blanchard on the east side of the track.

BLANCHARD, running in his third relay, held the lead in competition with York's Ted Mosier, then Brian McCartney took over for the Pirates. The big junior headed south, generated more power as he swung around the south curve of the track, and reached teammate Bill Bahnfleth at the same time York's Jeff White handed the baton to Al Janulis.

This was what the crowd was waiting for. Another duel between Bahnfleth and Janulis, two of the finest trackmen in Illinois who had staged a dazzling battle to the wire in the mile relay.

Just as he had done in the mile event with a brilliant anchor leg, Palatine's Bahnfleth was equal to the task this time. The splendid sprinter, only a junior, flashed to the finish line a step ahead of Janulis, giving Palatine a tie for first place in the team race.

PALATINE AND York finished with 64 points each. One year ago York had claimed Class A honors with 64 points, and the Pirates had finished second with 62.

A new scoring rule adopted by the National Alliance Track and Field Rules and Records Committee last spring actually worked in York's favor.

For meets in which five places are scored, individual points are now awarded 6-4-3-2-1. The old 5-4-3-2-1 system would have given Palatine 63 markers Saturday and York 61.

IN THE MORNING events Saturday York took a 23-14 lead on Palatine as Louis Drinka won the shot put, John Mauzey won the discus with a record-setting flip of 174 feet, Mosier finished second in the broad jump, and the two mile relay team took third.

The Pirates scored four points in the shot put with Duane Hosimer's 53 feet nine and one-half inches and ten in the two mile relay as Blanchard, Denton, Rick Ortman, and Randy McWilliams covered the distance in a pace-setting 8:12.

Denton gave the Pirates their lead as second man, and Ortman opened it up as he worked his 880 yards. McWilliams padded to the advantage with a fine finishing kick.

THE AFTERNOON program got under way with Palatine's high hurdle team of Payne, Danneberg, Jerry Kissner, and Meister covering the distance in 42 seconds flat, five-tenths of a second shy of the Relays mark. York was second.

York's Janulis was an easy winner in the 100 yard dash with a record-equaling :09.9, but Bohnfleth claimed runnerup honors to give Palatine its four points.

The mile relay, a featured event on any track program, was worth the price of admission in the Palatine Relays.

THERE WAS DRAMA packed into each Palatine-York duel, but the anchor leg was spectacular.

York's Janulis, who has a :48.6 open quarter this spring, had the lead on Palatine's Bahnfleth as they each took the baton, but the Pirate speedster caught him at the wire and tumbled to the asphalt surface.

Bahnfleth was clocked in a brilliant :48.1 for his leg of the relay, and Palatine achieved a 3:22.4, a school and Palatine Relays record. York was second in 3:22.5, also better than the Relays mark and also a school standard.

That was the final scoring for both schools until the low hurdle shuttle touched off Palatine's closing fireworks.

FOREST VIEW headed the team scoring for the other Paddock area schools in Class A action. The Falcons scored nine points for a creditable ninth place finish.

Pat Dunnigan, second in both the prelims and semi-finals, collected a fifth place finish in the Class A 100 yard dash.

The Falcons also scored in the low hurdle shuttle as Scott McDonald, Jim Baumgardt, Fred Berg, and Dunnigan turned in a :47.4 clocking, four-tenths of a second behind third place Harlan.

Forest View finished fourth in the 880 yard relay with a unit of Gary Crain, Berg, Joe Branka, and Dunnigan. The Falcon quartet had a 1:34.8

WHEELING WAS next in line for the area schools with eight points.

The Wildcats scored with two fourths in relays and just missed in the discus when John Lemerande reached the finals, but failed to place.

Bill Surmin, Wayne Paturalski, Tom Johann, and Bob Bromley covered the 320 yard high hurdle shuttle in a snappy :43.9, only one-tenth of a second shy of third place Maine East.

Bromley, Paul Fiegen, Bill Lytle, and Jim Bowker teamed up for a 3:31.5 in the mile relay for another fourth. The 'Cats weren't in the swift heat, but claimed their fourth with a first place in the opening group.

PROSPECT PICKED up its six points from Phil Cordina in the pole vault with Cordina clearing 12 feet six inches.

Arlington scored with two individual fourths. Junior Greg Zachwieja finished fourth in the discus throw, and senior Steve Ewart was fourth in the 100 yard dash after winning his semi-final heat. The Cards were sixth in the two mile relay with a unit of Dave Dieters, Tom Thornton, Rory Cassidy, and Mark Saylor.

Conant's markers came from a fifth by Dick Ledford in the mile run (4:36.9) and tie for fifth by Britt Dickson and Jim Carter in the pole vault.

St. Charles won the Class B title with 50 points. The top individual efforts in Class B were a toss of 55 feet six and three-fourths inches in the shot put by Jim Anderson of Kaneland and mile run of 4:24.4 by Doug Williamson of Libertyville.

Arlington Golfers Top York, 313-314

Arlington's varsity golfers remained unbeaten in West Suburban Conference competition Tuesday afternoon with an impressive one-stroke, 313 to 314 victory over York.

Coach Phil Stack's Cards will bring a 3-0 conference mark into action today (Thursday) against a formidable LaGrange team. The crucial league test will get under way at 4:00 p.m. at Golden Acres.

Following the match with LaGrange, the Cards will hook up in the rescheduled Lake Park Invitational Saturday morning at 10 and will face a host Hinsdale unit next Tuesday afternoon.

Jim Saflarski came in with nines of 36-39 for a 75 Tuesday to lead the Cards to their one-stroke victory over York.

Three other Arlington golfers dipped into the 70s. Rick Price bagged a 36-41 for 77, Roger Baer had a 79, and Steve Johnson recorded an 82. Tom Sloan didn't figure in the team total but fired an 83.

Baer had a nine-hole score of 37 en route to his 79.

York was paced by Ingebretson with a 35-36—71 and Lada with a 73.

In frosh-soph play York recorded a 357-365 victory.

Steve Coy was low for the losers with 42-42 for an 84. Doug Chaps came in at 86, Bob O'Brien at 97, and Bob Reno at 98.

'Cats Net Unit Blanks Conant

Victory number one . . . It finally came.

After five straight setbacks Wheeling's tennis team picked up its first triumph of the season last Thursday. Conant, without a win after seven duals, was the victim.

Final score in the meet was 5-0.

Karl Meisenheimer got the 'Cats off to a good start. He stopped the Cougars Dave O'Neal 6-0, 6-3 in first singles. In second singles Barry Christensen topped Jim Taylor 6-1, 6-1 while Tony Martin beat Jeff Schepp 6-0, 6-3 in third singles.

FOR MEISENHEIMER and Christensen the wins were their first of the year. Martin's win was his second.

In doubles Wheeling completed the shutout. Fred Patton and Dave Liu halted Conants Nick Kron and Dick Watson 6-2, 6-0 in first doubles. A team of Walt Krier and Dave Stanowski won 6-0, 6-0 for the 'Cats over Chris Shadwell and Bill Gross in second doubles.

At the frosh-soph level the Wildcats also blanked the Cougars 5-0. That moved the record of coach Ted Ecker's winning charges to 5-1 while headman Dick Gavigan's forces were dropping their seventh F-S meet in a row.

Jim Cuca, Scott Decker and Tom Kreis won singles for the younger Wheeling entry. Decker beat Bob Gemeny 6-0, 6-1 as Decker was handling Roger O'Keefe 6-2, 6-4 and Kreis was stopping Jim Fortman 6-1, 6-1. Cuca's win was his fifth in six matches this season.

IN LOWER LEVEL doubles 6-2, 6-3 scores gave Bill Reinhardt and Ron Kensil the decision over Conant's Tom Rosenberger and Scott MacEachron. Reid Hansen and Marty Steffenson bumped Bob Summerfield and Steve Sinnot 6-1, 6-0 in the other double match and wrap up the 'Cats whitewash.

The meet was the Mid-Suburban League opener for both teams. Wheeling's victory was its first ever in conference play and second ever in school history. That previous triumph was also over Conant.

Hinsdale Handles Cards' Two Units In Net Headliner

Hinsdale showed its class Tuesday afternoon with a pair of 5-0 victories over visiting Arlington in two crucial West Suburban Conference tennis matches.

The powerful Red Devils, a point behind the Cards in the varsity standings when action began, only lost one set in the convincing win.

The Cardinals will resume conference action today (Thursday) with a road match at Downers Grove. District play follows Friday and Saturday with matches against Glenbard West (Tuesday) and Oak Park (Wednesday) set for next week.

HINSDALE didn't lose a set in singles action Tuesday as John Kayser, Bob Hughes, and Jack Tracy conquered their Arlington opponents.

Kayser, a junior, whipped soph Bill Von Boeckmann in No. 1 action, 6-0, 6-1. Hughes scored an 8-6, 6-3 win over Jim Esser in the second slot, and Tracy whipped John Jarecki 6-1, 8-6.

In first doubles Hinsdale's Greg Lawton and Bill Bohnett whipped Arlington's Brian Burke and Dave Milligan, 6-3, 5-7, 6-4. John Imrie and John Gilchrist toppled the Cards' Mat Weeg and John Brost in second doubles, 6-4, 6-3.

IN FROSH-SOPH action Hinsdale didn't lose a set en route to a 5-0 victory.

Singles wins went to Stocker over Bob Gallagher (6-2, 6-0), Robinson over Rick Tindall (6-3, 6-1) and Lawton over Chuck Gibbel (6-0, 6-0).

In doubles Hart and Carpenter whipped Arlington's Paul Stevens and Bill Stelling 6-4, 6-0 in No. 1 play. Tillson and Copeland handled Bob Crockett and John Harmon in second doubles, 6-1, 6-1.

Nearing 2,000 Hits

Ernie Banks, veteran first baseman of the Chicago Cubs, needs just 65 hits to reach 2,000 in the major leagues. Last year Banks had 162, six more than his 1964 total.

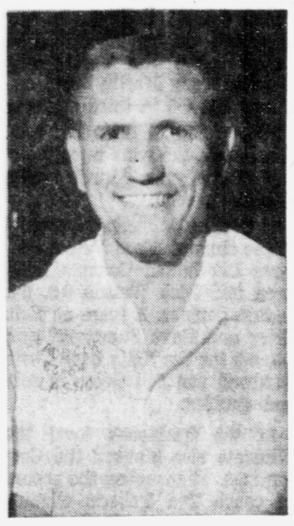
Buick Handles Champ Chalet

Bill Cook Buick is what you might call a rude runnerup.

The Buick men, nosed out of the first round title of the Paddock Classic Traveling League by The Brass Rail, marked position night by slapping down the Railers.

Last Saturday, Bill Cook Buick—bridesmaid again—went against second round champion Concourse Sports Chalet, and repeated the effort. The Buick team slapped the Sports 5-2, and though they were then too far back to overtake the victors, there may have been some consolation.

With that and three other position matches, the PCTL bowlers concluded formalities



TED ZIMMERMAN

FINAL STANDINGS:

Sports Chalet	77
Bill Cook Buick	65
Brim's Pioneer	62
Morton Pontiac	62
City Welding	54
Jeffery Lanes	50
Karlsen Pharmacy	39
The Brass Rail	39

for round two of the 1965-66 season, and cleared the stage for the season's end roll-off. That will pit The Brass Rail against Concourse Sports Chalet, first in an 8:00 p.m. Saturday night faceoff at River Rand Bowl, and then again at 3:00 p.m. on Sunday at Jack Gunnell's Lanes.

Little changed in relative position in the position play, though two ties were created and the bowlers obviously found the refurbished lanes at Brim's Pioneer Lanes to their liking. Eleven 600 series were rolled out, and some colossal games.

THE MATCH that solved the least was the Chalet-Buick match, because of the 15-point margin that separated the two going into position play. Chalet, with a fine 985 third game effort, salvaged only that from the meeting. Because as good as the Sports were in games one and two, the Buick boys were superior.

Paul Borvig, who wrapped a 256 game into a 630 series, led it for Bill Cook, but Norb Leja had 605 and Al Jordan 584. For Chalet, Ron Steil had 610 and Tom Kouros 603, including a 255 game.

One of the ties created was for third, where Morton Pontiac nudged up with Brim's Pioneer Lanes by taking the Pioneers 4-3. Some of the night's most sensational bowling was in that match, with Brim's getting a 3006 team series and a 1056 third game, while losing the second game 1000-994. The Pontiac people clinched the team win by also taking the high-scoring first game.

MORTON HAD three men near 600 and one — Glenn Westman — well over it. He had a 661 effort, with a 247 game included. Bob Krisch had a 648 for Pioneer, with a 236 game, while Larry Thon had 613 and the three other team members the three other team members were close to 600.

The Brass Rail created the other tie, in the process avoiding the dubious distinction of winning one round and finishing dead last in the other. The Railers beat Karlsen Pharmacy 7-0, just enough to tie the Pharmacy five for seventh.

TED ZIMMERMAN'S thunderous 277-195-209—681 was the biggest offering in the critical win, which saw The Railers getting a 2903 team series. But Harvey Randolph — throwing a 245 game into it — had a 647 series and Don Oberg a 604. Karlsen's Herm Simonis had 558 and Jim Runkle 556, while Joe Simonis — who shaded Morton's Les Zikes for the individual average lead — had 549.

In the final match of the evening, City Welding Sales and Service lost a point to Jeffery Lanes in a 4-3 loss, but stayed ahead of Jeffery in the fifth spot. Again there was a lot of strong bowling, with the best being the 606 series of City Welding's Bob Hurwitz. Paul Zubak had 584 and Don Christensen 581 for Jeffery.

Nebel Golf Unit Gains

The Nebel Insurance Team, playing in the Arlington VFW League at Old Orchard Golf Club, moved into a first place tie as they bumped Heights Wall & Floor into the cellar with a 20-4 win.

The Annen & Busse Team moved out of last place, climbing four notches to 8th by taking the measure of Active Heating by a 17-7 margin.

L'Nor Cleaners, led by Virgil Rolfs, trounced General Electric 19-5, moving into second place just two points behind the leaders.

Heavy rains the past couple of weeks left the course soft and soggy, causing scores to skyrocket. Low gross for the night was 42 shot by George Hanke and George Snelten. Ray Janowiak, playing for Kehe, Foy & Snelten, took low net by carding 47-14-33.

Stops Steve's In Gals Showdown

Lattof Chevrolet Wins Round Two And Title

The best proof of a champion is a championship performance.

The ladies of Lattof Chevrolet turned one in last Saturday night, and because of it, they are the champions of the 1965-66 Paddock Women's Classic Traveling League season.

Lattof, victorious in round one of the PWCTL campaign, met and conquered Steve's Restaurant in the position night showdown for the title in round two. The final was 3-1.

In thus winning, the Lattof ladies accomplished precisely what Steve's gals did a year before: won both rounds, eliminating the need for a championship roll-off.

For one game — the first — Steve's had evened itself with Lattof. The restaurant team took the initial contest by a 964-917 pin count, and at that point was equal to Lattof in team point standings, 44 to 44. They had gone into the showdown with that one point separating them.

FINAL STANDINGS:

Lattof Chevrolet	47
Steve's Restaurant	44
Morton Pontiac	29
Striking Lanes	29
Rolling Meadows Bowl	28
River Rand Bowl	15

BUT WHEN the evening was over, Lattof had three more points and Steve's none, for a 47-44 final in the team rankings. The auto quintet did it by bouncing back with a big 933-826 second game win, then holding on in a low-scoring third contest. Those two points, plus the bonus for total pinfall, finished Steve's.

Vi Douglas, who ended third in the league's individual average race, was the most important of three potent factors for Lattof. She had games of 183, 214 and 169 for a 566 series, best of the evening. But Rose Kraft had 555 and Joanne Christensen 551 to plump the Lattof total.

Lattof's Peggy Harris — who nipped Steve's Bonnie Kuhn by a pin for the individual average title — had an off night with 495, but it didn't matter. Bonnie was the best for the losers, rolling 557, while teammate Ann Neumann had 540. Ann ended fourth in the final individual rankings.

MORTON PONTIAC needed everything it could get in its position match with Striking Lanes if Morton was to knot Striking for third. Morton got everything, a 4-0 win and a 29-29 deadlock in the team standings.

One game was close, the second which Morton won by 10 pins. Otherwise, the victors had a fairly easy time of it, with Ruth Baurhyte's 545 and Nancy Dietz' 543 pacing the attack. Eunice Whitmore had 510 for Striking.

Rolling Meadows Bowl — paced by Harriet Fuchs — came close, but not close enough to joining the deadlock for third. RMB, in a brilliantly contested match with River Rand Bowl, took narrow victories in games one and two, lost the third by 23 pins, and won the point for pinfall by one. It added up to a 3-1 victory, giving RMB 28 team points, not quite enough to jump out of fifth place.

VI DOUGLAS

Harriet started roaring with a 220 game, the effort that meant the difference in the first contest. She ended with a 534 series, while Marlene Smith had 523 and Jean Ladd and Kay Clark — who had a 224 third game — had 520 each. For River Rand, Ethel Juenger had 556 and Marge Lindenberg a 531.

Keefer's Flashes Power on Opening Night of League

Keefer's Pharmacy, showing surprising early-season strength overpowered Busse-Biermann Hardware 9½-½ last week to take the first night lead in the Tuesday division of the Mount Prospect Twilight Golf League.

The Pharmacists, sparked by Ed Pociask's 41 gross 34 net, apparently had little difficulty in disposing of the Hardwaremen, coming within a half point of an unprecedented first night, tory.

Pociask's contribution to his team's total was 2½ points gained by winning match and medal over opposing Capt. Walt Lyman, plus one-half point for low individual net.

SHARING THE low individual net point was teammate Frank Linduska, who also won both match and medal from Art Skelton. Carl Lindquist did his share by winning his match with Bill Skibbe and contributing two points to the total.

Ed Spletzer of the Pharmacists was the only player who ran into trouble in his match. He and opponent Ed Lauing battled to a tie on the match, splitting that point, but Spletzer managed to take the medal with a 42 gross 38 net for a total of 1½ points.

IN A TIE for second place in the league after the first night of play were Carter Music Shop and Thunderbird Bowl each with seven points. Carter won theirs from Kersting Garden Center and Thunderbird defeated Mount Prospect Electric Construction for their points.

The remainder of the matches on this cold and windy night were much closer. Kirchhoff Insurance defeated Kruse's Tavern 6-4, Licht's Paint Store beat Wille Lumber and Fuel 5½-4½, and Illinois Range edged Moler's Barber Shop 5½-4½.

With the thermometer hovering around 40 degrees and a 25 mile an hour wind, Ken Shipley's 38 over the second nine was the only score under 40.

Birdies were reported by Ed Pociask, Ed Ayers, and Dave Shean

An Unusual Experience

Warriors Edged 4-3 On Knights Diamond

Maine West had an unusual experience Monday afternoon. The Warriors lost a Mid-Suburban League baseball game.

In the two years of its existence, the M-SL has known just one diamond champ. That's MW. To gain its pair of titles the Des Plaines club had compiled a 20-4 conference record.

This season however, Maine's nine dropped one of its first four league encounters. Then, on Monday, at Prospect, there came a second defeat. Final score in that contest was 4-3.

By winning the Knights climbed into a second place tie with the Warriors, both at 8-2 in Mid-Suburban standings. Coach Chuck Aldrich's nine upped its over-all mark to 6-4 with the victory.

TRIUMPH FOR Prospect resulted from a three run third and one run fourth plus pitching just strong enough to keep MW one run away.

The Knights' third frame rally began with one out. J. D. Thorne singled to left. Tom Lundstedt singled to right. Runners were on first and third.

SCORE BY INNINGS

Maine West	100 011 0	—3-7-2
Prospect	003 100	—4-8-1

Clyde Whitcomb grounded to short but the try for a double play failed when the second baseman dropped the throw. Thorne scored.

Vince Franzone, Prospect's next batter, put the ball down the third base line and beat the throw to load the bases. That brought Don Whitlock to the plate. He slashed a liner to deep left scoring Lundstedt and Whitcomb. Trying to score from first, Franzone was nailed at the plate. Bob Robinson fanned to end the inning.

Their uprising put the Knights on top 3-1. Maine had used two singles and an error to push across a run in the first inning.

IN THE FOURTH Prospect gained its final tally. Maury Gallagher slapped a double down the left field line. Thorne picked up an RBI by knocking out another double. There were two away at the time and Lundstedt went down swinging for the final out, the ninth time a Knight had fanned in the game.

Pitching for Prospect was being done by Thorne. He had given up only three hits going into the fifth, but then he had trouble.

A single and a triple produced Maine's second run. Thorne picked the runner off third which prevented further damage as the next batter singled. A pop up and ground out ended the threat, however, the Warriors narrowed the scoring gap to 4-3 with a tally in the sixth.

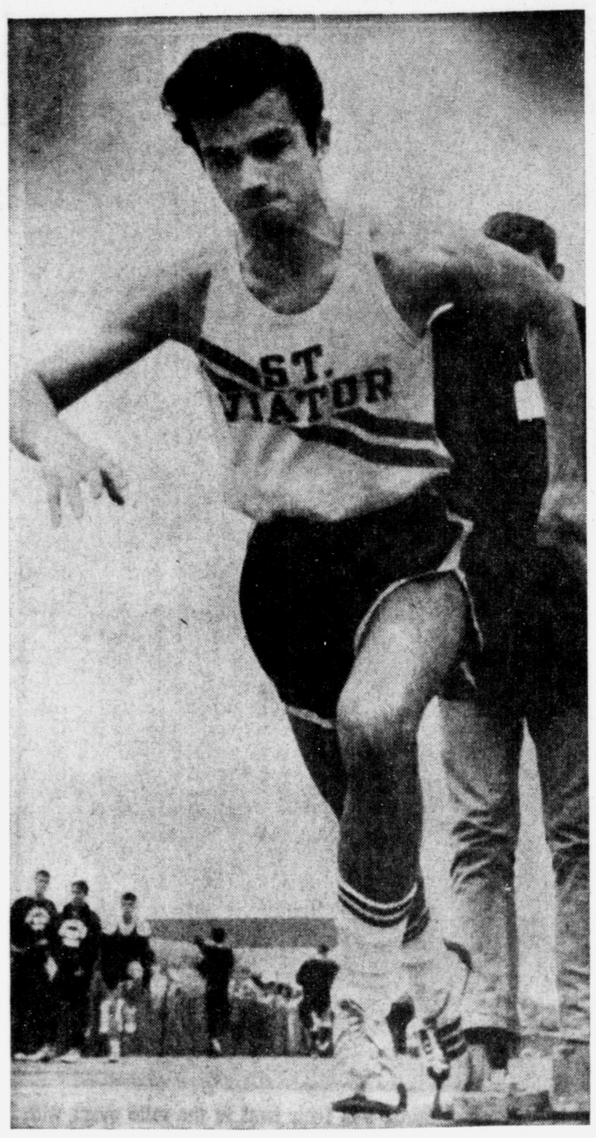
MW's first batter sent a shot to center for a single. Trying to stretch his hit to a double the runner was thrown out at second on a good throw from fielder Robinson. At that point Thorne was excused and Dave Kingman went to the hill.

KINGMAN ISSUED four straight balls to the first Warriors batter he faced. That batter promptly stole second, moved to third on an infield grounder and crossed the plate on Kingman's balk. A pop up and strike out finished Maine's chances to tie and Kingman hurled perfectly in the seventh to wrap up the win.

Winning pitcher in the game was Thorne, now 3-2 for the season and 1-1 in the M-SL. In five plus innings Thorne gave up six hits and two runs, only one earned, while fanning four and walking none. He also contributed a pair of hits, one run scored and one RBI to Prospect's attack.

Kingman, in two frames, struck out three, walked one, and gave up one unearned run and no hits. In his first 29 innings of mound work this year Kingman has fanned 39.

In addition to his two RBI double, Whitlock had a single. Those were his second and third base blows in 16 official times at bat in Mid-Suburban League play. He was the only other of the Knights, with Thorne, to get more than one hit.



LEADOFF MAN for St. Viator High School Saturday in the Class A mile relay was Dom Bellino. The Lion quartet of Bellino, Jim Corrigan, Bob Cooper, and John MacDonald finished fourth in their heat with a 3:42.8 clocking. St. Viator failed to score in the Class A competition.

Whips Cardinals, 7-5

Hinsdale Snaps Loss Skein in Conference

For Hinsdale the drought ended Monday afternoon.

The varsity Red Devils, winless in five previous West Suburban Conference games, landed that first victory by conquering a visiting Arlington High School nine, 7-5.

The varsity Cardinals, suffering through an extremely frustrating campaign, were tagged with their sixth straight conference setback and eighth straight over-all.

HINSDALE reached Cardinal pitchers Steve Allen and Jim Bressler for five runs on five hits in an explosive fourth inning that put the decision out of reach.

Coach Fran Somers' Cards made some noise over the final three frames, scoring their five runs, but it was too late.

Arlington was slated to travel to York yesterday (Wednesday). The Cards will entertain Glenbard West Friday afternoon and journey to Barrington next Monday for a district tourney encounter with Palatine.

GAMES WITH Riverside Brookfield and Hinsdale must still be made up, but the schedule now hinges on what the Cards do in the state tourney series.

Hinsdale scored its first run Monday afternoon in the second inning on two singles and an error and added one more in the third on a double and two singles.

The fifth inning was a nightmare for Arlington. The Red Devils sent ten men to the plate. Five replied with hits, one reached on an error, and one walked as five runs scored.

JUNIOR RON Horcher, a right hander making his varsity debut on the hill, set down the Devils over the last two innings but the damage had been done.

Allen started on the mound for the Cards and was relieved by Bressler after facing three hitters in the fourth. Horcher followed Bressler.

The Cardinals put two men on in the second, and Thad Woodard singled with one out in the third but they couldn't score.

Bruce Weber, who drew the starting assignment in right field, rapped a two-out single in the fourth but was stranded.

ARLINGTON finally came to life in the fifth.

An error off the bat of Guy Davis launched the fireworks. Dave Lockwood, Woodard, and pinch hitter Bob Hecht drew free passes as Scott Pfuetz, a stocky right hander who also played basketball for Hinsdale, had trouble locating the plate.

After a fielder's choice Jim Jorgensen slapped a single.

Three runs scored in the frame, and the Cards pulled within four of the host Hinsdale nine.

Lockwood walked again with two outs in the sixth but couldn't advance. The Cards gave Hinsdale a scare with a two-run seventh.

Horcher and Tom LeStarge walked and Jorgensen, who has been looking good at the plate, slapped out his second single. Brad Somers also singled in the frame and Horcher and LeStarge rode around with the runs.

Jorgensen was the Cards' top swinger with two hits, giving him four over his last two conference outings.

In Spartan Relays

Cats End 3rd; FV Takes 6th

An invasion from Chicago defeated Wheeling, Forest View and 11 other track teams which gathered at Glenbrook North last Friday afternoon.

Marshall High School, the city's lone entry, swept past all others and won GN's Spartan Relays. The MHS Commandos took honors with 78 points.

Runner-up in the meet was Maine South with 70 points while the 'Cats tied Deerfield for third, each with 66 points. The Falcons followed Barrington's 46 points with 44 and were sixth.

There were 17 events in the thinclad action. Marshall and MS won four each. Two apiece went to FV, Wheeling, Barrington and Glenbrook North. Deerfield was best in one event.

ALL EVENTS in the meet were relays.

The Wildcats, under coach Jim Hoffman, established a meet record with their first in the frosh 440 yard relay. Clay Gallimore, Dan Uhrik, Tom Johann and Stew Oakley combined to cover the distance in :47.8. The old mark was set by the hosts last year at :47.9.

Wheeling's other top spot was a tie in the pole vault relay with Maine and Glenbrook South. All three totaled 32 feet. Vaulting for the 'Cats were soph Oakley, who cleared 11 feet, and frosh Tom Nelson and Bob Maslin, both of whom went 10 feet, six inches.

In the four mile relay and low hurdle relay were where Forest View took its firsts.

A QUARTET FROM the Falcons championship cross country team ended ahead in the four mile. Ken GaNung, Dick Appleton, Ted Lambert and Craig Brown were clocked in 19:02.2. Fred Berg, Scott McDonald, Jim Baumgardt and Pat Dunnigan teamed for a 1:27.8 and first in the low hurdles competition.

Four seconds, two thirds and a fourth among the runner-up spots went to Wheeling.

A foursome of Jim Lisafeld, Mike Guiney, Jim Bowker and Bill Lytle placed in a trio of events. They were second in the 440 yard and sprint medley relays and third in the 880 yard relay.

The other Wildcats' seconds were in the high and low hurdle shuttle relays. Bob Bromley, Tom Paturalowski, Bill Surmin and Johann finished number two in both events.

SCOTT POKLEN, Bill Martin, Paul Fiegen and Doug Steinman were third in the distance medley relay for Wheeling. Fourth in the soph 880 relay went to Poklen, Oakley, Al Pieupo and Coe Meyer.

Other points for FV in the meet came on thirds in the distance and 880 relays and a fifth in the high hurdle shuttle relay.

Third in distance relay went to Steve Leider, Jim Baumgardt, Gary Crain and Brown while Dunnigan, McDonald, Gary Crain and Fred Berg were number three in the 880 relay. McDonald, Berg, and sophs Roy McCellen and Mike Messer got the fifth in the high hurdle shuttle.

(Details on other Forest View places in the meet were unavailable.)

IN ADDITION to Wheeling's mark in the frosh 440, two other records were set and one was tied. Maine South set a new standard in the frosh-soph 880 in 1:35.7 while Barrington's 3:28.7 was the best ever in the mile relay. A :44.4 by Marshall was the same as the old varsity 440 yard standard.

Falcons' Thinclads Nip Maine West

For the first time in school history Forest View's track team has defeated Maine West. It happened Tuesday by a slim 64½-62½ margin.

The Falcons winning total was compiled mainly on the strength of the eight firsts they captured. Coach Dick Ohl's forces used the points gained for firsts to put their dual record at 2-1.

PAT DUNNIGAN paced the FV triumph. He ended ahead in three events. Dunnigan won the low hurdles in :19.9, the 100 yard dash in :10.3 and the broad jump at a distance of 19 feet, 4½ inches.

Pressing Dunnigan for meet honors was Steve Leider who was best in two events. Leider won the 440 yard dash in :52.4 and he 220 yard dash in :23.0.

Other Forest View top spots went to Craig Brown, Fred Berg and Spencer Dreischarf. Brown took the two mile with a time of 10:05 while Berg gained honors in the high hurdles in :15.8 and Dreischarf's 125 foot, 2 inch toss led the discus.

At the frosh-soph level the Falcons suffered their initial setback after two wins. Maine won the younger thincald action 81-29.

MIKE MESSER won the high and low hurdles in F-S action for FV. Messer was clocked in :16.5 for the highs and in :21.8 for the lows. Other Forest View firsts went to Bob Savage, with a 109 foot, 3 inch discus toss, and to Wayne Wille, with a time of 10:53 in the two mile.

Pirate Track Unit Clouts 'Cats 99-28

Palatine ripped another Mid-Suburban League track rival Tuesday afternoon, racing to a 99-28 verdict over Wheeling on the Wildcats' track.

But the Cats salvaged something from the gathering, winning both sophomore and freshman competition. The soph score was 76-50 and the freshman 74-53.

In the varsity victory, which put Palatine at 6-1 in outdoor duals and 2-0 against MSL opponents, Joe Johnson's thinclads won 12 of the 15 events contested.

Both the mile and 880 relay teams won, but neither in an especially swift time. The Pirates took all the running races but the 100, which went to Wheeling's Jim Lisafeld in :10.4.

BRIAN MC CARTNEY took the 220 in :22.8, Rick Ortman the 440 in :52.2, Randy McWilliams the 880 in 2:02, Dennis Denton the mile in 4:41.2, and Keith Wojtas the two mile run in 10:18.6. In the low hurdles, it was Bill Meister first in :20.3 and in the highs it was Art Dannenberg in :15.4.

Palatine also picked up firsts from Wayne Render, with a 5-10 high jump; from Duane Hosimer, with a 50-7 ¾ shot put; and Bill Gill, with a broad jump of 18-4 ¼.

John Lemerande whipped the discus 145-1 for one of Wheeling's other firsts, and Tom Nelson pole vaulted 11-6 for another.

Palatine fielded some juniors to fill out its sophomore squad, with Nels Johnson winning the 100 and the 220, and John Ekeberg anchoring the mile relay. The Pirates also had a first from Mark Visk in the mile and John Lang in the shot put.

BUT OTHERWISE, it was all Wheeling, with Tom Johann winning the high and low hurdles, Bill Martin the high jump and 880, Coe Meyer the discus and broad jump, Bob Maslin the pole vault, Al Lieupo the 440 and Andy Black the two mile run.

In the freshman meet, Stew Oakley won the 100, 220 and pole vault for Wheeling; Mike Mitchell the high hurdles, low hurdles and high jump; and Larry Ault the two mile. The teams split the relays, with Wheeling taking the 880 and Palatine the mile.

Carl Puzzo and Bob Dolatowski stood out for Palatine, Puzzo winning the mile and half-mile, Dolatowski the shot put and discus. Warren Buchanan took the broad jump and Jeff Olsberg the 440.

Knight Golfers Finish Second

Neither wind nor rain nor winter temperatures could keep a golfer from his rounds. At least not last Saturday.

Occasion for the links play in foul weather was the Champaign Invitational. In attendance were 13 of the state's top irons and woods teams, including Prospect.

When it was over almost all the scores had ballooned due to the wet and cold. However the Knights managed to finish second, trailing first place Peoria-Richwoods by just four strokes 429 to 433.

New Trier was third at 437 strokes while Bloomington, last year's Illinois golf titlist, was fourth at 439.

THE CI MEDALIST was Tom Keefe of Bloomington who carded a 78. Clint Gibson of New Trier covered 18 holes in 79 for runner-up honors. At 80 were Prospect's Dave Lovgren, Joel Eastman of R-R and Terry Jeffery of Homewood-Flossmoor.

Only the Knights and Peoria-Richwoods had four of their five players come in under 90.

For coach Mike Nisen's Prospect entry Doug Lytle was second behind Lovgren. Lytle posted an 87. Teammates Harry Wallace and Joe Rosanova each turned in 88's and fifth man Neil Rowe had a 90.

"Considering the weather and very difficult course," said Nisen, "our boys can be proud of their accomplishment."

THE INVITATIONAL tourney is played each year over the 6,683 yard, par 72 layout at the University of Illinois Golf Course. Traditionally only those teams which placed high in the previous state tourney are invited to attend.

Last year Prospect was ninth in the state. In the '65 Champaign Invitational the Knights were eighth with a 443 total.

Two Wins Turned In By Falcon Linksmen

Third and fourth straight victories were turned in by Forest View golfers during the past week.

Last Friday the Falcons gained a slim 337-338 links win over Glenbrook North. On Tuesday FV registered a 322-348 triumph against Lake Park.

THOSE RESULTS moved the record of coach Al Kintzle's crew to 4-1 for the present campaign.

When facing Glenbrook, Bill Schlinder paced Forest View. He toured 18 holes in 76 strokes. Backing him up were Doug Locke with an 83, Kent Gedman with an 86, and Doug Turner with a 92.

Al Piehl and Schlinder were best in the meet with LP. Both posted 80's. Turning in 81's were Locke and Turner while Gedman was the fifth man with an 82.

At the frosh-soph level the Falcons lost to GN by a 177-192 margin for nine holes and were downed 342-403 over 18 against Lake Park. That put the younger FV golfers record at 1-4.

BEST IN BOTH F-S meets for Forest View was Fred Lauing. He had a 44 against Glenbrook and a 94 against LP.

Mike Harvey and Mark Johnson tied Lauing for team honors in the GN meet. Both had 44's while Frank Waslyewski had a 45. Waslyewski carded a 102 against Lake Park and a 103 from Jim Remson and 104 from Harvey completed the scoring.

Lions' Golfers Handle St. Mel

Bill Crotty fired a 37 and Craig Crotty contributed a 39 Monday afternoon as St. Viator's varsity golfers toppled St. Mel, 161-220, for their fourth straight dual meet victory.

The 37 was two-over-par for the Mohawk Country Club course.

Also scoring for the Lions were Tom Cullen and Dean Muench with 43's.

St. Viator will meet a host St. Patrick team Friday afternoon and will face St. Ignatius Monday. A match at Holy Cross is set for next Wednesday, May 11.

THE SEASON HAS ARRIVED when you can stuff walleye or northern pike in your creel as well as some of the lesser fish you may have been pursuing in the past weeks.

But the season—according to the reports from this area's lakes and rivers—has arrived by the calendar only.

The calendar says that as of Sunday, you could begin seeking walleye (10 a day) and northerns (five a day, 20 inches minimum) in Illinois waters. Yet the signs of those prize quarries have been scant during the early season.

Predictably, some of the best fishing has come in the Chain-O-Lakes and the smaller lakes around them in Lake and McHenry counties. But that fishing has been bringing mostly crappies and catfish, some bullheads, and—in the Chain—a few northerns. Some largemouth bass were being taken from the Chain, but they're first now moving up into the more shallow water. The Fox River, though swollen with water and murky, has been productive if crappies or catfish are your game, though some walleyes and white bass have been taken.

The story is becoming a familiar one in northeastern Illinois, with the water in some cases being fished out, or overrun with the less sporting varieties of fish, or too polluted to support a strong fish population. One solution for those who have the time is to go downstate for the rewarding bass and panfish angling that area provides, or to the Mississippi River and its inlets for its diversity, or to wait for Wisconsin's major seasons to open, a moment which comes this year on May 14.

* * * * *

Times like these are times when the friendly fraternity of fishermen can be of most service to itself. Fishermen—except when they have that "special spot"—have always been generous in letting each other know where the fish action is, or isn't. Here's a chance to continue the tradition.

All fishermen in this area—I am sure—would like to hear about it if you've had some special luck on one of the area streams or lakes. If you'd like them to hear about it, drop me a card, letter or phone call and I'll be glad to share it with the fraternity in this space. Let me know if you have a body of water, a particular type of bait, or a certain kind of fish that's been rewarding you. It'll help us all out.

IT IS A RARE TIME when Illinois hunters bag more squirrels than rabbits. But it happened last hunting season, for the first time since the Illinois Department of Conservation began keeping track of such things.

The department reports a substantial decrease in the kill of cottontails, generally considered Illinois' most popular game animal. About 60 per cent of the licensed hunters in the state went after rabbits, a decrease of 10 per cent that may be explained by the discouraging word on bunnies all through the season. The typical rabbit hunter was getting one or two per trip, while the squirrel hunter was bagging two or three.

Pheasant hunters—as predicted—had it even worse. With the ringneck population estimated to be 30 per cent lower than a year before, hunters were hitting a ratio of one bird for two hunters during the early season, and one bird for three hunters as the season waned. An abnormally large amount of corn left standing in the fields worsened the problem, because of the difficulty of kicking a pheasant out of that kind of cover.

It would be nice to give a cheery note for 1966 after this, but there is none. Game biologists—though they admit their census may not be a true indicator—report sighting even fewer pheasants during the January-February sex ratio count, and about the same level of rabbits. But there was a big carry-over of quail and squirrels, so you may have to consider changing your hunting habits.

JUNIOR LARRY MALCOLMSON served as the leadoff man on Arlington High School's mile and half-mile relay teams Saturday in the 34th running of the Palatine Relays. The Cards won their heat in the mile event with a 3:33.8 but finished out of the money overall. Arlington had a 1:35.2 in the 880 yard relay and placed second in its heat.

Hitting Comes Alive . . .

Pirates Outlast FV; Gain 1st MSL Win

by KEN KNOX

The answer may have been found to the one major problem besetting Palatine's baseball players, but don't expect Forest View to exult about it.

The problem has been hitting, an inefficiency at the plate that hauled the Pirates down four consecutive times after three opening victories. To the Falcons' misfortune, the problem was cleared up last Friday, with the Pirates slapping two FV pitchers for eight hits and a come-from-behind 8-5 victory.

By the triumph, Terry Gellinger's Palatine nine recorded their initial victory in Mid-Suburban League play, after three losses. Hal Sprehe's Falcons dropped their second straight in the MSL, falling to 2-2.

The game was one that started slowly, then produced a liberal exchange of runs by both sides, with the end not decided until Palatine erupted for three runs in the seventh inning.

VICTIMIZED in the affair were Forest View twirlers Rick Henderson and Marty Fontana, with Fontana getting hung with the loss. The Pirates worked them over for at least one run in each of the last four innings. The Falcons dented Palatine's Barry Yurtis for four hits and five runs in the two middle innings, but aside from that could get nothing from him as he set 13 of them down on strikes.

There was some lusty hitting on both sides, with Palatine's Ken Johnson and Forest View's Bob Chudik each propelling a home run over the fence girdling the Falcon field. But the story of the game and the Pirate victory was as much a product of the scrambling efforts of Palatine second baseman Mike Ferguson as it was of any high-powered hitting.

Though he let in a Forest View run with an errant throw, he more than made up for it offensively. Three times he reached base in the game, twice on singles and once on a fielder's choice, and all three times he stole second, and all three times those steals were converted into runs.

THE FIRST came in the fourth, when Ferguson—leading off for Palatine—tapped right-hander Henderson for the first hit of the game, a single looped over the infield. While John Grove went down on strikes, Ferguson took second. He went to third as Johnson lifted a sacrifice fly to right, and he scored when John Phillips knocked out a double.

Henderson escaped that trouble, and his teammates surged back to put him on top 3-1. Henderson himself started it, rifling a Yurtis pitch deep into left center for a double.

He moved to third on Dan Smith's smoothly-executed sacrifice bunt to the mound, and he scored when Mike Holstrom rolled a tap to Ferguson, and Ferguson threw the ball past catcher Bob Hoffman in an effort to get Henderson moving in from third. The damage mounted, even though Hank Tashe followed by popping to first for the second out. For Chudik followed Tashe, and when Yurtis hung a pitch over the plate, he clubbed it over the fence.

THE FALCON lead was short-lived, for the Pirates staged the first of their comebacks in the top of the fifth, knotting things at 3-3.

Hoffman started it with a double, moving to third when an infield error put Yurtis on, and scoring when Ferguson hit into a fielder's choice that erased Yurtis. Ferguson put himself into scoring position with a theft of second, and he was scored when Grove followed by rolling a single over second.

But the Falcons bounced back again, running up a 5-3 lead in the bottom of the fifth. Interspersed with Yurtis strikeouts of Kirt Koentopp and Henderson were a single by Gary Kalas and a hit batsman in the form of Smith. Both tallied when Holstrom boomed a double, but Yurtis fanned Tashe to end the inning, and the last Falcon threat.

IT WAS LEFT to Palatine to get the runs that formed the victory, and Fontana—coming on for Henderson in the sixth—was the Falcon abused. The first two scored in the sixth, as Johnson opened by reaching first on an error. He went to second on a balk while Fontana was whiffing Phillips, and Bob Young sent him home by scorching a line double into left. Young scored the other run when Wes Dixon's infield grounder drew an errant throw to first.

The decision was sealed in the seventh when nine Pirates batted, three of them scoring and three of them remaining on base. Fontana, who found that the Pirates relish left-handed pitchers, had a nightmare on the hill.

MIKE FERGUSON
Stealing A Win

He got Yurtis on a pop to open the inning, but Ferguson went to first on an infield single. Again he stole second, and again it paid a dividend as Grove sent his second straight single up the middle. Grove stayed on base for one pitch to Johnson, as the husky switch-hitting Pirate — batting right-handed against Fontana—drove the ball down the left field line and out of the park.

The Pirates loaded the bases after that, and though Fontana kept them that way, it proved irrelevant in terms of the game's outcome. All Forest View could get from Yurtis in the bottom of the seventh was a walk, and time ran out.

Card Threats Checked

Maine East Topples Arlington Nine, 5-0

by BOB FRISK

Just putting runners on base isn't enough as Arlington's varsity Cardinals, struggling to land that first victory of the season, learned last Friday afternoon in Park Ridge.

Coach Fran Somers' Cards had base runners in six of the seven frames, but they couldn't buy a clutch hit in skidding to their seventh straight loss.

Host Maine East, helped out by three Cardinal errors, pushed over its first run—the only run needed—in the second inning and had a pair of two-run outbursts en route to a 5-0 victory.

PHIL BROWN, a right-hander who came on in the first inning when Maine starter Craig MacGregor was sidelined with an injury, finished up for the Blue Demons and got credit for the victory.

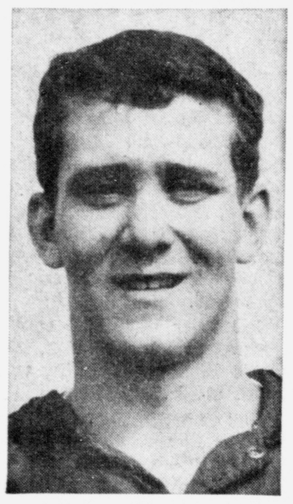
Southpaw Bob Young was tagged with the loss. He yielded the mound chores to John Shartle in the fifth.

Arlington had several legitimate threats in the contest but couldn't come up with that big blow at the right time.

THAD WOODARD, who slammed out two hits and lined to center field in three official trips to the plate, walked as the leadoff man in the first inning and with a stolen base and wild pitch sailed around the bases until he was cut down at the plate.

The Cards went down in order in the second but Tom LeStarge beat out a bunt single to kick off the third. LeStarge stole second and went to third on a single by Woodard but stayed there as a fielder's choice killed off the side.

In the fourth Jim Jorgensen singled with one out and went to second when Mark Frase's double-play ball was bobbled.



THAD WOODARD
Slaps Two Hits

But Jorgensen and Frase couldn't advance as Ron Thompson popped to second and LeStarge lined to center.

WOODARD singled to right-center with two outs in the fifth and Young walked, but pinch hitter Gary Bozee fanned.

Jorgensen ripped a single to center as the Card leadoff man in the sixth, but Maine's Brown escaped any damage by getting Frase on an infield grounder and Thompson and LeStarge on strikeouts.

Pinch hitter Guy Davis walked with one out in the seventh, but once again the Cards failed to push the runner around.

A SINGLE, stolen base, and error gave Maine East its first run in the second inning, and the Blue Demons added two more in the fourth.

Third baseman Wally Pollack led off the Maine fourth with a long triple to left field and scored on an error. Terry Juliar also came around thanks to an error, passed ball, and single by Glen Thompson.

Maine padded its advantage in the fifth with another two-run salvo. An error launched the uprising, and the Demons were aided by a walk, four stolen bases, and two hits.

Arlington's Young allowed six hits and one earned run in his stint of four innings. Shartle was touched for one hit over the final two stanzas.

In Win Over Conant

Record Vault by Knights' Cordina

A school record pole vault by Phil Cordina highlighted a narrow Prospect track victory over Conant Tuesday afternoon, as the Knights nipped the Cougars 66-61 on the Prospect track.

Cordina vaulted 13 feet, three and one-quarter inches to establish the new Prospect standard and win the event. His previous best had been 13 feet even. He also won the shot put with an effort of 43-6½.

Vaughan Pederson was also a standout for the Knights, winning the 440 and the high hurdles, while Craig Peterson won the lows.

Prospect won both the 880 and mile relays, received a strong 2:00.7 from Jack Pollard in the half-mile run, and had victories from Doug White in the discus and Leroy Rateike in the broad jufp.

FOR CONANT, Ron Smith was a double winner, taking the 100 and 220. Dick Ledford — in 4:39.5 — won the mile, Larry Robertson the two mile and George Schenck the high jump for the Cougars.

Steve Holmes won the half-mile and mile for the Knights, while Mike Cordine took the 220, John Green the shot put and Jeff Brauchle the 440.

For the Cougars, Jim Carter triumphed in the broad jump and pole vult, Ernie Drummond in the discus, Frank DeGracia in the 100 and Sam Burns in the two mile run.

Wildcat Tennis Team Loses to Glenbrook

While the frosh-soph team was coming out on top 3-2, Wheeling's varsity tennis team fell 4-1 before Glenbrook North last Tuesday (April 26).

That varsity setback was the fifth straight for coach Ted Ecker's charges. The lower level triumph shifted the 'Cats record there to 4-1.

Steve Groot, Jim Graves and Tony Martin all dropped varsity singles matches to GN. All three were downed by 6-0, 6-1 tallies. In first doubles Fred Patton and Dave Liu of Wheeling lost 6-4, 6-0.

Lone Wildcats meet point came in second doubles. There Walt Krier and Dave Stanowski needed three sets but finally came out ahead on 6-2, 5-7, 6-4 tallies.

For the younger Wheeling tennis entry victory over Glenbrook came on the strength of three singles wins. After losing 4-6 in his first set Jim Cuca rallied to finish on top 6-3, 6-1. Scott Decker took his opponent 6-1, 6-3 and third singles player Tom Kreis gained a 6-2, 6-1 decision.

In frosh-soph doubles there were two Wildcats defeats. Bill Reinhardt and Ron Kensil lost 6-4, 6-4 and Marty Steffenson and Reid Hansen extended the enemy to three sets before going down 4-6, 6-4, 6-2.

First M-SL Loss for 'Cats

Wheeling 9 Strands 11; Prospect Gets 2-0 Win

by MICHAEL HESS

Taking advantage of opportunities can bring success.

Prospect's baseball squad had two good opportunities to score last Friday. Once the Knights put two on and once they loaded the bases. On each occasion they pushed one run across the plate.

Wasting opportunities can lead to failure.

Wheeling's baseball squad had three good opportunities to score last Friday. Three times the Wildcats had the sacks filled. But, on each occasion, a clutch blow was missing and they never scored.

THAT GAME ENDED with Prospect blanking Wheeling 2-0.

In victory the Knights evened their Mid-Suburban League record at 2-2 and upped their overall mark to 5-4. The Wildcats defeat was their first in the M-SL, where they slipped to 3-1, and left them 3-4-1 overall.

Opposing hurlers in the contest were Dave Kingman for Prospect and Skip Grandt for Wheeling. Kingman fanned four and walked four before being relieved by J. D. Thorne in the seventh. Grandt, making his initial appearance of the season following an appendectomy April 1, went all the way striking out six and walking one.

The winner's scores came in the first and third innings.

WITH TWO AWAY in the first the Knights Tom Lundstedt lined a single to left and, in a close play, stole second. On a wide full count delivery Grandt walked Clyde Whitcomb. Then Maury Gallagher blooped a single just out of reach over second and Lundstedt scored.

Thorne opened the third with a single. Lundstedt fanned but Whitcomb lined to right and Gallagher beat out a bunt putting three on base. Kingman then saied a fly ball to medium left. Thorne tagged after the catch and, in another close play, made it home with Prospect's second tally.

The Knights also had a man on the second, the fourth, the fifth and the sixth. However Grandt was each time equal to the test and retired the side without further damage. All together the forces of coach Chuck Aldrich left seven men stranded.

MAURY GALLAGHER
Texas League RBI

For the losers, opportunities to score came in the third, fourth and seventh.

JOHN HITTMAN bounced a single to center to open the Wildcats' third. Grandt went down swinging but Tom Manderscheid singled to left and Jeff Powell walked. With three on Mark Newman popped to first and Rex Peterson ended the threat with a force out grounder.

A free pass to Jeff Winterberg got things started with one out in the fourth. Dan DeVito knocked a bounder to Vince Franzone at third but Franzone's toss to second was wild and both runners were safe. A dribbler to Franzone by Hittman loaded the sacks as Franzone looked toward third, looked toward first and didn't throw anywhere. Kingman caught Grandt looking at a third strike and Franzone successfully handled Manderscheid's grounder for the third out.

Pinch-hitter Gerry Lemke was nipped by a pitch and Manderscheid singled behind second to start the seventh. That brought Thorne to the mound. He fielded Powell's bunt, looked at third and first didn't throw and the bases were loaded with no one out. Thorne then bore down and got Newman on a fly to left, Peterson on strikes and Bob Krug, to end the game, on a grounder to second.

Wheeling also had one runner in both the first and sixth. Both reached second but went no further. A total of 11 men were left on base by the club of headman Steve Chernicky.

BY TAKING the victory Prospect moved into a third place conference tie with Forest View. Both teams trailed Maine West and Wheeling. Their setback dropped the 'Cats into a top spot tie with MW.

7th Straight Win

Knight Netmen Slip Past FV 3-2

After two matches Forest View's tennis team led Prospect 2-0 last Thursday.

In first singles Rich Gillespie of FV whipped the Knights Glen Morton in straight sets 6-2, 6-3. Jim Buckholz took the second singles decision 7-5, 6-3 over Tom Johnson.

Then Prospect rallied to gain a 3-2 meet victory.

Craig Wolf started the comeback for the Knights by beating Howie Brasch 6-4, 6-3. His third singles win was Wolf's seventh of the present campaign and kept him unbeaten.

CHUCK HENGELS
Gives Doubles Trouble

A FIRST doubles team of Chuck Hengels and Doug Heitzman sent the Falcons Mike Gersie and Bob Glaser down to defeat. Hengels and Heitzman fell 6-4 in the first set but then reeled off 6-1, 6-3 scores to take their fifth win in a row for Prospect.

Meet totals were knotted 2-2 at that juncture but Jeff Long and Paul Colianni wrapped up the triumph for the Knights. They stopped Forest View's Bruce and Brian Lampert in second doubles on 6-4, 6-2 tallies.

As a result of their win the charges of coach Chuck Sandine kept their dual record spotless at 7-0. The losing Falcons, under headman Rog Steingraber, slipped one below the .500 mark at 4-5. It was the initial 1966 Mid-Suburban League clash for the District 214 rivals.

At the frosh-soph level Prospect went ahead 2-0 after two matches. However the younger Knights continued their winning ways and went on to top FV 4-1.

DAVE JOHNSON and Chuck Hughson took first and second singles for Prospect. Johnson beat the Falcons Jim Musgrave 7-5, 6-3 and Hughson bumped Frank Ebel 6-0, 6-1. Gordon Folkman picked up the Falcons lone meet point by clipping Bob Bruhl 6-3, 6-1 in third singles.

Both doubles bouts went to the Knights. Bob Skrysak and Bill Wichmann combined to flatten Jerry Budz and Mike Kinneman 6-3, 6-3 and identical totals were used by Jim Schiesser and Craig Weber to bounce Mike Omelisek and Brian Finch.

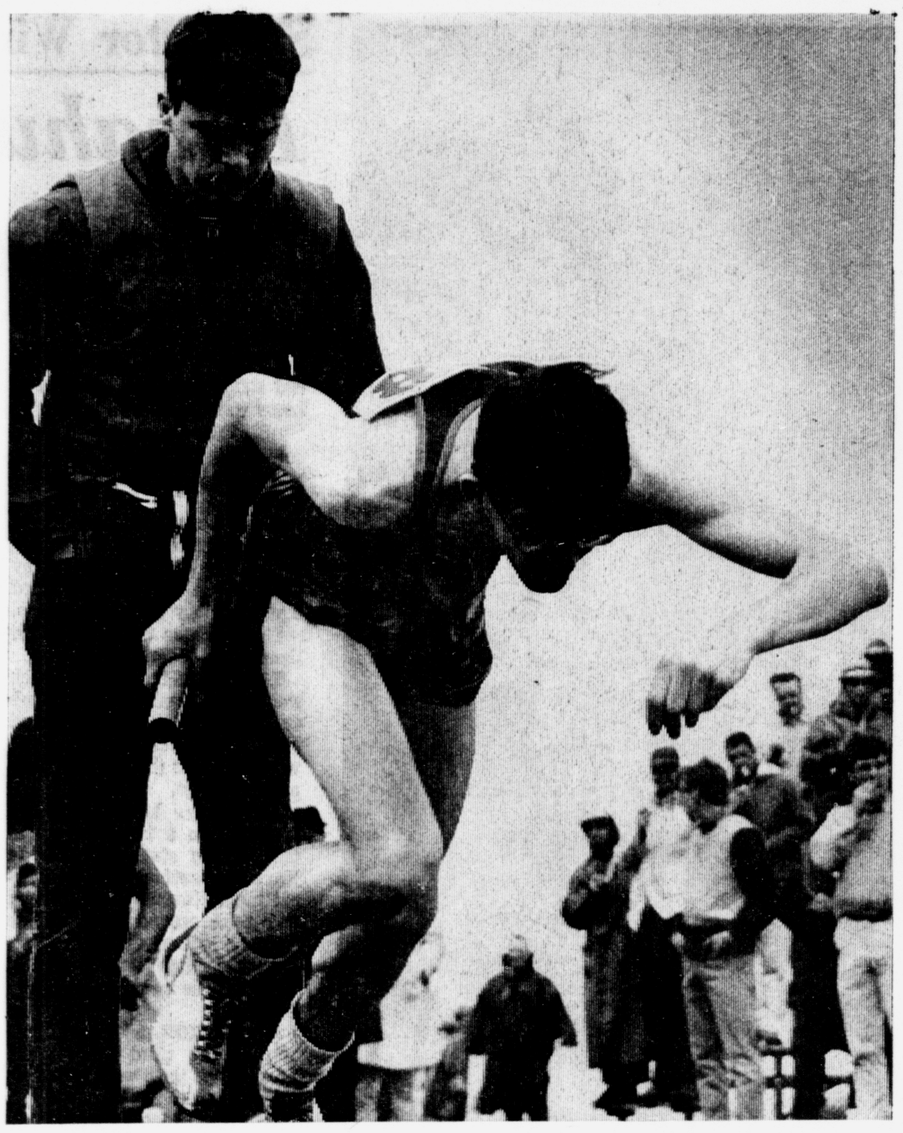
Prospect's frosh-soph standard was evened at 4-4 by the meet outcome. Lower level netmen of Forest View became 2-7.

'Y' Gals Track Team Wins Two

The Northwest 'Y' girls track team posted victories in two triangular meets.

The locals piled up 78 points in winning over Mont Claire Leyden (74) and 111th Street of Chicago (41) and had 97 markers in competition with West Suburban (71) and Park Ridge (42).

The meets served as qualification for the Metropolitan area YMCA Girls Track Finals scheduled for Hansen Park Stadium in Chicago May 14.



BOB BROMLEY of Wheeling High School performed on the Wildcats' two point-scoring relay teams Saturday in the 34th edition of the Palatine Relays. Bromley was the anchor man on Wheeling's high hurdle shuttle unit which placed fourth and covered the opening leg on the fourth place mile relay team. The 'Cats scored eight points in Class A competition. (Staff photo)

Deerfield Takes First

FV 2nd, Prospect 3rd In Tennis Quadrangular

Three tennis duals in one day—that was the task undertaken by Prospect, Lake Park, Deerfield and Forest View.

That net action took place last Saturday. FV hosted the round-robin quadrangular which featured both varsity and frosh-soph play.

When it was over Deerfield reigned supreme. The Warriors were 3-0 in upper level enunters, where they had nine points, and 3-0 on the lower level, where they picked up 13 points.

Second in varsity and F-S court struggles went to the Falcons. They were defeated only by Deerfield and collected eight points for runner-up honors at the two levels. Coach Rog Steingraber's crew is now 6-6 for the season.

FOR THE KNIGHTS of headman Chuck Sandine the meet was a near disaster. They hadn't lost in seven varsity duals until Saturday when both the Warriors and FV beat them 3-2. Prospect topped only Lake Park and was third, with eight and six points, in varsity and frosh-soph standings.

LP had 0-3 records on each level and was last with five and three points.

Deerfield was led to varsity triumph by first singles entry Greg Peterschmidt and second doubles duo Joel Altschul and Mark Frankel. They gained three wins apiece to pace their team to a trio of 3-2 victories.

Only two others went undefeated in varsity singles. They were Forest View's Jim Buckholz and Howie Brasch.

BUCKHOLZ WON against Lake Park 6-3, 6-1, against Deerfield 6-4, 2-6, 6-1 and against the Knights Craig Wolf 6-4, 6-1. That was Wolf's initial setback of the season. Brasch took three three-setters, 2-6, 8-6, 6-3 over LP; 6-2, 1-6, 7-5 over the Warriors; and 6-2, 3-6, 7-5 over Prospect's Jeff Long.

Second singles was where Buckholz competed. Brasch was at third singles.

The Falcons first singles player was Rich Gillespie. He beat the Lake Park opponent 6-3, 6-2 and handled Glen Morton of the Knights 6-1, 5-7, 8-6, then fell before Peterschmidt 6-3, 1-6, 6-2.

"Buckholz played his best tennis of the season," commented coach Steingraber. "His game is much more stable than at anytime in the past. Brasch was outstanding with his comebacks in third singles and Gillespie showed tremendous improvement though he lost one match."

IN DOUBLES FV tried three combinations. Bruce and Brian Lampert, Ernie Troutman and Dick Zapfel, and Bob Glaser and Mike Sersie all tried but could pick up no wins for Forest View.

Of Prospect's singles entries Wolf was the best. Though beaten by Buckholz he came back to win 6-3, 6-4 over Lake Park and 6-1, 6-2 over Deerfield. Wolf, who competed at second singles, now owns a personal season mark of 9-1.

JIM BUCKHOLZ
Sweeps Through Three

Morton, in first Knights singles, fell to Gillespie and Peterschmidt but won against LP 6-4, 6-3. In third singles Brian Kiehl of Prospect lost to Deerfield but took a 6-1, 2-6, 7-5 decision from Lake Park. Long was his team's losing entry in third singles against FV's Brasch.

In doubles Long teamed with Tom Johnson to beat LP 6-4, 6-2 and Deerfield 6-3, 7-5. Johnson combined with Paul Colianni for a 3-6, 6-3, 6-2 victory over Falcons Troutman and Zapfel. Chuck Hengels and Doug Heitzman were the Knights second doubles unit. They lost to Deerfield and Lake Park before using 6-3, 6-3 totals to edge the Lamperts of FV.

IN THE duals scoring, Forest View stopped the Knights and Lake Park, both 3-2, while Prospect got its lone win 4-1 against Lake Park.

At the frosh-soph level the Falcons fell 4-1 to the Warriors but beat the Knights 3-1 and LP 4-1. Prospect was shutout 5-0 by Deerfield but gained a 4-1 win over Lake Park.

Best for the younger FV squad was Jim Musgrave. He won three times, taking a default win from Lake Park, besting Deerfield 6-1, 6-2 and edging past Dave Johnson of the Knights 6-2, 0-6, 8-6. Musgrave was in at first singles.

Dave Erickson won two at second singles for the Falcons. He came out ahead 6-1, 6-3 against the LP Lancers and 6-1, 6-3 against the Knights Chuck Hughson. Two third singles wins for Forest View went to Gordon Folkman who won 6-1, 6-1 over Lake Park and 6-8, 6-1, 6-0 over Ross Bondy of Prospect.

LONE DOUBLES triumph for FV at the frosh-soph level went to Tim Ebel and Dick Knudsen by a 7-5, 7-5 margin against the Lancers.

For Prospect's singles trio there was one victory apiece in lower level action. Johnson, Hughson and Bundy all won against Lake Park. In Knights doubles Bob Skryzak and Bill Wichman picked up their only win by 6-3, 6-3 counts against Forest View while the second doubles team of Dave Weber and Jim Schiesser won 6-0, 8-6 over FV and also against Lake Park.

Get 13 Hits, Revenge . . .

Pirates Club Cougars On 12 to 3 Outpouring

by KEN KNOX

The best kind of revenge is that which comes quickly.

Palatine's Pirates fulfilled that credo with a forcefulness Monday evening, slamming Conant's Cougars 12-3 on the Conant diamond.

Avenged was a 4-1 loss inflicted on Palatine by Conant just six days before, and shelled the hardest was the Cougar who had authored the earlier defeat, tricky right-hander Al Ramsey. Two other Conant pitchers — Craig Johnson and John Moffat —worked in the game, with only Moffat escaping the awakening fury in the Palatine bats.

The Pirates sprayed out 13 hits in the contest, a season's high for Terry Gellinger's nine, which took its second straight Mid-Suburban League win after three loop losses. Lynn Crouch's Cougars—who had eight hits themselves off Palatine's Barry Yurtis—dipped to 1-4 in the league. The loss was the second straight for Conant.

FOR PALATINE, which overcame a long-standing anemia at the plate by totaling 20 runs and 21 hits in the two victories, the win over Conant saw every starting player but one crack the hit column.

Four Pirates in particular paced the assault, and the most particular of them was shortstop Ken Johnson. Rapidly finding his batting eye, Johnson knocked out a single, double and triple, scored three runs and batted in two others.

John Grove reached first all four times he went to the plate, twice on singles, once on an error and once when hit by a pitch, and he too scored three runs.

BOB YOUNG accounted for five runs, scoring two himself and punching in three others with a home run, a line drive to left that capped his two-hit performance.

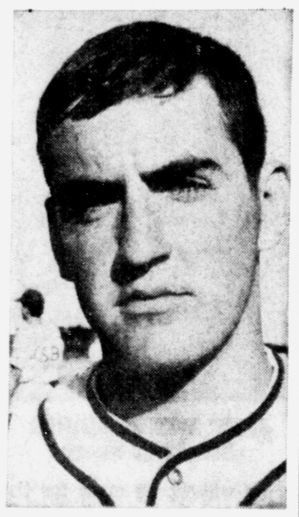
And sophomore Wes Dixon, in four trips to the plate, clubbed a double and triple which scored one run and batted in one, and flied out twice.

Conant's fury was reserved for shortstop Dick Helmer, with three hits in four trips and a run scored; for Al Heiman, who reached base on a hit, a fielder's choice and an error and scored two runs; and Dennis Shaw, who rapped in two runs with a booming triple to left.

IT WAS THE kind of a game in which hitting mattered the most, and though Conant scored first, it became a case of how many runs Palatine could score and how few Yurtis could hold Conant to.

Conant moved ahead 1-0 in the first, loading the bases with no one out on scratch singles by Heiman, Mike Skoneczka and Helmer. Yurtis got Shaw on strikes and Dan Grueneich automatically on the infield fly rule. But Johnson, going deep for the ball, dropped it and Heiman scored.

Before Conant was to score again, Palatine was ahead 6-1. All six runs came in the third, when 10 Pirates batted and horrified Ramsey with a series of well-placed hits. Yurtis began it with one out by rolling a single between short and third, and moving to second when the ball was bobbled in left. Mike Ferguson sent the pitcher home with a single into center.



KEN JOHNSON
Hitting Spree

THEN, IN order, Grove reached on an infield throwing error, Johnson rolled a single into right scoring Ferguson, Phillips rolled one into left scoring Grove and Johnson, Young reached on a fielder's choice that wiped out Phillips, Dixon knocked in Young with his double, and Bob Hoffman sent Dixon home with a liner into left.

That would have seemed enough damage, and Conant tried to make up for it with a flurry in the bottom of the third. The ingredients were an error that put Heiman on first, a hit-and-run double down the right field line by Helmer, and Shaw's triple. The critical factor for Palatine was a foiled squeeze play that had Shaw tagged out heading for the plate.

The Pirates routed Ramsey with their next turn, doing it with two outs. Two runs came quickly, as Grove was hit by a pitch and batted in by Johnson's soaring triple to right, and Johnson tallied when an infield error put Phillips on.

CONANT'S Johnson — Craig —had little fortune on the mound. A snappy Helmer to Heiman to Bob Warder double play helped him out of trouble in the fifth, but the roof caved in in the sixth.

After Ferguson flied to left, Grove sent a single up the middle and Johnson a double down the third base line. Phillips grounded to Heiman, but Warder—at first—dropped the throw and Grove scored. That set things for Young's bit of heroism, a rising line drive to left center that eluded two pursuing outfielders and was first being retrieved as Young crossed the plate behind Johnson and Phillips.

The scoring ended with that, and Conant might have been justified in protesting that it was more than enough for the revenge. But for the once hit-starved Pirates, it was just enough.

But Fall to Deerfield

Cards Handle Maine Golfers

Eighteen holes at Golden Arces brought a victory, but nine holes at Thorngate Country Club brought defeat last week for Arlington High School's varsity golfers.

Coach Phil Stack's Cardinals handled Maine East on Thursday at Golden Acres, 322-342, but suffered a 158-169 loss to Deerfield at Thorngate.

The Arlington frosh-sophs toppled Maine East, 383-406, but fell to Deerfield, 177-185.

Roger Baer came in with nines of 39-38 for a sparkling 77 as the Cardinals ripped Maine East by 20 strokes on a varsity level.

RICK PRICE followed Baer with an 80, and Tom Sloan (81) and Scott Pickard (84) also figured in the Arlington total.

Baffes was low for Maine East with an 80 on nines of 41-39.

Jim Saflarski, who had soared son against Maine, bounced back in the Deerfield match with a 39 for nine. Sloan and Steve Johnson bagged 43s and Baer had a 44 for the Cards.

Vent was low man for Deerfield with a 38 and Tom Fuzzey collected a 39.

DOUG CHAPS was Arlington's low man against both Maine East and Deerfield in frosh-soph competition.

Chaps carded a 45-43 for an 88 against Maine East. Craig Browark had a 96, freshman Bob Reno a 99, and Steve Coy a 100.

Chaps fired a 43 against Deerfield. He was followed by Browark and Reno with 47s and Bob Miller with a 48.

Launch Scratch League

The Old Orchard Scratch League began its new golf season under sullen skies and in strong winds Friday night. Even though many of the scores were high and reflected the mood of the weather, everyone was happy to be back at it again.

The Scratch League, probably the strongest in the Northwest Suburban area, numbers many of the finest amateur golfers of the state among its members. Included in this group are several former state champions and the current left-handed state champ, Andy Toth.

In the action Friday, where the contestants played against par and his opponent in match play golf, Dick Bokelmann had the best scoring round with a 37, good for his first win.

Other good scores, considering the weather, were Reiland 39, Eiler 39, Skoglund 39. The match between Len Arnold and Wayne Rolfs was halved, each shooting 38; and Mike Spinello, undefeated in all his matches last year, continued in his winning way with a 39.

Scores are expected to be much better tomorrow night as individuals strive to lower wind blown averages and teams battle for first place position.

Cardinal Trackmen Wallop East Leyden

Arlington showed no respect for one of its graduates last Thursday afternoon in a varsity track dual.

Rich Bader, one of the finest sprinters in Arlington history and now head track coach at East Leyden High School, brought his Eagles to the Cardinal track and departed with a 76-46 setback.

The Cards also fashioned an easy 92-26 frosh-soph victory.

Steve Ewart picked up firsts in the 100 yard dash (10.4) and 440 yard dash (52.6) and worked on the victorious mile relay to pace Arlington's varsity past East Leyden.

Ewart and teammate Jim Kussow were given identical 52.6 clockings in the quarter-mile event.

Sophomore Rory Cassidy stepped up into varsity ranks and came in with a 4:41.6 mile for another Cardinal first.

Other Arlington firsts were landed by Bruce Hubbard over the high hurdles (16.4), Greg Zachwieja in the discus (146-8), and Chip Douglas in the pole vault (12-0).

The Cards took the half-mile relay in 1:35 and the mile event in 3:32.7.

Bob Graham won three events and Dave Dieters and Paul Tollefson scored two wins each as Arlington's frosh-sophs remained unbeaten.

Graham won the high hurdles in 17.3, low hurdles in 22.1, and high jump at five feet four inches.

Dieters covered 880 yards in 2:07 and sailed 18 feet eight inches in the broad jump. Tollefson won the shot put (41-½) and discus (105-8).

Other Arlington frosh-soph winners were Tom Swanson in the mile run (4:49.4) and Todd Somers in the pole vault (10-6).

Tennis Club Members Win

Members of the Arlington Heights Tennis Club scored victories in the recent indoor net competition at the Barrington Club courts.

Bob Sir and Ken Schaller defeated George Bard and Bill Ylvisaker 6-4, 6-4 to win the Class A division doubles title.

Holy Cross Nips Lions' Varsity, 2-1

Tight games are guaranteed when St. Viator and Holy Cross get together on the baseball diamond.

Over the past two years the Lions and Crusaders have tangled four times. Each game has been decided by one run.

Holy Cross made it two straight over St. Viator and 16 straight for the season when they banged across single runs in the first and third innings Friday afternoon for a 2-1 triumph.

"We just couldn't get that big hit," explained St. Viator boss Len Sparacino.

"We got the runners to second and third but could only get that one run in the fifth inning."

SPARACINO went with lefty Bob Stevens on the hill and was pleased with his performance.

"He pitched a fine game for us," Len praised. "They had three hits but two came when the batters fell away from pitches."

Stevens fanned 11 and walked seven. In 25 innings on the varsity hill this spring Bob has struck out 43 and walked 22.

HOLY CROSS drew first blood in the opening frame Friday as a single by Jim Barra blossomed into a run. Stevens ran into some control problems and walked home the initial marker.

The Crusaders added the second and decisive marker in the third on a walk, stolen base with a throwing error tossed in, and sacrifice fly.

St. Viator put its first man on base in the second inning when Stevens singled to center but didn't create any more commotion until the fifth.

WITH ONE out Stevens reached base and rode to third on Denny Wilkinson's hit to center. Holy Cross pitcher Ted Mores threw wild trying to pick Stevens off, and the Lion junior dashed in with the run.

A walk to John Loughman and error off the bat of Dan Collins kept things interesting in the sixth for the Lions, but they couldn't keep the rally going. Wilkinson reached on an error in the seventh, but once again the threat was checked.

Holy Cross had won an earlier meeting between the schools 3-2.

Donahue Tops Dragon Nine for Second Time

Jerry Donahue thoroughly enjoyed his work on the mound against St. George this spring.

Donahue, St. Viator's junior right-hander fashioned his second straight shutout over the Dragons Monday afternoon as the Lions walked off with a 3-0 victory.

St. Viator had toppled St. George last week, 3-0, in a game cut short after four and one-half innings because of cold weather.

Coach Len Sparacino's Lions staked Donahue to a two-run lead in the first inning Monday and held on for their third league victory in seven outings.

The loss was the fifth for St. George in seven tries.

TAKING THE mound setback was highly regarded right hander Mike O'Brien, a diamond pupil of St. Viator's Sparacino when Len was the varsity coach at St. George.

An error helped send the Lions off to a two-run lead in the opening stanza with Bill Kaveney reaching as the leadoff man. Kaveney stole second and rode around on a double by catcher Dan Collins.

A wild pitch sent Collins to third and he came in on an infield out.

ST. VIATOR added its final run in the third inning, and once again they were aided by an error.

Don Kulla reached on the bobble and eventually dashed home on an infield out. A triple by Dan Collins was wasted.

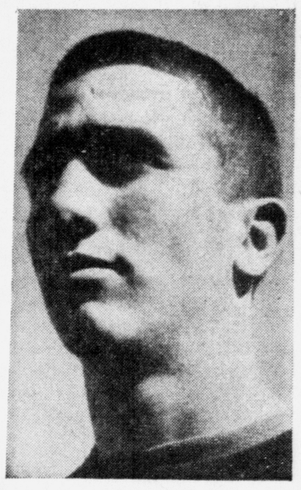
Tom Collins walked as the Lion leadoff man in the fourth, but two strikeouts and a fielder's choice checked this threat.

KULLA SNAPPED out of an agonizing batting slump which had seen him go to bat 20 times without a hit when he belted a triple in the fifth inning, but Don was cut down at the plate.

The Lions had a mild threat going with two outs in the seventh when soph Johnny Wendell was hit by a pitch and Kulla walked, but they couldn't pad their advantage.

Donahue struck out 11 and walked four over seven innings. He allowed five hits, two each by Ray Stauffer and Ray Carskie, and did have some shaky innings but escaped without a run scoring.

THE DRAGONS had two men on with no outs in the second, but Donahue got out of this jam with two strikeouts. He walked two men in the third but struck out the side.



DAN COLLINS
Keeps Average Up

St. George collected hits in the fourth and fifth and had two men on with errors in the sixth. With two outs in the seventh Stauffer singled but was stranded as Donahue got the hitter on a blow to Kulla at second.

The victory was Donahue's fourth of the season. In 46 innings on the hill Jerry has allowed only three earned runs. He has 67 strikeouts and 19 walks.

Dan Collins had two hits for the winners to hike his season average to a healthy .368.

Cards Score 4th Straight 5-0 Win

Arlington High School's powerful varsity tennis squad prepared for its West Suburban Conference showdown with Hinsdale by toppling a visiting LaGrange squad last Thursday afternoon, 5-0.

The shutout was the fourth straight for Coach Tom Pitchford's Cardinals in conference activity and gave them a one-point advantage on Hinsdale.

Hinsdale also had scored wins in its first four league matches, but the Red Devils yielded one point to Riverside-Brookfield, winning 4-1.

Arlington didn't lose a set in the romp past LaGrange although there were some interesting arguments.

SOPHOMORE BILY Von Boeckmann whipped LaGrange', Tom Dunlap in first singles, 6-3, 7-5, and junior Jim Esser scored a 6-3, 6-3 win over Jeff Stewart in second singles. John Jarecki whipped Bruce Layer 6-4, 6-3 in the No. 3 slot.

In doubles Brian Burke and Dave Milligan conquered the Lions' Scott Bradley and Jim Davis 7-5, 6-3 in the first slot. Mat Weeg and John Brost took care of Don Scheely and Jack Carmody in second doubles, 6-0, 6-3.

On a frosh-soph level Bob Knilans' Cardinals posted their fourth straight league win and third by a 4-1 count.

THE CARDS' only loss came in first singles where Bob Gallagher fell to Doug Otto of LaGrange, 9-7, 6-4.

Rick Tindall triumphed in second singles, 8-6, 6-1, and Chuck Gibbel emerged with a 6-1, 6-0 win in third singles.

In doubles Bill Stelling and Paul Stevens collected a 6-3, 6-0 win in No. 1 competition, and Bob Crockett and John Harmon scored a 6-1, 6-3 decision in the second spot. (Sp

Palatine Splits With Wheeling in Tennis

Palatine and Wheeling showed each other a shutout in tennis Tuesday afternoon, Palatine clipping Wheeling's varsity 5-0 and Wheeling doing the same to Palatine's frosh-soph.

The varsity victory was the sixth of the season for the Pirates against three losses, and it made Doug Tolman's netmen 1-1 in Mid-Suburban League duals. But the score was the important thing in terms of the conference race, because each match won means a point in the standings.

The tightest match of the varsity meet was in first singles, where Art Pierce was extended to three sets before disposing of Steve Groot 6-3, 2-6, 6-3.

Andy Burtis had it much easier in second singles, where he triumphed 6-0, 6-0 over Fred Patton. And in third singles, it was John Kjos 6-3, 6-3 over Tony Martin.

Scott Rose and John Gustafson teamed up in first doubles for the fourth Palatine point, handling Karl Meisenheimer and Barry Christensen 6-1, 6-1. In second doubles, though extended, it was Scooter Smith and Gordon Hominick 6-0, 1-6, 6-0 over Walt Krier and Dave Stanowski. The setback made Wheeling 1-6 overall, 1-1 in the MSL.

But on the frosh-soph level, Ted Ecker's younger Wildcats continued their strong form, running their overall dual mark to 6-1, their MSL mark to 2-0. Palatine is 5-4 overall.

Jim Cuca took Al Smart, Scott Decker handled Frank Kaiser in three sets, and Tom Kreis clipped Paul Wallin in the singles matches. In doubles, it was Ron Kensli and Rill Reinhard over Doug Mueller and Russ Ritchie, and Reid Hansen and Marty Steffanson over Pete Upton and Mark Dreyfus.

Prospect's Golfers Edge 'Cats 315-320

Prospect golfers successfully opened defense of their Mid-Suburban League crown on Tuesday. They slipped past Wheeling 315-320.

Pacing the Knights to triumph in their 1966 conference starter was Neil Rowe. He had a 77. Rounding out the winner's score were Dave Lovgren with a 78, Doug Lytle with a 79, and Harry Wallace with an 81.

LYTLE, WALLACE and fifth man Joe Rosanova, who carded an 86, all had birdies as part of their 17 hole scores.

Best for the 'Cats, and taking medalist honors for the dual, was Bob Boenig. He had a 76. Dave Quirsfeld had a 78, including one birdie, and Dick Fontecchio and Steve Poulos both had 83's to complete their team's total. Fifth man for Wheeling was Al Eisenstein with a 90.

Playing as extra men for Prospect were Tom Bialczak and Bill Oelklaus, each of whom had 78's, and Bob Phelan, who had an 85.

The victory moved the record of coach Mike Nisen's varsity Knights linksmen to 4-1 for the season. Headman Jack Berry's Wildcats suffered their fifth setback in six meets.

IN FROSH-SOPH action Prospect also came in ahead. The tally there was 339 to 354.

Bruce Timko was best for the Knights' younger golfers. He posted two birdies along the way and finished with a 17 hole total of 81. Steve Orrell's 84, Justy Orrell's 85 and Scott Crawford's 89 were other scores that counted for Prospect. Fifth man Rick Morris had a 96.

Leading the Wheeling F-S aggregation was an 83 by Jeff Sorensen. Mike Stoik had an 87, Dennis Klocke an 88 and Greg Turner a 96. Fifth man for the 'Cats was Randy Summers. He turned in a 101.

The Knights' lower level mark became 4-1 while Wheeling's younger links entry slipped to 2-5.

St. Viator's Golf Varsity Wins Pair

St. Viator's varsity score was lowered by 19 strokes within 24 hours last week as Father Patrick Durkin's Lions toppled Quigley and Holy Cross in dual golf competition.

The Lions fashioned a 172 nine-hole total at Rob Roy Thursday in claiming a one-stroke victory over Quigley.

St. Viator came back Friday with a nifty 153, conquering visiting Holy Cross by 17 strokes.

CRAIG CROTTY was the low Lion against Quigley with a 41. He was followed by Dean Muench with a 43 and Bob Horan and Tom Cullen with 44s.

Pat Hawley led the assault against Holy Cross with a 36. Craig Crotty came in at 37 and Bill Crotty had a 38. Cullen rounded out the Lion total with a 42.

St. Viator's frosh-sophs emerged with a split in activity last week. The Lions clipped Holy Cross by ten strokes, 178-188, but lost to Quigley, 170-179.

DENNIS PALUBICKI and Ken Sophie were low men for the Lions against Quigley with 42s. John Carney bagged a 46 for nine and Ken Mattini had a 49.

Battle Brings 17 Hits

Forest View's Nine Felled by 'Cats 7-4

by MICHAEL HESS

Alone, once again, at the top of the heap . . .

Wheeling's diamond forces defeated Forest View on Monday afternoon. Final tally in the encounter was 7-4.

Three days before, the 'Cats had suffered their initial Mid-Suburban League defeat. They had fallen into a first place tie with Maine West.

Victory over the Falcons nine however, moved Wheeling to 4-1 in the M-SL. That record meant sole possession, once again, of the conference lead because MW lost.

(See separate stories for details on other league games.)

MEANWHILE, Forest View, due to Monday's setback, was reduced to a fourth place tie in the Mid - Suburban. At 2-3 FV was knotted in the standings with Palatine.

The Wildcats - Falcons battle was a free - swinging affair. There were 17 hits banged out including a homer, a triple and three doubles. The five walks and five stolen bases added even more spice to the batting broth.

Attempting to stem the tide of smashes from the plate were the opposing pitchers, Mark Newman and Rick Henderson.

Newman went all the way for Wheeling, fanning six and walking only two. Though he gave up at least one hit in every inning but the first, Newman survived to pick up his fourth personal triumph of the campaign.

HENDERSON went all the way for FV. He suffered two bad innings but otherwise was brilliant. He walked three, struck out 12, including a string of five straight, and gave up just one hit to the last 16 batters he faced. Henderson is 1-3 for the season.

The struggle opened with the 'Cats moving into a lead they never relinquished.

Tom Manderscheid walked to start their first. He stole second and rode home on Jeff Winterberg's single to right. Winterberg took second on the throw in and, after Newman's ground out, scored on Jeff Powell's single. Rex Peterson reached on an error and Dan DeVito sent Powell in with a single to left.

Wheeling had established a 3-0 margin.

Henderson ended the inning by retiring Bob Krug and John Hitman on strikes. He whiffed three more in the second for his five in a row but ran into further trouble in the third.

NEWMAN beat out a dribbler to get another 'Cats rally under way. Powell forced Newman but Peterson doubled. DeVito went down swinging for the second out. Krug got two RBI's with a single up the middle and Hittman's booming triple to deep center brought Wheeling's sixth marker. A ground out by Gerry Lemke ended the threat.

Only other hit off Henderson was in the sixth. Manderscheid looped one to left scoring Hittman who had reached base on an error.

After a three up, three down first, Forest View batters kept Newman in continual hot water. Bob Chudik singled and Dan Smith doubled in the second. Two strike outs kept the Falcons from scoring but they broke through in the bottom of the third.

Jerry Adams walked, Kirt Koentopp fanned, Gary Kalas walked and Henderson singled to load the bases. Mike Holstrom's single sent in one run and Bob Chudik's liner sent in two more. Smith and Hank Tasche were the second and third outs.

ON CHUDIK'S drive the Wildcats' Lemke had attempted a diving catch. He missed, landed on and injured his shoulder, and was replaced in left by Bob Glaser.

For the Falcons, Adams doubled in the fourth and Holstrom singled in the fifth. Neither advanced. Tasche led off in the sixth chose a 1-1 Newman delivery and powered it 340 feet over the fence in right. Tasche's round-tripper made the score 7-4 but, except for Holstrom's third hit, a single in the seventh, FV was finished.

One thing which made Newman's pitching chores much easier was the nearly flawless fielding support he received. Winterberg at short and DeVito at third were especially effective, combining for three put-outs and six assists between them. Wheeling went the entire game without an error for the first error for the first time in school history.

Over-all the victory gave the 'Cats of coach Steve Chernicky a 4-4-1 mark while defeat gave Hal Sprehe's falcons a record of 4-6.
